JOY IN THE MORNING

by David R. Guarino

When broadcast legend Barbara Walters set out to create a unique daily talk show back in 1997, she knew that she wanted to include herself and four disparate women from different backgrounds and age groups; she envisioned five different women with interesting, sometimes conflicting opinions. Walters' search uncovered an award-winning reporter and previous 60 Minutes anchor Meredith Vieira; a former prosecuting attorney with "star" power named Star Jones; an attractive twentysomething with powerful opinions of her own named Debbie Matenopoulos (who has since been replaced by Survivor alumnus Elisabeth Hasselbeck); and, to quote Walters, "someone who has done almost everything and will say just about anything."

This last quote was reserved for blossoming comedic genius Joy Behar. Walters signed them all, and The View has gone on to become an Emmy-winning showcase for the witty, sometimes controversial and highly entertaining talents of its five co-hosts and countless guest stars from all areas of television, film and the arts. It should come as no surprise that The View has been a staple of the ABC daytime lineup for the last eight plus years.

Behar, a former high school teacher, still jokes about being fired from her receptionist's job at ABC's Good Morning America, a show she's made many appearances on since her termination. After deciding to pursue comedy professionally, Behar swiftly landed bookings at stellar New York clubs, including the famous Caroline's. Behar has since gone on to receive a CableACE Award and three MAC awards.

With a constantly evolving repertoire of jokes and jabs at such varied topics as growing up Italian to war, politics and First Amendment rights, Behar takes calculated aim at just about any target, adding a reliable element of witty repartee to even the most serious discussion. The rapidly expanding audience of The View recognized and appreciated Behar's delightful blend of intelligence, candor and wit. Audience response was so positive that Behar's role on the daily talk show was broadened to five days; originally she was slated to appear only three days a week, taking Walters' place at the table on the days that she didn't appear. Today Behar is a regular co-host of the show, with a large and loyal following of her own. Behar's signature segment, "Joy's Comedy Corner," has become a viewer favorite, giving the highly capable comedienne the opportunity to showcase other comic talents from across the nation, both famous and relatively unknown.

I had the pleasure of catching up with Behar for an engaging chat after a recent taping of The View:

DAVID GUARINO: Now that you're in the ninth season, do any of you five on the panel ever say something to the effect of: "Hey, you know, this is starting to get old."

JOY BEHAR: Um...No, I don't think so. The thing about the show is that it's very spontaneous. It's not like you're doing a script every week that gets a little tired after awhile. This is more like, "Let's see what trouble we can start today." So it doesn't really get old as fast.

And the show has won several Emmys, has it not?

Right. The show has won Emmys, but the co-hosts have never won an Emmy because there's always one of us to hate. [We are both laughing.] And I don't know who that one could be; I guess it depends on who's voting. Regis [Philbin] never won [an Emmy] for being a talk show host until he was alone for quite a while.

Joy, can you think of something that you've said or done during a taping of The View that you later regretted?

No, but I got in trouble one time because I was off my diet...I was dieting and then I was off it and someone asked me, "Are you finished with your diet?" and I said, "Yes, thank you, Jesus." And ABC bleeped "Jesus," and it was [being discussed] all over the talk shows that I was censored, and Jerry Falwell went on TV and said that I was testifying, which is funny because I'm not really religious. But all I said was a frilly "thank you Jesus." If anybody else said it they would have never bleeped it, but me, they bleeped me because they felt that I was [being] disrespectful or something. So, David, that was a moment. But that happened a few years ago now. But regret what I've said? No, never!

Joy Behar is appearing at Flamingo Las Vegas for a one-night engagement, Thursday, February 23.

Tickets for the 7:30 show are $65 and $75.

To purchase tickets by phone, call 702-733-3333 or 800-221-7299

What, Joy, in your opinion, is not funny and never could be?

I think that it's not funny to make fun of the victim. I think that you can talk about any topic as long as you go for the perpetrator and not the victim. So you can talk about almost any topic at all; I can't think of anything that's completely off-limits. But it depends upon how you approach it.

Do you feel that gay men and women fail to see the humor in their own struggles?

Oh, no! I think that they are the best at seeing the humor in their own struggles. That's the beauty of the gay community—that it can laugh at all of the craziness that goes on. For instance, they take a serious subject, like discrimination, and they go to town with it; they have fun with it if they can. I don't really know that there's a community of gay people, but the gay people that I know, let's say, have a great sense of humor about all of it. While they take the issues very seriously at the same time.

And Joy, when you first started on The View in 1997 you were on the show on the days that Barbara [Walters] wasn't on, correct?

That's right. I was on [the show] for three days a week, and Barbara would come on [for] two days. And then I got popular, and they put me on all five days. Apparently the focus groups were missing me when I wasn't there, so [the producers] put me on more days.

Do you ever look around and think to yourself, "Wow! I can't even believe this is true?"

Well, I think that I've always had this ability to make people laugh, from when I was a little kid. When I was a teacher, I could make people laugh; the same was true when I worked at GMA. It's not something that was a surprise to me; the only thing that's surprising to me is that I was able to make a career out of it. Let's put it this way, David, before I did it, I didn't know how to do it, if that makes any sense. And when I started to focus, I was against the wall with it. I had to do it, and then I started to take the steps towards having the career. You have to focus on what you want, especially when the stakes are high; you have to make an effort. You can't just say, "Well, I'm going to be funny at parties, and maybe I'll show up for an audition here and there. I worked very hard at it once I put my mind to it. I was on stage; every night I would do six sets at different clubs around the city. I worked the road very, very minimally, but I did work the road a little bit. And I kept writing material, and I got myself an agent ... all of the things I had to do I did. I had to do it. I had to make a living as I was a single parent and divorced.

Do you ever get stage fright before a performance, Joy? You're a pretty outgoing person, aren't you?

Well I get a little bit of anxiety before I go out on stage, but as a comedian. I don't have any problem as a talk-show person or when I appear on television shows or anything like that. When you're a stand-up [comedian] you're alone on the stage and you have all these people waiting to be entertained, so it's all on you. You have to be relaxed, you've got to be in the moment, you want to have fun, you want to be funny. There's a lot [of pressure] on you. So that's more daunting than anything else.

What's the biggest misconception about you, Joy?

I think that people now know that I'm a very serious person. I have strong feelings about the government, the country. I'm very tuned into politics at the moment—actually I've always been. My husband and I were marchers against the Vietnam War ... I've always been very politically active and interested in politics. And so I'm very serious about all of that. If you would have asked me this question before I was on TV, I might have said that people probably think I'm just a bunch of laughs. I care about children and I care about people's rights, especially when they're being abused. It's important.

Joy, what is your quick take on:

...Reality shows?

Some of them are entertaining, and some of them are not. I can only watch them once. I never get hooked on a reality show. Since most of them are heavily edited, I don't believe that they're actually reality shows. Some shows that are written are more real than reality shows.

...Amendments to ban gay marriage?

I really think that it's nobody's business what people do in the privacy of his or her own homes and in their own lives. It's a terrible idea to ban gay marriage when these so-called "family groups" are talking about how great the sanctity of marriage is. At the same time, they don't want people to get married because people are not doing it the way they say you're supposed to do it. So I think that's it's very hypocritical of the extreme right wing to be against gay marriage. If you're going to be against gay marriage, be against marriage, period. Don't say that's it's good for one group and not for another. Also, I don't like mixing religion and politics together. That goes against the Constitution; that goes against my own feelings as an American. I don't like it when any group inflicts their religious ideas on me. Marriage is a civil contract, and it should stay like that.

...Arnold Schwarzenegger's recent stance?

He's a politician first and a humanist second. He basically went against gay marriage in California because he's afraid [that] his base is going to turn on him and he wants to get re-elected. And [it seems as if] all we have are politicians who are constantly kowtowing to their base. And they are not thinking for themselves and doing the right thing. That's why we have no leadership in this country anymore.

Joy, that brings me to a question that I've wanted to ask you from the beginning: do you see any humor in the polarization of the country under the present administration?

The current administration is really great fodder for comedians. Just watch Jon Stewart or any political comedian. You know, we had one thing to go after Bill Clinton about—his sex life. Talk about the gang who couldn't shoot straight! Now every time you open the paper, there's some nonsense there. Looking at [Bush's] face makes me laugh. We have First Amendment rights in this country, and I intend to use my rights!

Joy, can you tell me what habit of Barbara Walters really gets on your nerves?

She used to get mad if you would ever say that you were tired. Oh, my God! World War III. She's fit to be tied. Because she's never tired.

Joy, since you are a former schoolteacher, I wanted to ask you if you could give me your opinion on charter schools for gays and lesbians, such as the Harvey Milk School that is now operating in New York City and restricted to gay and lesbian students?

Sometimes I think it's a good idea, because very often gay teens suffer tremendous discrimination and abuse. Every kid can get teased, but they take it to a different level with gay teens sometimes, and they can become abusive. If the gay or lesbian students want to be segregated, because that's what it is, and they feel safer in that kind of an environment, if that's what they want to do, then they should do that. I don't believe in vouchers for private education, however. If students are going to go to a private school, then they should have to pay for those themselves.

Joy, what's the best part of your life right now?

I'm really enjoying myself a lot! My work is great and very varied. I do speeches, I do standup and I do talk shows. I'm doing some writing. I'm also in school, I love to take classes so much! My family life is fine; I've been with the same guy for 23 years, and we're not married. My daughter is a ceramic artist, and she's doing very well. I am happiest when my family is all together with me. ▼

marrs attacks

By Homer Marrs

1965-2006

Jim Zulevic is dead. You have no idea who he is. Please keep reading.

I met Jim in the summer of 2001, in Chicago, through a comedy troupe called GayCo Productions. He was a big-shot Second City alumnus, someone the group was thrilled at the chance to work with, and he was directing their newest sketch revue, 99 Bottles of Queer on the Wall. I had no clue who he was because the only Second City names I knew were those from Saturday Night Live, but I was eager to be funny and gay, and as a lowly understudy, I would've jumped at the show had it been directed by Alan Smithee.

Walking into my first rehearsal, it was hilarious for me to see that the guy was a total meathead. Here you had Chicago's most obvious group of gay and lesbian actors—singing songs called “Lesbian Death Bed” and “Join Up” (about converting straights)—and manning the helm of their big pink yacht was a heavysset hetero from the South Side wearing a baseball cap and sunburn. At first I took him for the tech guy.

GayCo hit it big with 99 Bottles, and Jim was entirely to thank. So much that the group would work with no other director again. In 2003 the invite finally came my way to get bumped up from understudy to cast member, and I leapt at the chance to work with Jim. The writing/rehearsing process was only a month long, but I remember every minute of it because the dude was downright genius.

I have always respected the brilliant. I have always admired those who have keen insights into life, art and people; those whose brains hold memories like flypaper. Jim had all of these things and none of the ugly pretenses they're so commonly wrapped in. He could talk just as easily about what makes a piece of theater thrive or fail as he could the starting lineup of the '78 White Sox. There was no topic he did not know plenty about, or at least to me it seemed, yet he never showed off or condescended. Keeping up with him in conversation for me was like water skiing behind an aircraft carrier.

I wish I could say here that Jim and I became fast friends, thick as thieves, or that either of us joined the other's innermost circle of comrades, but we didn't. After Chicago, we had a professional friendship from different cities and drank together once or twice a year when our paths crossed. But it was so cool to me that we even had that. It was so cool that this guy, who'd been on commercials, Seinfeld and Curb Your Enthusiasm, and written with John Waters, would take any time to talk to me at all, let alone time to read my pieces and give priceless, poignant feedback. I was always worried that he'd see me as one of those wretched opportunists who befriend only those who can advance their careers—the vermin that exist in every industry but seem to dominate entertainment—but he didn't. He knew I couldn't get him anywhere; he talked to me because he was cool.

A few Fridays ago, I was bored at work and got an out-of-the-blue urge to e-mail Jim. It had been months since we'd talked, and I got a random desire to check in and say hi. It seemed to come from nowhere. And the next morning he wrote back! Things were good, he and his girlfriend were great, he was getting prepared for the radio show he hosted Saturday nights. Then two hours later I got a call from an old friend in GayCo.

“Homer?” she said. “I’m calling with bad news. Jim Zulevic died today.”

“What?” I asked. “But I just got an e-mail from him.” It was all too creepy. I didn't think about Jim on a daily basis; now the day we catch up he dies? The strange sadness that hit me was one I hadn't felt before. I thought maybe it was psychic.

I thought maybe there was some kind of psychic vibe that told all those friends Jim didn't hear from too often to hit him up that week, to say hi for no reason but to say hi, to let him know he could never run out of friends, not even if he tried. Maybe his inbox was extra full that morning.

I'm not psychic, so I don't know. But I'm glad I was thinking of him just before I got the call; thinking how cool he was, how I wanted to be just like him, and laughing at myself for having such a childish crush at 27; and thinking all those things about him from 1,500 miles away, staring at my computer, sending love without intention so he'd have it before he went . . . if that stuff is even real, and if he's even gone at all. ▼

Rules are Meant to be Broken

EVERY SO OFTEN YOU JUST HAVE TO BREAK THE RULES.

I've got no new flicks to tell you about. No sexy porn stars. No tales of erotica. What I will tell you about, however, is of critical consequence to this whole blue movie business and perhaps the entire entertainment business in general. Every human endeavor is built by standing on the shoulders of giants, to nip and twist a pompously worn-out expression. The porn industry is no different. The stuff you watch today is a mutation of what has gone before, and I believe there is but one man who can be credited for bringing the industry to its currently unprecedented levels, both technologically and artistically.

Peruse any shelf in any adult domain and you'll find William Higgins. More specifically, you'll find movies made by William Higgins. Lots of them. So many, in fact, that Higgins himself doesn't know the exact number. I ran an interview with him in this space three years ago, but after a recent breakfast meeting I decided that enough time has passed and that his contributions are so significant that a brief re-hash is in order. Just be aware most of this will be paraphrased; that is, I'm providing a narration from memory with a few quotes here and there. This ain't science. But it's a hell of a great way to get a month ahead of the game without working too hard.

Without Higgins we may not have the VHS tape. I know they've become the T-Rex of home video, but they dominated the scene for over 20 years. Higgins gambled his last $600 on an ad in The Advocate to nationally market his second flick, Boys Of Venice, via mail order at a time when Falcon Studios—the reigning kings of gay porn—snubbed their nose at videocassette and insisted on 8mm film.

Without Higgins we wouldn't have Catalina Video, a major production company and distributor. He named it, started it and owned it for about a decade. We may, however, have Catalina dressing.

Without Higgins we wouldn't have Jeff Stryker, John Davenport, Kevin Williams, Mike Henson, Kip Noll, Jeremy Scott, David Ashfield, Leo Ford, Grant Fagan, or Derrick Stanton. He shot them all. With a camera.

Without Higgins we wouldn't have Big Guns, The Boys Of San Francisco, Cousins, Sailor In the Wild, Leo and Lance, Pacific Coast Highway, The Young and the Hung, California Summer, The Pizza Boy-He Delivers, Class Reunion, Brothers Should Do It or The Class Of '84. We would, however, have Ishtar. Emphasis on the "ish."

Without Higgins, we may not have the interview/reality flick. He did the first at a time when everyone said, "it'll never work." Now the market is saturated. So is my underwear.

Without Higgins, we may not have bisexual movies. He did the first at a time when everyone said, "it'll never work." Just like my love life.

Without Higgins, porn may not have developed a linear plot format. His flicks feature fictional characters. Just like my love life.

I admire prolific people. That is, guys who crank out a lot of material, particularly when it's top shelf. Come to think of it, the hacks are never prolific, which is why I'm continually amazed I've been at this for seven years. Higgins has been around for 30, and the way things are going I wouldn't be surprised if he hangs around another 30. (I also wouldn't be surprised if this doesn't make it to print.)

What makes his stuff so good?

Consider this quote: "I have, and always will keep, a different motivation nowadays. The work will always be my art and not the source of my daily bread. If my current productions look different from what I produced in the '80s, that's the primary reason why."

The implication is that his old movies were done to make a buck, whereas his new flicks are more "artistic." I find this to be a paradox, in that his early work appears far superior to that which he's producing now. Fans and critics—whether of music, of literature or of film—always seem to say that about an artist. And it usually pisses the artist off, primarily because his vision has changed.

Higgins made that point the last time we spoke.

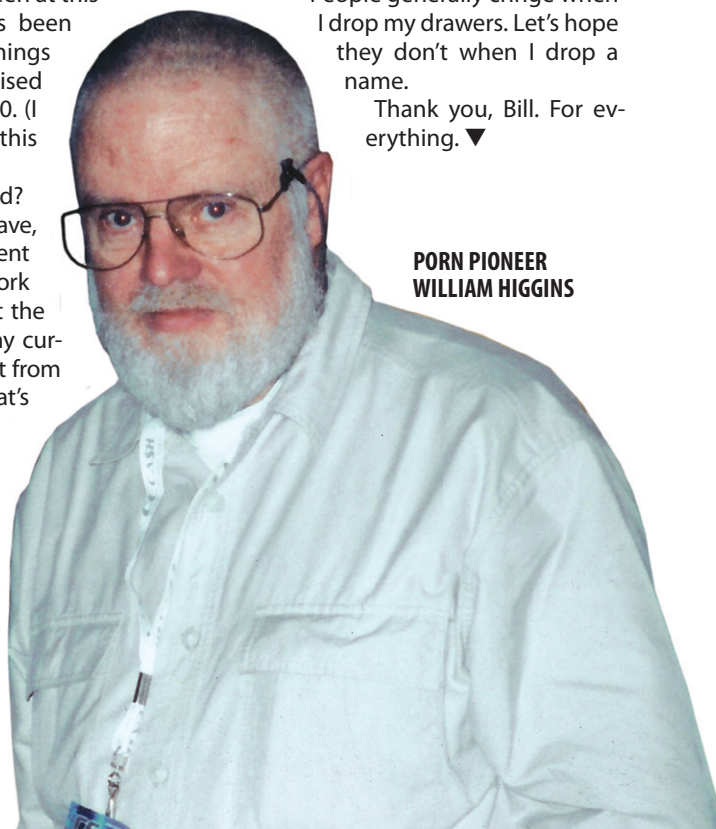

This time he talked shop a little, telling me he spends 10-12 hours a day working, mostly out of a desire to avoid boredom. Much of his stuff is now Internet-based, although he's still putting new and old material to DVD. He lives in the Czech Republic—Prague, to be exact—and owns several businesses there. Otherwise we just chatted in general, like old friends playing catch-up over runny eggs. Or, should I say, pouring ketchup over runny eggs.

The first gay porn movie I ever saw was a Higgins flick. I was 18, and that was 26 years ago. I told him at breakfast that I was still in the pinch-me-to-see-if-I'm-dreaming stage. I don't mean to grovel, but there aren't too many people who have caught my attention and commanded my respect. He is undoubtedly one of them, not merely because of his contributions to the field, but because he has always taken the time to hunt me down and treat me well.

People generally cringe when I drop my drawers. Let's hope they don't when I drop a name.

Thank you, Bill. For everything. ▼

'50s Heartthrob Signs Memoirs Chronicling Closeted Years

Tab Hunter became an instant star and a #1 box office attraction, recorded a #1 hit song, and survived a major sex scandal all by the time he was 25. Five years later, new stars had been developed to meet the demands of fickle fans, and he found himself scrambling to find work, struggling just to survive. Yet survive he did, re-creating himself as a cult star and film producer in a career that spans five decades and more than fifty films. But first, he was Art Gelien, an introverted and extremely attractive young boy who was discovered by a Hollywood agent and transformed (with the help of studio publicity hacks) into Tab Hunter, Movie Star.

Tab Hunter Confidential tells how it all happened and what it felt like to be created, packaged and sold to the American public, how it felt to appear on-screen, off-screen and on every newsstand in America with the biggest leading ladies of the day—Linda Darnell, Natalie Wood, Debbie Reynolds, Lana Turner and Rita Hayworth—while dealing with the reality of being gay. It's his story of how he kept his bearings when he was suddenly no longer the boy-next-door heartthrob, no longer under the protective wing of the Warner Bros. publicity department, no longer in demand as a "star." It is his story of how he soldiered on with perseverance, determination and faith.

Hunter will discuss and sign the book at Borders Books & Music (2323 S. Decatur Blvd.) at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 22. For more information, contact the store at 702-258-0999. ▼

Hit Show Dragapella! Lands Permanent Gig at LV Hilton

Dragapella!, starring The Kinsey Sicks, debuts in the Shimmer Cabaret at the Las Vegas Hilton March 3. Producers Rich Super and Paul Reder featured the show at the resort in September and, based on fan reaction, have booked it for an unlimited engagement.

The Kinsey Sicks combine award-winning acappella singing, biting wit and over-the-top drag for what has been called "one of the more uniquely original (and thoroughly fun and entertaining) acts we have encountered in years" by Billboard Magazine and have been praised for their "voices sweet as birdsong" by New York Times.

Their Off-Broadway show, Dragapella! at the legendary Studio 54 in New York City, was called "riotously funny" and "sublime" by Variety, and earned them a Drama Desk Award nomination for Best Lyrics and two Lucille Lortel nominations, including for Best Musical.

"This show represents the new wave of entertainment in Las Vegas," said Ken Ciancimino, executive vice president of administration for the Las Vegas Hilton. "Our property now has the full range of entertainment, from resident headliners like Barry Manilow and Reba McEntire, to production shows like Menopause The Musical."

The Kinsey Sicks have been profiled on national television in the US, Canada, Europe and Japan, including ABC, CBS and the CBC. They have recorded four CDs: Dragapella, Boyz 2 Girlz, Sicks in the City, and I Want To Be A Republican.

Dragapella! is presented Tuesday-Saturday at 9:30 p.m. in Shimmer Cabaret, beginning March 3. Tickets are $42.50 (plus tax/service charge) and can be purchased at the Las Vegas Hilton box office or by visiting www.lvhlilton.com or calling 702-732-5755 or 1-800-222-5361. ▼

TROY

By Michael Derry
#140 'NO BAD NEWS'

MR. PRESIDENT, SENATOR, UH, YOU-KNOW-WHO SENT THIS OVER, SAID WE NEEDED TO TAKE CARE OF IT RIGHT AWAY. SEEMS SOME FAG PAPER IN WEST HOLLYWOOD, CALIFORNIA GOT WORD ABOUT... WELL, SEE FOR YOURSELF.

I TOLD YOU! NO MORE BAD NEWS! I CAN'T... I CAN'T TAKE ANY MORE BAD NEWS!

YEP. THIS IS BAD. REAL BAD.

DAMN LEFT COAST, HOLLYWOOD, GAY, MEDIA ELITES! ALL RIGHT, GET ME ARNIE ON THE PHONE! THE HOLLYWOODS LOVE HIM! TELL HIM WE NEED...

UH... YEA. HE JUST AP-POINTED A LES-BIAN DEMO-CRAT AS HIS NEW CHIEF OF STAFF.

GOSH DARN IT! OK! FROZEN EMBRYOS! THE PEOPLE LOVE FROZEN... NO? OK, FIND ME SOME NUNS... ON LIFE SUPPORT! EH, SCREW IT! JUST RAISE THE TERROR ALERT IN WEST HOLLYWOOD!

ACTUALLY, MR. PRESIDENT, THAT TERROR ALERT... HERE'S THE THING. IT ISN'T REALLY WORKING ANY MORE. OUR POLLS NOW INDICATE THAT AT THIS POINT, THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE MORE AFRAID OF WHAT THE GOVERNMENT WILL DO TO THEM.

OK. FINE! JUST... JUST SEND THOSE TWO SECRET SERVICE GUYS, ROCKO AND JIMMY NUMB-WHACHAMACALLITS OVER THERE TO... YOU KNOW... 'CHECK OUT HIS SOURCES!'

I DON'T HAVE A PROBLEM WITH THAT.

GOTTA BE TOUGH, SIR.

HEH! THAT'S WHY I'M THE LEADER OF THE FREE WORLD! HE-HE!

OF COURSE YOU ARE, SIR.

#141 'OH BABY, OH BABY OH!'

OH BABY, I HAVE MISSED THAT!

ME TOO. I DIDN'T REALIZE HOW MUCH UNTIL I SAW YOU ONLINE WITH TROY. I SAID TO MYSELF, 'RIGGS, WHATEVER IT TAKES, YOU GOT TO GET THAT BOY BACK!'

WHAT? YOU KNOW...? ONLINE?! WHAT?

DAMN! CALM DOWN, BOY. YOU DIDN'T KNOW? THAT ENTIRE CAMP HAD WEB-CAMS LIKE EVERYWHERE. THEY SOLD MEMBERSHIPS TO WATCH HOT, FRUSTRATED, 'STRAIGHT', SOLDIER BOYS GONN AT IT. YOU GUYS DIDN'T KNOW?

NO! YOU MEAN PEOPLE...? ANYONE...? COULD GO ONLINE AND... AND... AND...

...WATCH. YEA. I GOTTA TELL YA, SEEING YOU AND TROY TOGETHER MADE ME PRETTY JEALOUS AT FIRST, BUT THEN WHEN I SHOWED THOSE PICTURES TO NICK...

PICTURES? NICK? TROY'S BIG, HUGE, MUSCLE-HEAD... THAT NICK?

RELAX! NICK'S TOTALLY COOL. SEEING YOU GUYS... YOU KNOW... HE FIGURED THAT MEANT YOU WERE STILL GAY. SO HE DECIDED WE SHOULD COME AFTER YOU AND... WELL, HERE WE ARE.

SO HE'S NOT GOING TO KILL ME? AND YOU? THIS DOESN'T BOTHER YOU? AND THE PICTURES! OH MY GOD! WHAT HAPPENED TO THE PICTURES?

NO WAIT! YEA. HERE IT IS! THAT'S MY FAVORITE! SO HOW COME YOU NEVER WANTED TO TRY THAT WITH ME?

OUR INTREPID HOME-SCHOOLERS VENTURE INTO THE UNIVERSITY OF THE STREETS.

THIS SUCKS! I THOUGHT WE WERE DOING HISTORY THIS AFTERNOON!

THIS IS HISTORY, JANIS! TODAY'S LESSON IS, "THOSE WHO CANNOT REMEMBER THE PAST ARE CONDEMNED TO REPEAT IT."

UNFORTUNATELY, SO ARE THOSE WHO CAN.

IF BUSH HAS GOOD CAUSE TO SPY ON PEOPLE, HE CAN GET A WARRANT, THE ONLY REASON TO BREAK THE LAW AND DO IT SECRETLY...

...IS IF HE'S MONITORING JOURNALISTS OR ACTIVISTS, IN A DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO COVER UP THE FACT THAT HE MISSED THE COUNTRY INTO WAR FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES. WHO'S THAT REMIND YOU OF?

THE WATERGATE GUY, OKAY? I GET IT! NOW CAN WE GO HOME?

YO, BEYONCÉ! WANNA SMOKE THE BONE?

HEY! HAVE A LITTLE RESPECT!

WASN'T TALKIN' TO YOU, FUGLY.

WHAT'S 'SMOKE THE BONE'?

SOMETHING THAT IF SOMEONE WOULD ONLY DO TO GEORGE BUSH MIGHT MAKE IT ACTUALLY POSSIBLE TO IMPEACH HIM.

IMPEACH

PUNKS.

HISTORY'S IN RE-RUNS ELSEWHERE, TOO. ASHLEY! FOR SOMEONE WHO CLAIMS TO BE A FEMINIST, YOU'RE ACTING A LOT LIKE A FRAT BOY!

I GIVE UP. IF YOU DON'T WANNA HAVE SEX, I'M GOING TO MY PETA MEETING.

CAN I... CAN I COME WITH YOU?

OH MY GOD!

THAT EXPLAINS IT! YOU DIDN'T TAKE A VIRGINITY PLEDGE, CYNTHIA. YOU'RE AN AGENT!

COMING FROM A GIRL WHO'S BEEN IN THE ARMY FOR YEARS!

THE NOSTALGIC FALLACY IS AT WORK IN A STRANGE WAY IN "BROKEBACK MOUNTAIN." THINGS WERE WORSE IN THE PAST, BUT ALSO BETTER. I MEAN, WHO WOULDN'T PREFER A RUINED LIFE WITH A FEW PRISTINE MOMENTS TO A REGULAR, BANAL, DISAPPOINTING LIFE?

EVERYONE BUT YOU? WILL YOU STOP ANALYZING THE BEZELZUS OUT OF THAT MOVIE? YOU'RE RUINING IT FOR ME. SPEAKING OF RUIN.

IMAGINE THE CINEMATOGRAPHY IF ENNIS AND JACK HAD BEEN ABLE TO LIVE TOGETHER, SLEEPING VISTAS OF THEIR COUPLES THERAPIST'S OFFICE.

WELL, LOOK WHAT THE CAT DROG IN!

I DIDN'T KNOW YOU TWO CAME HERE! WHO DO YOU SEE?

NO ONE YET. WE'RE JUST ADDITIONING THIS GUY CARLOS RECOMMENDED.

UH... TWO WOMEN SEEING A MAN. ABOUT THEIR RELATIONSHIP?

I THOUGHT IT'D BE REFRESHING. A SORT OF TABULA RASA APPROACH.

GOD, WHAT THE HELL ARE WE DOING IN HERE? WE COULD BE RUNNING THE COUNTRY! BUSH ISN'T IN THERAPY. SAMUEL ALITO ISN'T IN THERAPY.

BUT WOULD YOU WANT TO BE IN A RELATIONSHIP WITH ONE OF THEM?

HEY, WE'RE ALL IN A RELATIONSHIP WITH THEM. AND IT SUCKS!

ANYHOW, SYDNEY THINKS THIS GUY IS MORE LIKELY THAN A WOMAN TO TELL HER IT'S OKAY TO DO WHATEVER SHE WANTS WHENEVER SHE WANTS.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH DOING WHATEVER YOU WANT WHENEVER YOU WANT?

SHE'S A BIG FAN OF THE UNITARY EXECUTIVE THEORY.

AND YOU'RE A RELATIONSHIP ORIGINALIST! YOU REFUSE TO ADAPT THE PARADISE TO CHANGING CIRCUMSTANCES!

LET'S HOPE YOUR THERAPIST IMPEACHES YOU BISH.

horoscopes

By Rev. Bill Morin

Aquarius

(January 20-February 18)

Determination saves the day for you on Feb. 20. The 25th looks best for a night on the town. Try to be invisible on the 28th. March begins with a flurry of financial activity. You'll get to call most of the shots at work March 6. Make time for a lonely buddy on the 13th.

Pisces

(February 19-March 19)

It looks like you'll be on cloud nine during late February. Hardly anything will go wrong. Business deals are strongest if closed by March 1. Celebrate your special birthday with a sizzling romantic encounter. Physical energy dips, and mood swings make the 9th difficult.

Aries

(March 20-April 19)

No one is happier than a busy Aries, and you'll be happy for most of the month. In fact, you may be spread too thin Feb. 18. Resist the urge to bulldoze your point of view on the 26th. An old flame may be rekindle March 4. Eclipse on the 14th makes you super restless.

Taurus

(April 20-May 20)

Networking is the key to success Feb. 20. Health, finances and career aspects look solid. All that's missing is a love match. Enjoy that special alone time while you can. Someone special arrives by March 7. Try welcoming them with open arms instead of being so cautious.

Gemini

(May 21-June 21)

Like Aries, you might not be spending enough time on leisure activities. That is so not you, Gemmy. A major bill/mortgage is paid off on the 23rd. This is cause for celebration. March 3 provides a surprise from a higher up. Keep that dental appointment on the 13th, okay?

Cancer

(June 22-July 22)

It's likely you'll be stuck in neutral gear until Feb. 20 or so. Don't try to buck the tide. Energies turn in your favor on the 24th. Mini vacation from the 25th-27th works wonders for you. Unexpected cash comes your way March 2. Lunar Eclipse on the 14th triggers psychic dreams.

Leo

(July 23-August 22)

It seems your team is set and working together beautifully. Let someone else have the spotlight on Feb. 17. The 22nd-27th is best for completing business deals. Wait 'til April to shop for a newer vehicle. Be more supportive of an eccentric, misunderstood sibling.

Virgo

(August 23-September 22)

Keeping active is fine but not if you're hiding in work. Issues from a former relationship need closure. Feb. 23 is perfect for viewing investment properties. Out-of-town visitors bring much joy March 4. The 11th looks best for starting that new workout regimen.

Libra

(September 23-October 22)

Being alone and lonely aren't the same thing. You want a lover but don't need one. Things at work look like business as usual. A getaway March 2 and 3 stimulates your creative inner child. Don't speak out in haste or anger on the 10th, or it could have damning effects.

Scorpio

(October 23-November 21)

Just because you can make the most noise, doesn't mean that you should. Being subtle and cunning Feb. 21 pays off in spades. Be gracious to an unexpected guest March 1. That promotion is within your grasp, Scorp. Butter up the boss on the 14th.

Sagittarius

(November 22-December 21)

At long last, love is on its way. It's what you've been asking for. Dress especially nice Feb. 25. Incoming cash flow looks very strong. Good news from a sibling enlightens you March 2. A bash on the 5th is joyous and fun filled. Watch that lower back on the 11th.

Capricorn

(December 22-January 19)

You've got to play hardball where business is concerned, especially Feb. 16. Your energy levels look strong up 'til March 7. After that, you'd be wise to let someone else do the grunt work. Throw an impromptu bash on the 12th to show off that remodeling.
