ON THE COVER

The hilarious and talented Kinsey Sicks returns to Vegas with Dragapella! for one night only (page 16). Andy Barrett, James Healey and Ernie Yuen give Hamburger Mary's a new look and taste (page 8).

Royal Court Divests $28,000 to Local Charities

Hamburger Mary's was the hotspot on January 7th for a night of glitter, decadence, and a whole lot of heart. The Imperial Royal Sovereign Court of the Desert Empire (Royal Court) presented its 7th Annual Divestiture, distributing more than $28000 raised in 2004. The funds benefit various local charities including Street Teens, The Center, Golden Rainbow, and the Las Vegas Humane Society. A generous donation was also made to aid the victims of the recent tsunami devastation in Southern Asia.

"We've been raising money all year," said outgoing Emperor Tracy Shinsel. "We're going to continue helping the city, assisting the Royal Court in future endeavors and increasing our local community awareness."

Some highlights from the evening included a $6000 check to Street Teens for their housing assistance program, a $5000 check to the Las Vegas Humane Society, and $1000 to Child Haven and Saint Therese centers. Ida Slapther, Kitty Litter, Emperor VII YG and Empress Carlotta Stollengoodz were just a few of the musical spectacles on stage that evening.

However, aside from the flamboyance and raw talent, Friday night's Royal Court Divestiture proved to be a positive example of what a few queens, a lot of local support, and a genuine care for the people of this world can do in stirring up some waves of change. ▼

HUSTLERS AND PORN STARS HIT VEGAS

Vicky Vette & Jason Sechrest

If you're wondering where your wallet went, and why you're still getting hotflashes from a night out, you may want to retrace your footsteps to Tom Weise and Jeffrey Davids' 8th annual HustlaBall; an event celebrating the dark and sexy life of hustlers, prostitutes, porn stars and other assorted characters of the sexual underworld.

The HustlaBall served as the cherry on top of the AVN's Adult Video Expo launch of the 1st annual GYVN Expo geared towards the adult video consumer. The event has lured thousands of spectators the last few years due in large part to their cast of some of the gay porn industry's finest celebrities. This year's installment included sexual beasts Johnny Hazard, Rod Barry, Eddie Stone and Michael Brandon and sponsored by legendary porn director, Chi Chi LaRue. The insanely wild fetish acts, live sex, porn stars, music and decor are many of the elements that keep the spectators coming back for more.

Prefacing the HustlaBall was the Cybersocket Awards ceremony at Gipsy on Wednesday, January 5th hosted by LaRue. Jasoncurious.com was awarded the "Best Live Webcast Personality" title with two trophies. Jason Sechrest, owner and operator of the site, was accompanied by blonde bombshell Vicky Vette to accept one of the highest honors for a gay adult Web site. ▼

The Center Holds Crucial Meetings

The Center is holding two separate meetings in January. The first will be a Town Hall meeting from 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, January 15th. "The central purpose of this meeting is to emphasize unity," said Candice Nichols, The Center's new executive director. "We want our community to be open to the possibilities of the dynamic changes we can make together." The two-hour meeting will start with issue presentation, and will then open up to questions and comments from community members.

On Wednesday, January 19th, from 6 to 8 p.m. The Center will hold its annual general membership meeting. The central focus of this meeting will be board elections, however, finances and other Center issues will also be discussed. Golden Rainbow to Stage Cabaret Fundraiser

Golden Rainbow, devoted to providing housing and financial assistance to men, women and children affected by HIV/AIDS presents The World Goes 'Round, a special cabaret musical featuring 29 hits by Kander and Ebb whose musical resume includes such masterpieces as Chicago, Kiss of the Spider Woman, Cabaret and New York, New York. This one time only performance is staged for Sunday, February 27 at 2:00 p.m. on the Pharaoh's Theater stage inside the Luxor Casino.

The show's theme celebrates life and all the complexities of it, but more importantly the internal fighting spirit that keeps us chugging along in this ever-changing world.

Tickets are available now by calling the Golden Rainbow Office at (702) 384-2899. General admission is $25 and reserved VIP tickets are $40. All proceeds from the show go towards the Golden Rainbow's housing and financial assistance goals, and also funding for HIV/AIDS prevention education. So if you're in the mood for some romance, drama, and laughs, The World Goes 'Round is bound to tickle your fancy. Plus, with such an amazing cause backing it, how could you resist? For additional information, please visit www.GoldenRainbow.org. ▼

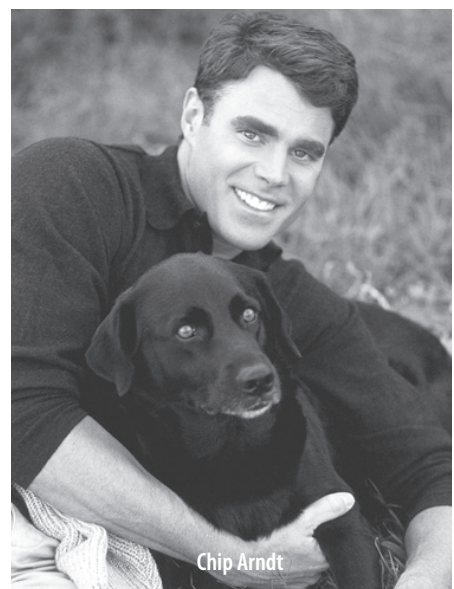

AN EVENING WITH ... (TAKE II)

February is the month of love, and with Valentine's Day right around the corner, you may find yourself alone and dateless. Well, not to worry because the Qvegas Foundation has the solution for you. The 2nd annual "An Evening With" fundraiser is guaranteed to tickle your fancy, and even give you a chance at love.

"Our first event raised over $15000," said Earl Shelton, Director of Community Relations at QVegas magazine. "We had several community leaders participate last year including Major Oscar Goodman and Congresswoman Shelly Berkley."

The auction will take place on February 12th from 6 to 9 p.m. at Hamburger Mary's. The winning bidder gets a fabulous dinner with their favorite entertainer, politician or community leader and best of all, all proceeds benefit the QVegas Foundation, a local nonprofit charitable organization established to raise and distribute funds to clubs and organizations that help to serve the greater Las Vegas community. Participants in the community are either chosen or they volunteer themselves to be auctioned off. After the auction, Chip Arndt, CBS's hunky Amazing Race winner makes a guest appearance at Krave for a special VIP meet and greet. A small donation of $100 gets you into Krave and also includes a photo with Arndt. For additional information, please contact Earl Shelton at earls@qvegas.com. ▼

Consumer Reports Issues Condom Performance Ratings

In their February 2005 issue, Consumer Reports Magazine rates 23 kinds of latex condoms and presents the facts on the effectiveness and risks associated with condoms and the latest developments in pregnancy prevention.

Consumer Reports evaluated 23 kinds of latex condoms. All of the latex condoms passed minimum industry standards and found no correlation between performance and price, thickness, or the country of manufacture.

The tests were conducted by inflating condoms until they burst. The best results showed no premature breakage among the 120 samples tested for each model. The worst results, however, broke 18 of 120 times at volumes below the strength threshold of 25 liters.

Consumer Reports also points out that when used properly and consistently, "any of the top-rate latex condoms, offers the best protection from sexually transmitted diseases." They also offer the following helpful hints...

1. Don't buy or use condoms past their expiration date.
2. Never reuse a condom.
3. Store condoms in a cool, dry place, not in a glove compartment or your wallet for an extended length of time.
4. Follow package directions.
5. Open the condom packet with care. Never use scissors, a knife, or your teeth.
6. Use only water-based lubricants. Oil-based lubricants can weaken the latex.

Arkansas Court Strikes Down Gay Foster Care Ban

On December 29, an Arkansas circuit court struck down a state regulation barring gays and lesbians and anyone living in a household containing a gay adult from being a foster parent. The decision ended a 1999 suit brought by the American Civil Liberties Union against the state on behalf of three prospective foster parents.

Circuit Court Judge Timothy Fox wrote that the state had been wrong to make claims against gays' suitability as parents, saying that his ruling was based on knowledge and information "as opposed to assumption."

"Throughout this case, the state has relied on ugly stereotypes to deny children in the Arkansas foster care system the chance of having the widest possible pool of foster families available to them," said Rita Sklar, Executive Director of Arkansas ACLU. "We're very pleased that the court saw through these arguments and has recognized that gay and lesbian people can provide homes just as loving and stable as anyone else's." ▼

Arizona Faces Gay Marriage Amendment

On January 5, Arizona lawmakers decided to put a measure on the 2006 ballot asking voters to consider an amendment banning gay marriage and civil unions and forbidding cities and counties from providing benefits to their workers' domestic partners.

The measure, if approved, would strike down the practice in Tempe, Tucson and Pima County of extending benefits to the partners of municipal workers. Tucson's domestic-partner registry would also be nullified. The amendment would also prohibit state courts from ruling the denial of benefits to domestic partners unconstitutional or from permitting civil unions.

Arizonans continue to be sharply divided on the issue of same-sex marriage. A 2004 state wide survey found that while voters opposed gay marriage by an almost 3-2 margin, 57% supported civil unions.

Arizona law already defines marriage as the union between a man and a woman. ▼

Caesars 24/7

The A&E Network began broadcasting Caesars 24/7 on January 10. The show takes an insiders' look into the famous Las Vegas resort, Caesars Palace.

Viewers get to view a regular cast of employees, including a savvy sports book oddsmaker who is also a family man, a concierge who has served as butler to kings and queens, an indomitable pit boss about to embark on his third marriage, and a young woman working her way through college as a poolside "Grape Goddess."

Caesars 24/7 will also give viewers an inside look at a revolving cast of tourists and regulars, naïve first-time gamblers, imperious high-rollers, and reckless newlyweds.

Caesars 24/7 is broadcast Mondays at 10 p.m. on the A&E Network. ▼

Mary Gets a Lift

Hamburger Mary's has become synonymous with the gay community. As part of a national chain, you can find a Mary's franchise in several gay tour destinations, like San Diego, Long Beach, West Hollywood, Ft. Lauderdale, Washington D.C., and Las Vegas.

The boys love Mary. And lord knows, Mary loves the boys.

The Las Vegas Hamburger Mary's opened in March 2002 under the direction of Andy Barrett. And since then, whether it's happy hour on a Tuesday, a raucous game of bingo, dinner for six, or to enjoy a neighborhood show for a good cause, we demand a lot of Mary. Such demands can wear on a girl.

When the time arrived for the Las Vegas Mary to get a bit of a tuck, nip and lift, it was only right that three gay men did the make over.

The improved and expanded Las Vegas Hamburger Mary's will be unveiled with a series of promotional celebrations on Friday, January 28, and running through Sunday, January 30. During the grand re-opening, customers can enjoy $1 Bud and Bud Light Draft and $1 well drinks.

I sat down recently with the three men at the helm of Mary's makeover and got a glimpse of the changes taking place.

The first change is personnel. James Healey signed on as a partner with Andy Barrett in August 2004. Both partners could see that Mary's was due for a change.

"We needed a lift — a rejuvenation — to stay competitive," said Barrett.

Healey and Barrett realized that staying competitive also meant a change in how daily business was conducted.

"As partners and owners, we can make all the changes we want," said Healey, "and demand a high level of service, but it all comes down to leadership, and who we put on the front lines. We needed a general leader for the staff. Someone with experience in the restaurant, bar and entertainment."

Healey and Barrett found their staff leader in Ernie Yuen, who was hired on as General Manager in October 2004. Together, the three men have hired, trained, re-trained, coached, and assisted a new and improved staff that is friendly and efficient.

The second change has come from the kitchen. Hamburger Mary's is known for, well, their hamburgers. That hasn't changed. But there are a number of new additions to the regular menu.

"Being part of a national chain, allows us to take part of Hamburger Mary's corporate menu," explained Barrett.

By incorporating customer requests with the corporate menu, the Las Vegas Mary's is growing from a five page to an eight-page menu.

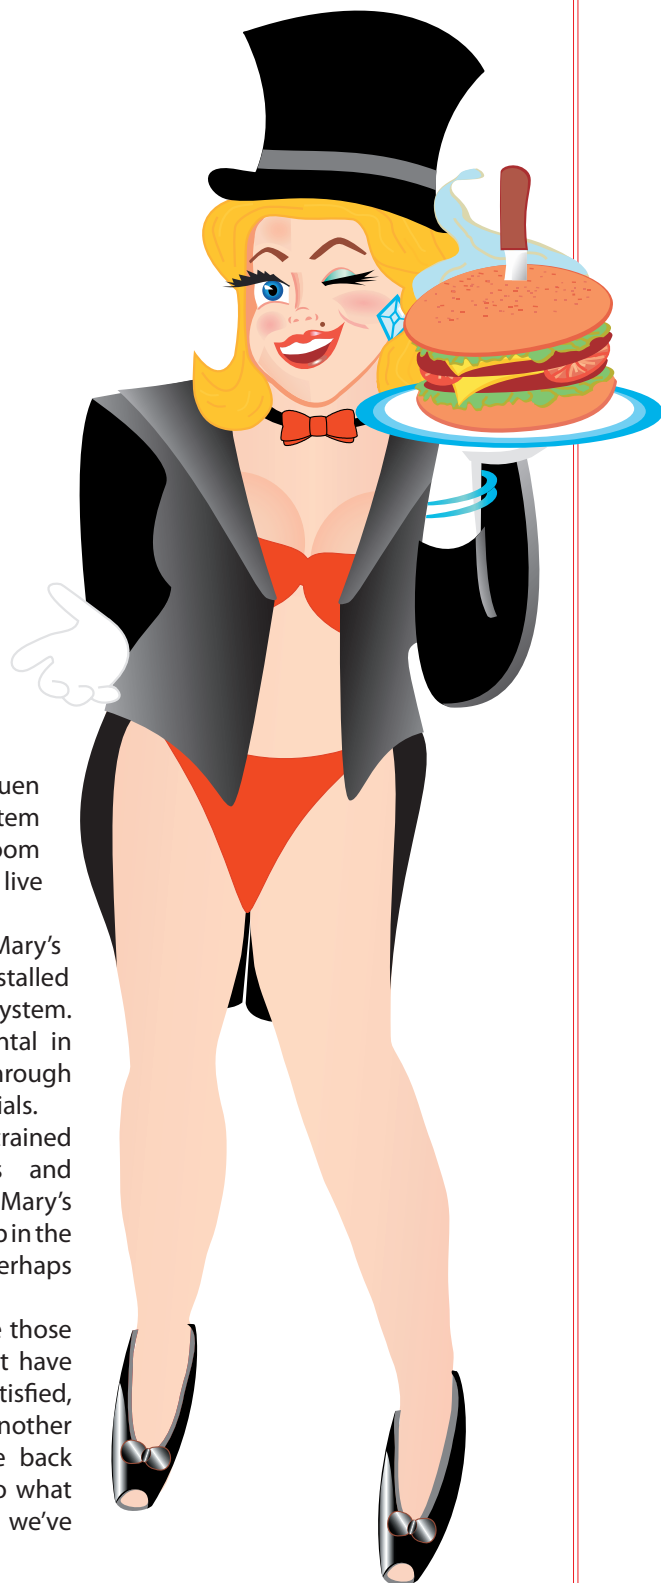

"It grows our dinner specialty items, expands our breakfast menu, and adds healthy choices like salads and fish," said Healey.

One of the new items guests will enjoy, is the Mary's Homewrecker, a monstrous half-pound hot dog that became popular at last year's NCOD festival. There's also a new desert called Mary Tyler S'mores, where the server brings a complete s'mores kit and heating device to your table, allowing you to create your own customized smore.

COVER STORY

BY STEPHEN D. MOORE

Mary's is also adding some fabulous salads, fresh fish dishes and wraps for the health minded among us.

The third change is an expansion of services Hamburger Mary's will offer. The most obvious testament to this change is the new Mary's Coffee Corner. Set off from the main dining room, the Coffee Corner will be open to all ages, and provide a great place to hang out, play games and enjoy your favorite coffee drink and desert.

Future changes include an outdoor patio area, wider beverage selection and specialty drinks, all the while paying attention to what the community desires.

In addition to serving the community's food and beverage needs, Mary's will continue to offer nightly specials and live entertainment. In fact, Yuen recently designed a partition system to separate the upper dining room from the stage area during live shows.

DJ Danny G has become Mary's resident disc jockey and has installed a complete lighting and sound system. Danny has also been instrumental in creating a new look for Mary through marketing and advertising materials.

With new paint and décor, re-trained staff, expanded menu items and improved service, Hamburger Mary's hopes to solidify their hold as a hub in the Las Vegas LGBT community and perhaps win back a few prior customers.

"With these changes, we invite those members of the community that have tried us in the past and left dissatisfied, to come back and give us another chance," explains Healey. "Come back and see that we have listened to what the community had to say and we've addressed those issues." ▼

Friends & Lovers

The holiday season has come and gone—and with it yet another really awkward time for dealing with friends and lovers.

No, not my lovers. I mean the friends who have within the last year become newly single, and their lovers, boyfriends, girlfriends, play things—heck, what am I even supposed to call them?

During this last year, one friend of mine split with his partner of many years. I had never known him except as part of the couple. And though I'd had hints, I had never known that the relationship was not a healthy one—a fact which his ex readily confirmed, by sending out some of the most hateful emails to mutual friends who tried to remain friends with both that I'd ever seen. It was worse than Liza and David, but minus the Botox injections.

Yet the fact remained that the friendship that stayed intact after the divorce was fundamentally changed. Dave (not his real name) was now single. Which meant that he would bring dates to dinners, parties, and so forth. Sometimes it was the same date. Sometimes it was a new date. Sometimes my head began to spin as I desperately tried to remember their names.

As an experienced writer on the subject of relationships, I knew that Dave shouldn't get into any serious relationship soon after a divorce, so seeing the same person more than a few times actually made me nervous. I'd want to go dig up a column or two to wave under his nose. "See! You can't be seeing this guy so often. You need to explore! Find you! Not get tied down!" And not fall into the same traps that you fell into with your ex. Been there, done that, shredded the t-shirt.

Plus, for me, there's the "don't get attached to a puppy that ain't yours" element. I have to keep telling myself that this might be the very last time they go out, so I may never see this person again, and if I do, I'll have the stigma of "you were friends with the guy I went out with who wasn't right for me" all over me. I also can't let myself like the new guy too much, because then I might unduly influence Dave into liking him more than he actually is ready to. He could fall harder than he would have, get hurt, have another divorce, and it would be all my fault. Okay, maybe not, but it's nice to imagine that I have that kind of pull with people.

I'm guessing it's pretty hard to be newly single when you have lots of coupled friends. Some of them are probably secretly envious of the new-found sexual freedom you might be enjoying. Like Dave, for example. Another couple we know seem to take some delight in making sexual comments around Dave and whoever his date of the moment is. I only do it for sport. They seem, after a few drinks, to leer just a little. But some of the guys Dave goes out with are pretty cute. Is it wrong to use them for your sexual fantasies? Or just a free gift with purchase?

Maybe it's been a while since I was single, but I don't remember what it was like to take a date to a holiday gathering. It seems to me that a holiday party is the absolute worst for forcing a false sense of intimacy. With all your coupled friends around, often with their arms around each other, with the holiday lights, the festive décor, and the schmaltzy holiday music, it's inevitable that you want to be more of a couple than you actually are.

It's as if you can't help jumping from a handshake to a deep prostate exam. I saw this with Dave and one of his repeat dates. In Dave's case, it involved wearing matching harnesses. He and his date reminded me of Santa's reindeer. The kinky ones, Thrasher and Vixen. Unfortunately, I thought Thrasher was a really nice guy. I could feel myself getting attached. Or was it that he looked really good in a harness?

So for my New Year's resolution, I have resolved that I'll call all of Dave's dates "Guy." As in, "Hey, Guy, good to see you." Or, "Hey, Guy, nice to meet you." That way I won't get attached, and I won't inadvertently pressure Dave to get attached.

That, and I won't feel so awkward when I can't remember his name, but I can remember the harness. ▼

DESERT DIVA BY MONTI ROCK III

My return to OUT Las Vegas magazine has been fabulous. Thank you for the warm welcome. Now, your Desert Diva has been out and about, dining and partying with celebrities and some of the maddest queens in all of Las Vegas.

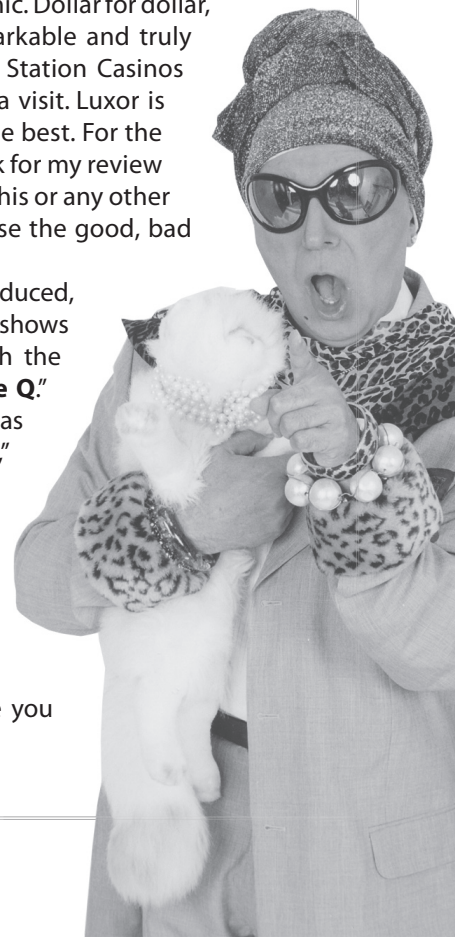

I was excited to be invited to the news conference, announcing that Barry Manilow is opening at the Las Vegas Hilton in February. He looks marvelous. The Hilton is bound to have a hit with Barry. And now that Caesars Palace has Sir Elton John and his Red Piano, we have the dueling divas, Sir Elton and Lord Barry. Incidentally, I wish Elton would leave George Michael alone.

Just in this week, Frankie Valley of the "Four Seasons" is moving from the Orleans to the Flamingo. Frankie and Monti Rock go back a long time. Once upon a time, we were both produced by Bob Crewe in the days when I was Disco Tex. I predict a sure fire hit for Frankie.

As promised in this column, I would like to report on value for your dollar. I spent a week testing all the buffets in town. For this assignment, the Desert Diva always travels by Monorail. You must take this trip - its divinely scenic. Dollar for dollar, The Rio Buffet is the best! The variety of deserts is remarkable and truly delicious. The Hilton buffet is inexpensive and fabulous. Station Casinos has a "Feast" at Green Valley Ranch, which is well worth a visit. Luxor is good, yet unremarkable, but their coffee shop is one of the best. For the best variety and choice, my vote goes to the Stardust! Look for my review of casino cafes in a future issue. If you have comments on this or any other dining experience, let me know. I'll be delighted to expose the good, bad and ugly.

"KA," the most expensive Cirque de Soleil show ever produced, is at the MGM Grand. Don't forget about the other great shows Sin City offers. Let's not forget Wynn opens in April with the sensational "The Rave" and the Broadway smash "Avenue Q." "Mamma Mia" is still the biggest Broadway hit to capture Las Vegas audiences. Of course, Paris has "We Will Rock You," but the jury is still out on this one.

This column would never be complete without a huge thank you to Ray of the Rainbow Lounge for throwing my Christmas party. The food and music were simply divine! Also I want to acknowledge Clint Holmes, who has not been well. We wish him a speedy recovery. To all my readers out there, I welcome your input, news, and any suggestions. Email it to gm@qvegas.com, Thank you, See you next month. ▼

SHOW BUSINESS IS A DRAG!

The Off-Broadway Hit, Dragapella!, starring The Kinsey Sicks returns to Las Vegas

BY STEPHEN D. MOORE

With a clever mix of a cappella singing, biting wit, and over-the-top drag, The Kinsey Sicks has performed to rave reviews and enthusiastic crowds for more than ten years.

The group first started performing on street corners in San Francisco's Castro District in 1994, and since then have produced and performed several full-length productions around the United States.

In 2001, the foursome launched their critically acclaimed Off-Broadway hit, Dragapella! at New York's legendary Studio 54. The show was nominated for a Lucille Lortel award in 2001 as Best Musical and a Drama Desk Award nomination for Best Lyrics.

The show is anything but predictable.

Whether it is the group's angelic mastery of a capella harmonizing, infectious humor, or the pure synergy of the performers, you never know what to expect from The Kinsey Sicks.

The a capella numbers are satirical in nature but pack a big wallop of realism and social commentary. Nothing is sacred with The Kinsey Sicks, like the song "I've Been Through Parasites (But I've Never Had VD)" or "When You're Good to Dubya," a commentary on the President's devotion to big contributors like Enron and the oil industry.

The Kinsey Sicks is comprised of original member Ben Schatz ("Rachel"), Irwin Keller ("Winnie"), Chris Dilley ("Trampolina"), and the newest member, Jeff Manabat ("Trixie"). These four are more than just pretty faces in a cute frock. Schatz is a Harvard-trained civil rights lawyer, Keller is a lawyer and linguist, Dilley is a trained actor and singer, and Manabat is a veteran performer as well.

Dragapella! starring The Kinsey Sicks is a must-see show. Take a break from the manufactured glitz and glamour of typical Las Vegas entertainment and see Dragapella! You will never forget the experience.

You can find out more about The Kinsey Sicks at www.kinseysicks.com

Dragapella! starring The Kinsey Sicks returns to Las Vegas on February 9 at the Westin Hotel & Spa. Tickets are $30.00. Showtime is 8:00 p.m. For tickets or more information, call (702) 836-9775 or visit www.showtickets.com ▼

HOROSCOPES

BY REV. BILL MORIN

Capricorn

(December 22-January 19)

Jan. 18th looks to be a "red letter" day. Anything can be accomplished then. Full Moon on the 25th ignites your amorous side. The 29th brings new business contact. Feb. 5th delivers less than promised. The 12th is best spent gathering your "support team" together.

Aquarius

(January 20-February 18)

Lower back may act up on Jan. 20th. Take the "high road" in business dealings on the 27th. Your expertise saves the day on the 31st. Most people won't follow your lead on Feb. 7th. Financial outlook improves on the 11th. Surprise gift boosts your spirits on the 14th.

Pisces

(February 19-March 19)

Both finances and love life are positively affected this month. Jan. 19th looks especially "lucky." It's best to keep silent at work on the 23rd. Out of town trip on the 30th pays off nicely. New Moon on Feb. 8th brings unexpected career choices. Use the 13th to just "veg" out.

Aries

(March 20-April 19)

It's a feast or famine type of month. The "cosmic winds" blow in your favor until Jan. 21st. Then a somewhat difficult pattern emerges through the 29th. Jan. ends on a light & happy note. Feb. 8th finds you as a popular social butterfly. Be careful not to party or overeat on the 10th or 11th.

Taurus

(April 20-May 20)

This is a powerful cycle for closing doors and completions. Jan. 17th is ripe for a romantic interlude. Full Moon on the 25th will increase demands made on you. Social bash on Feb. 6th goes perfectly. Planetary shift on the 9th gives you more financial clout. Try not to abuse it.

Gemini

(May 21-June 21)

A bumpy start won't detract from an otherwise satisfying month. Take criticism with gratitude on Jan. 20th. Succeeding is more important than being right on the 29th. Star crossed meeting on Feb. 8th proves inspiring. Taking a back seat to the "main event" on the 13th proves wise.

Cancer

(June 22-July 22)

Real estate deals are highlighted on Jan. 18th & 19th. Go off by yourself on the 23rd to soul search. Business deal finalized on the 31st is rock solid. Watch that "impulse buying" on Feb. 5th. Home renovations should be complete on the 13th. That's a reason to throw a major party!

Leo

(July 23-August 22)

Your magnetic personality comes in handy on Jan. 17th. Don't hog the work spotlight on the 25th or it'll cause hard feelings. Cash flow in early Feb. is quite good, but is offset by car repair expenses. A good deed you perform on the 9th brings many dividends. Avoid partying on the 12th.

Virgo

(August 23-September 22)

Finances are tight as this period begins, but hope/help is on the way. Jan. 22nd finds you in the driver's seat at work. Praise from the boss floats your boat on the 30th. Social activities look low key until Feb. 8th. A thoughtful gesture on the 12th is paid back in a surprising way.

Libra

(September 23-October 22)

Finding the right balance between work & romance proves tricky. Jan. 21st is best for packing prior to that move. Feb. 1st looks good for the move itself. Mini getaway on the 6th lifts your spirits. Out of town guest on the 11th gets a warm welcome. Lie low on the 13th.

Scorpio

(October 23-November 21)

This month begins and ends brightly. It's the meandering midsection that could work your nerves. Delays on the 23rd prove exasperating. Your work "slate" finally clears on the 29th. Feb. 5th finds you in a minor cash crunch. A new career option presents itself on the 14th.

Sagittarius

(November 22-December 21)

Hard work pays off very well on Jan. 19th. Take a mini vacation on the 28th & 29th. Feb. begins with a deluge of booking requests. Your sweetie offers a lovely surprise on the 5th. New Moon on the 8th supercharges your love life. Avoid highway driving on the 13th.

TROY By Michael Derry #114 "THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME"

I'M TELLING YOU, THIS ISN'T RIGHT! I'M NOT SUPPOSED TO BE HERE! I WANNA GO HOME!

IT'LL BE OK, BABE. IT'S ONLY FOR ONE NIGHT. THEY WANT TO MAKE SURE THERE'S NO... YOU KNOW... PERMANENT DAMAGE!

YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND! SOMETHING HAPPENED TO ME! SOMETHING... I CAN'T REMEMBER EXACTLY WHAT... BUT I DO KNOW THAT THIS IS JUST WRONG. ALL OF IT! I SHOULD BE... AAAAAARGGGG! I WISH I COULD... I DON'T REMEMBER!

BABE, YOU NEED TO CALM DOWN, OK? YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU'RE SAYING RIGHT NOW. YOU WEREN'T GETTING ANY OXYGEN TO YOUR BRAIN FOR LIKE, A LONG TIME. THAT'S REAL BAD! YOU KNOW, FOR A MINUTE THERE... WHEN I THOUGHT YOU WERE GONE... I... I... I'M JUST GLAD YOU'RE NOT! AND EVERYONE ELSE IS TOO! I CALLED RIGO AND HE'S GETTING RAY AND DERRICK...

NO! YOU DON'T GET IT! IT'S NOT SUPPOSED TO BE LIKE THIS! IT'S... THIS WHOLE... THIS PLACE... EVERYTHING. REAL LIFE IS JUST SUPPOSED TO BE MORE... YOU KNOW... SIMPLE! BLACK AND WHITE! THIS IS TOO... I DON'T KNOW! COLORFUL! I JUST... I JUST NEED TO GET HOME!

TROY By Michael Derry #115 "WHAT ABOUT THE CHILDREN?"

I'M TELLING YOU RIGO, I DON'T KNOW ABOUT THIS EIGHTEEN AND OVER NIGHT. THEY'RE ALL SO YOUNG! AND DIDN'T YOU TELL ME YOU FELL IN LOVE WITH SOME NEIGHBOR BOY WHEN YOU WERE EIGHT?

WHAT??? THEY'RE AT LEAST EIGHTEEN! THEY'RE ALREADY GAY! AND DIDN'T YOU TELL ME YOU FELL IN LOVE WITH SOME NEIGHBOR BOY WHEN YOU WERE EIGHT?

WELL... WHO'S TO SAY I WASN'T INFLUENCED BY SOME WELL-PLACED GAYS AT AN EARLY AGE? LOOKING BACK, I'M THINKING MAYBE MY CUB SCOUT LEADER WAS GAY. ALL THOSE MERIT BADGES FOR CRAFTS? AND AT LEAST A COUPLE OF PRIESTS AT MY SCHOOL COULD VERY WELL HAVE BEEN GAY. FR. "SKIP", MY EIGHTH GRADE DRAMA TEACHER? VERY DRAMATIC! WHO KNOWS. MAYBE ALONG THE WAY I WAS... I DON'T KNOW... "RECRUITED" AFTER ALL?

UH HUH. WASN'T YOUR BOYFRIEND'S LAST BOYFRIEND A GIRLFRIEND? I'D SAY YOU'RE THE ONE WHO'S BEEN DOING THE RECRUITING! WILL YOU BE ACCUSING US ALL OF BEING A BUNCH OF CHILD MOLESTERS NEXT?

RIGO! LONG TIME NO SEE. YOU HAVEN'T BEEN AVOIDING ME, HAVE YOU?

WELL HEY THERE LITTLE BOY! DAMN BABY, YOU'RE LOOKING GOOD! "AVOIDING YOU"? HELL NO! IF YOU PLAY NICE, I MAY JUST HAVE A PIECE OF CANDY FOR YOU LATER.

HE'S NINE-TEEN!!!!

PEEPING WITH TOM

BY TOM MOILANEN

Eddie Stone/Johnny Hazzard/Jan Fischer

An Afternoon With the Knights at a Round Table Discussion

People often give me grief for being something of an iconoclast. I generally avoid bandwagons of any sort, preferring instead to harbor what I like to call a healthy skepticism toward stuff that's immensely popular. Music, politics, gadgetry — you name it — if it's in, I'm out. Once it's out, I'm back in. (This would be the extent of any in-and-out action lately, except for the time I went to the ballgame. At least I had an outing of innings). Perhaps that explains why I haven't won any fashion awards. When they see my get-up, they tell me to get up and go.

There is a darn good reason for my aversion to the trendy, especially on a technological level: things break down, and if you're too dependent on them, you're screwed. A good example of this would be the clerk who cannot make change because the register is broken, or a student who can't compute two plus two because his calculator bit the dust. My particular instance is much more tragic; I had intended to run a conversational-style interview with three major porn stars that I conducted during the AVN convention, but my recording device ate the tape. Therefore, I'm relying on memory to pull this off. (Don't tell me to "go digital." I've got a digit for you.)

I met with Eddie Stone, Johnny Hazzard, and Jan Fischer (pronounced "jawn") for an informal chat at, yes, a large round table in the middle of the convention floor at the Sands Expo Center. They're the big guns of Rascal Video, the outfit commandeered by the illustrious Chi Chi LaRue. While I cannot quote them verbatim, I can, at the very least, provide a portrayal of porn folk through my eyes, as undiluted (and undilated) as possible. Like all of us, they have differences. Like some of us, they're pleasant. Like few of us, they get paid to get laid.

Stone and Hazzard are both 27. Fischer is 23. Hazzard got into the game a little over two years ago by merely contacting director Doug Jeffries and expressing interest. I asked him about the audition process, and he sort of shrugged it off like it was no big deal. (If I were to attempt such a coup they'd demand a DNA sample out of sincere disbelief, not to mention severe nausea.) Stone joined the gang about a year and a half ago. Fischer's new. Stone told me he used to be a go-go dancer at a club in L.A. called Mickey's, which Chi Chi would frequent. Jan is from Berlin, Germany. Chi Chi gets around. (I said gets, not is.)

These guys are exclusives, which means they're under contract to work only with Rascal. A good guess is that Chi Chi directs perhaps 75% of their stuff, and Jeffries contributes the other quarter. (FYI: Jeffries used to be on camera in his younger days, then occupied the director's chair at Studio 2000 before joining Rascal.) Stone told me the biggest difference between the two is marketing. Hazzard jumped in and noted that since Jeffries spent time as an actor, his dialogue and organizational skills top the list, and that Chi Chi is more technical; e.g., camera angles, lighting, etc.

I do recall one quote, and that was from Stone when I asked the guys if they had significant others: "I'm married to my career." Hazzard is single, and Fischer has a boyfriend. None of them claim to hold any hint of jealousy or other petty attachments to each other. They root for the team. In fact, Stone and Hazzard were friendly acquaintances before they became professionals. (They hang all over one another now, almost creating the appearance of being inseparable.) Check out the opening scene between them in Stone Fox. It went quickly. Fischer said that occasionally you get stuck shooting with a model you're not particularly attracted to. These scenes can take 8-10 hours. Shouldn't it be the other way around?

I recall asking if having sex for a living has changed their outlook on sex in their personal lives. Johnny — ever the wild man — told me it only makes it better, but "the hunt" isn't fun anymore. It lasts about "two seconds." Stone made the observation that his work doesn't interfere. To paraphrase: "When I'm Eddie Stone, I'm Eddie Stone. When I'm me, I'm me." Fischer appears to be quite comfortable with his craft and his relationship, as both his family and his boyfriend respect his chosen field.

Hazzard boasts the most impressive record with ten flicks to his credit. Stone has done eight. Fischer is in five, two of which — Kollide and A Night at Bruno's — were shot in Germany. The only flick that all three have appeared in together is Bolt, which is sort of Rascal's tribute to Cecil B. DeMille in that it's a three-disc set that demands you take vacation time from work to view in its entirety.

This was great fun. I apologize for my technological fumble, but I've learned that, at least in the writer's corner, there will always be a use for a pen and paper — as opposed to the bank, where there will always be a use for a pen and teller. Thanks guys, thanks Chi Chi, and most importantly, thanks to Rob Reimer at Channel 1 for once again hooking me up. ▼
