The Ultimate Party Guide

By Jon Afalla

You remember those days. The days when partying was a top priority. The days when drinking and hunting for someone to go home with was a sport. The days when getting into a club was as important as getting into the school of your dreams. (Perhaps you still live this way.) Whatever the case, The Boys and Girls Guide to Getting Down provides the perfect illustration of this partying lifestyle. And then some.

Presented as a Discovery Channel-esque, how-to narrative, this movie is presented in several politically incorrect chapters, from establishing relationships with bartenders to drug etiquette. Each chapter—raw, unapologetic and uncannily accurate—dissects every aspect of partying. For the hardcore partier looking to identify with a film, for the former partier looking to rekindle a memory or two, for the newbie scenester looking for some tips on getting into the club or protocol at the infamous house party or for anyone looking to have a good laugh, this Guide is for you.

The narrative tips throughout the movie is what makes this film magical. Trying to get into a club? Use a distraction while you look up a name on “the list.” At a house party and there’s a shortage of liquor? Go on a “booze hunt.” Ladies, short on cash but want to get a drink at the bar? Use that “pussy power” (mimicked as the famed Jedi mind trick). Battling a coke fiend? Perform the “nipple test.”

Another great feature of The Boys and Girls Guide to Getting Down is the quirky characters, especially the lab assistants researching the partying lifestyle. The assistants help make over a poor clubber in desperate need of assistance and they attempt to buy drugs in a shady part of town—providing insight to viewers on what to do in given situations and what not to.

Although big stars like Tom Cruise and Angelina Jolie aren’t featured in this film, several familiar faces can be seen throughout the movie. Mario Diaz, owner of famed New York gay bars, The Cock and The Fat Cock, and Los Angeles club Hot Dog, plays a cameo role in the chapter on Fauxmosexuals (straight men posing queer at a gay bar in order to seduce female attendees). Also, Dennis Haskins (Saved by the Bell’s Mr. Belding) and Leyla Milani (Deal or No Deal’s Girl Number 13) have guest appearances.

Music also plays a large role in this movie for the credit card and straw generation. Virtually each cast member is a musician, rapper or is in a band of some kind. The soundtrack, being released simultaneously with the film, features tracks by Goldfrapp, Arling and Cameron, Nightmares on Wax, Zero7 and more. Grammy winner Dirty Vegas ("Days Go By") conducted the score. Usually an artist of this caliber would charge thousands of dollars to do this kind of work, but when frontman Steve Smith saw the film, he said, "This is like a movie about my life—I fucking love it!" and jumped on board.

The bar and club scenes were shot on location at the hipster bars on Cahuenga Boulevard in Hollywood. The film highlights hip nightlife spots like Vine Bar, CineSpace, Beauty Bar, Star Shoes and the Burgundy Room. Writer and Director Paul Sapiano also wanted to represent bars and parties as he had experienced them, so he used real bartenders and bouncers from the bars and clubs they shot in, and the extras used in the movie were kids from the scene.

The director's and editor's backgrounds in commercials and Larimie Garcia's stellar graphic work separates this movie from the pack both aesthetically and structurally. Coupled with an incredible soundtrack, this film is remarkable on every level.

What was the motivation behind a film satirizing sex, drugs and debauchery? Sapiano jokes that it was primarily to convince his mother that the last 15 years spent partying was not time squandered but was in fact important research that had to be undertaken for the good of the script. Riiiiight.

The Boys and Girls Guide To Getting Down hits theaters nationwide in March. ▼

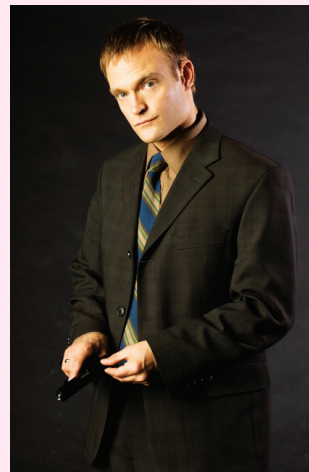

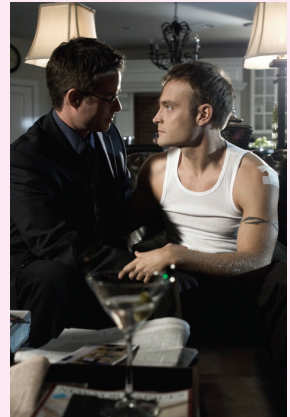

Shock Attack...2

Shock To The System is the second film based on the series of the popular gay detective novels from Richard Stevenson. Openly gay actor Chad Allen (Third Man Out, Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman) is back again as the no-nonsense detective Donald Strachey. When his latest client turns up dead, a trail of complex clues lead Strachey to "gay conversion therapist" Dr. Trevor Cornell (Michael Woods), a man who claims he can turn homosexuals straight. As Strachey delves deeper into the world of these crusaders, he must fight harder than ever to protect himself and uncover the mystery behind his client's untimely death. The film also stars Morgan Fairchild who gives a powerful performance as Phyllis Hale, a wealthy socialite and mother of the deceased client with something to hide. Like Third Man Out, the first installment of the series, Shock To The System breathes new life into the classic detective mystery with its bold queer twist.

This DVD includes a special feature of particular relevance to the film plot: the touching documentary, SoulForce Resists Religion-Based Discrimination, about a group dedicated to freeing LGBT people from religious and political oppression through nonviolent resistance. This documentary chronicles Allen, Judy Shepard (mother of slain gay icon Matthew Shepard) and others as they march to protest anti-gay group Focus On The Family in Colorado Springs.

Directed by Ron Oliver (Third Man Out, Queer As Folk), Shock To The System was released in select theaters in August 2006 before airing on here! TV. The DVD is now available. ▼

A Bit Rattled

Big news in the world of gay porn:

Director/producer/owner of Cobra Video, Bryan Phillips (real name Bryan Kocis), was found murdered in his rural Pennsylvania home on the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 24. His house had been torched and “an autopsy determined Kocis was dead before his home was set on fire...he suffered multiple stab wounds to his torso and neck,” according to The Citizens Voice, a local newspaper. He was 44.

You’re probably thinking, “OK, a dead porn director. Big deal. Now will someone get me a beer and another roll of quarters? And while you’re at it, tell that hideous drag queen with the green wig to leave me the hell alone.”

The interesting back story to this is that Cobra—aside from producing perhaps the best twink porn ever—was the studio that gave rise to Brent Corrigan, one of the industry’s most popular models. Part of Corrigan’s notoriety stems from his early flicks, which he shot for Kocis while underage. The ensuing legal battle had become the stuff of legend, hearsay and controversy, what with Kocis filing suit against Brent for breach of contract and Brent’s retaliatory use of the trademarked name “owned” by Kocis.

Corrigan’s actual name is Sean Lockhart.

Adding fuel to this fire, so to speak, is the fact that Kocis had been in prior trouble for using other minors in his productions and for having sex with a 15-year-old boy in 2002. He wound up receiving one year of probation because the kid lied about his age and the parents did not wish to pursue further action.

In case you’re wondering, Bryan’s surname is pronounced “caucus,” or better yet, “cock-us.”

Several Cobra movies have been removed from the shelves over the past two years because of underage models, yet none of these guys were remotely as well-known or well-liked as Corrigan. Now 20, he has an enormous following, an incredible on-screen appeal and some brutally—if not downright confrontational—opinions on the inside politics of the adult film business. He’s a renegade, a maverick and a remarkably bright, articulate, witty dude.

He was also a recent guest on QRadio, the talk show of which I am host. While I’m bragging, he and I even did a song together at the piano during a penthouse party at the Venetian Hotel during last year’s AVN show.

If I sound like a star-struck fan, it’s because I am.

Big-league porn journalist and Jason Seachrest wrote that Corrigan and Kocis “were said to have reached a very lucrative settlement that would even involve the two of them working together again,” and that he had spoken “with a very distraught and shaken-up Brent Corrigan this afternoon who told me he needed to clear things up with his attorneys before making any public statement.”

Apparently the aforementioned work has already been done. Cobra’s Web site boasts two new flicks featuring Corrigan on the box covers, available for purchase online. I imagine the distributors will be flooding the brick-and-mortar retailers with these titles soon, unless some sort of last-minute litigation gets in the way. But unless you welcome a knock on your door from the Feds, I would avoid any attempted Internet contact until this mess is cleaned up.

Rumors abound in these circles, and one from a producer who shall remain nameless is that Kocis was killed by an irate father whose son was in the game. Another is that a spurned model took out his revenge. It could be money. It could be sex. It could be drugs. It could be young boys. (It could be the Catholic Church?) As of this writing (1/27/07), police have not drawn a connection to the industry, although it’s rather silly to believe otherwise.

It is, after all, a cutthroat business. And sometimes you get burned.

My heart goes out to Corrigan, whom I believe is innocent of any wrongdoing; but I’m sure he’ll be what the cops call “a person of interest.” My instincts tell me Kocis was an asshole, although his violent demise may not have been justified. And, as tawdry as it sounds, my nether regions have been crippled by the thought of no more Cobra Video. The industry has lost its Shakespeare.

I realize by the time this hits print we’ll know more, as this story is far from over. But I promise to see it through, so bear with me if my next couple of installments doesn’t contain the usual banter. I may not be a snaky character, I doubt that any part of me resembles a python and I’m certainly not a Cobra model.

I am, however, a bit rattled. And I’ve even been known to hiss on occasion. ▼

marrs attacks

By Homer Marrs

HE COMES WITH A GHOST

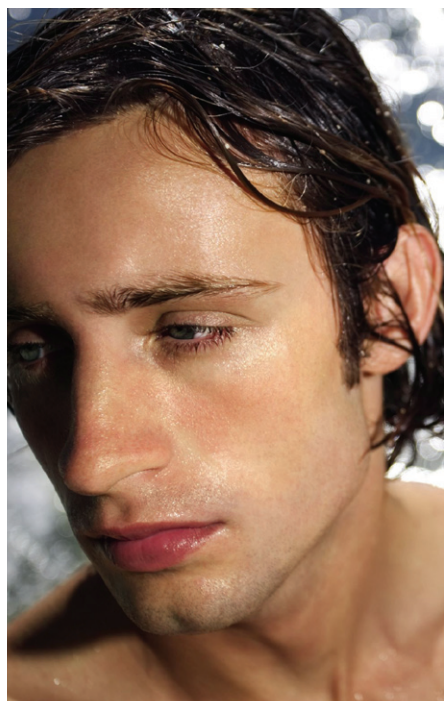

As if love triangles are not complicated enough, the one I'm in now involves a party that isn't there.

My new boyfriend is smart, handsome, amazingly loving and wonderful to be with. His husband took his own life less than a year ago. When I try to imagine the pain he must be feeling, I have to stop, because that kind of pain is too overwhelming even when it is borrowed.

Eric does very well not to show his hurt to me. I don't know if it's because he doesn't want to scare me away, or because he's working desperately to get through it, or because he has successfully gotten through it and wants to move on. He has done some counseling and read a book for those in his situation, but his internal world is a mystery to me, revealed only in changing tones of voice and varying degrees of talkativeness when tender thoughts arise.

Is it too early for Eric to date? What is the grace period on something like that? When we first met, he said he wanted to wait a year from the tragedy to begin seeing someone seriously. We are violating that now, at his bequest (with no complaints from me). I figured I would let him decide how he felt and just go along with that, making sure not to put any pressure on him. This was made relatively easy by my working on a cruise ship and only getting to see him once in a while in port and on vacation. However, absence does make the heart grow fonder, so while Eric and I can't be accused of spending too much time together, our feelings are redoubling on themselves.

The hard part for me is this: I think Eric is still in love with his husband (or ex-husband, if that is how it's said). He mentions feeling terrible guilt over his attraction to me, and I suspect that's why. I expect him to always love this man, who suffered too much for one person, and I want him to. I'm just not sure in which capacity.

While there is a universally understood difference between loving someone and being in love with someone, I think there is a universally nebulous point at which we can differentiate the two. I wonder if I should flat-out ask him, but I don't want to be blunt. I try not to bring up his husband in conversation because I don't want to upset him or kill a good mood when I know good moods aren't the norm for him these days. Eric is capable of talking on the subject in different capacities without becoming quickly sad, but I don't want to push him. He has told me I'm welcome to ask him anything I want, yet I don't know if my prying is healthy for either of us. Even if Eric seemed cavalier divulging, I don't know how I would process certain delicate information about their relationship and a person I never knew.

The flip side is that I wonder if he wants to share more with me than he is but is afraid, for my sake, to bring it up.

He comes with a ghost. I suppose that is what I have to accept for now about this man I'm so very fond of. We all come with a certain amount of baggage, and it seems wrong to me to hold a person's baggage against him if it is the result of a misfortune he incurred. To be honest, "baggage" sounds harsh, but I guess that's what it is since it's something that happened in the past and is weighing on him today.

Of all the things that might weigh on you, though, I suppose a ghost ain't so bad. ▼

C.R.A.Z.Y. For You

By Jon Afalla

C.R.A.Z.Y., the critically acclaimed film from director Jean-Marc Vallée, explores the triumph and beauty of acceptance, both of oneself and others. The film chronicles the first 20 years of Zac's (Marc-André Grondin) life, focusing on the contentious relationship he has with his father Gervais (Michael Cote). The pain they endure, and ultimately, the love they exude for one another has made this heartwarming coming-of-age film a smash hit in Canada, earning over $5 at the box office.

Zachary Beaulieu was born Dec. 25, 1960—a blessing according to his devout Catholic mother (Danielle Poulx). One of five brothers, his father seems to favor him over the others, but Zac's birth date is just one of the many things that sets him apart from his siblings. When Gervais senses unusual behavior in his son at an early age (i.e. Zac's penchant for his mother's clothing), their relationship changes. He becomes disdainful of him, an aversion that Zac will spend the rest of his childhood trying to overcome. Zac still shows signs of those tendencies through his teenage years (such as his David Bowie-style glam-rock look), but his father's conservative values push him to repress his sexuality. As Zac ultimately makes his pilgrimage toward self-acceptance, Gervais must also journey on the road to acceptance of his son.

C.R.A.Z.Y. earned top awards at the Toronto International Film Festival and AFI Fest and garnered 10 Genie Awards, including Best Picture, Best Director and Best Actor (Cote). Praise was also given to the unique, eclectic soundtrack of the film, which ranges from Pink Floyd to Patsy Cline. The film, produced by Genius Products, is available on DVD Tuesday, Feb. 20. ▼

Then Comes?

By Jon Afalla

The second season of Logo reality series, First Comes Love, premiered Monday, Feb. 12.

In response to overwhelmingly positive viewer feedback to season one, the second season of First Comes Love continues to chronicle LGBT couples as they plan their dream weddings.

Hosted by popular stand-up comedian Elvira Kurt and wedding planner extraordinaire Fern Cohen, the series challenges about-to-be-married gay and lesbian couples to fulfill a long-held wish to have the wedding of their dreams. How will they express their love for each other? Will it be old-fashioned wedding bells or a brand new sense of style and tradition?

Kurt is an alumnus of comedy troupe The Second City and has appeared on The Tonight Show with Jay Leno. Her specials have aired on Comedy Central, HBO, Showtime, CTV, CBC and The Comedy Network, and she will host the recently announced Logo special Cruising the Caribbean with Olivia that airs this spring. Top wedding planner Cohen runs a successful events firm in Toronto, Canada.

Subsequent episodes of First Comes Love will air Mondays at 10 p.m. PT/ET. Additional content and special features will be available on LOGOonline.com, including a streaming version of the first episode.

Logo is the ad-supported network targeting LGBT viewers launched by MTV Networks. The network launched June 30, 2005, with more than 1,000 hours of content and has approximately 20 million subscribers across the United States. Logo provides LGBT audiences with a place where they can see themselves through a mix of original and acquired entertainment programming that is authentic, smart and inclusive. Logo joins Viacom's roster of popular and highly targeted cable networks, which includes MTV, Comedy Central, BET and Spike TV. ▼

The (Oscar) Heat is On

By Rev. Bill Morin

Once again it's that time of year in Tinseltown when babies (and butts) are kissed, the talk show circuit is made and most everyone makes nicey-nice to everyone else (with the exception of Eddie Murphy). Yes, movie fans, it's the 79th annual Oscar race that began Jan. 23 and heads to a rousing finale Feb. 25. Having polished my crystal ball, the following are my picks for who should win and will win (in some cases, both).

SUPPORTING ACTOR ★ ★ ★

Alan Arkin (Little Miss Sunshine), Jackie Earle Haley (Little Children), Djimon Hounsou (Blood Diamond), Eddie Murphy (Dreamgirls) and Mark Wahlberg (The Departed). At 72, two-time nominee Arkin is the sentimental fave. Haley won several critics awards, but his role as a pedophile may be a turnoff. Hounsou has received rave reviews and can't be discounted. Murphy has nabbed most of the pre-Oscar awards but has never been known as Mr. Nice Guy. Wahlberg's funny and foul-mouthed cop character is the dark horse.

Should win: Hounsou.

Will win: My hunch says Wahlberg.

SUPPORTING ACTRESS ★ ★ ★

Adriana Barraza (Babel), Cate Blanchett (Notes On a Scandal), Abigail Breslin (Little Miss Sunshine), Jennifer Hudson (Dreamgirls), Rinko Kikuchi (Babel). Barraza's work in Babel was shattering. Blanchett was fabulous in Notes, but she won two years ago. Watch out for 10-year-old adorable Breslin. Hudson has racked up the most awards and is the one to beat. Kikuchi might have won in another year.

Should win: Barraza.

Will win: Hudson (although Breslin is coming up on her real fast).

ACTRESS ★ ★ ★

Penelope Cruz (Volver), Judi Dench (Notes On a Scandal), Helen Mirren (The Queen),

Meryl Streep (The Devil Wears Prada) and Kate Winslet (Little Children). First-time nominee and first Mexican actress Cruz was an early fave. Six-time nominee Dench has received raves for this little seen gem. Mirren has won 16 pre-Oscar awards and is clearly the one to beat. Fourteen-time nominee Streep is always a contender and a possible spoiler. Winslet—with her fifth nomination for her luminous performance—will win, just not this year.

Should win: Winslet.

Will win: All hail and bow to Queen Helen.

ACTOR ★ ★ ★

Leonardo DiCaprio (Blood Diamond), Ryan Gosling (Half Nelson), Peter O'Toole (Venus), Will Smith (Pursuit of Happyness) and Forest Whitaker (The Last King of Scotland). All are superb. A difficult field and incredibly tough call. DiCaprio is due but many feel his work in The Departed was stronger. First-time nominee Gosling, at 26, is the potential dark horse. O'Toole's eighth Oscar nod might yield gold for this way-overdue legend (He was robbed for Lion In Winter in 1968.). Smith's work was a real crowd pleaser and mined gold at the box office—his Oscar gold will come one day. Whitaker has won 14 of 16 pre-Oscar critic's awards. This is a two-horse race, though any of the five are well deserving. It comes down to mind/logic=Whitaker versus sentiment, not to mention an incandescent performance by O'Toole. A tie would be lovely but improbable.

Should win: O'Toole.

Will win: Whitaker, but don't bet the farm on him.

DIRECTOR ★ ★ ★

Alejandro Inarritu (Babel), Martin Scorsese (The Departed), Clint Eastwood (Letters From Iwo Jima), Stephen Frears (The Queen) and Paul Greengrass (United 93). Inarritu did a splendid juggling act on a film that has divided audiences. Six-time nominee Scorsese is the clear favorite and way overdue (Raging Bull, Goodfellas, Taxi Driver—come on Academy!) He is the one to beat. Four-time winner Eastwood is the critics' darling but has little chance for this subtitled gem. Frears made what many consider to be the year's best film—could be a spoiler. Greengrass took a sensitive and heartbeaking subject matter and created a masterpiece, but the film was not nominated so he has no chance.

Will and Should Win: Scorsese.

PICTURE ★ ★ ★

Babel, The Departed, Letters From Iwo Jima, Little Miss Sunshine and The Queen. This is the most wide-open race in years. Iwo Jima is in Japanese and has made little box office impact. Babel brilliantly interwove three story lines in four languages, but people truly love it or hate it. Sunshine came out of nowhere to charm audiences and critics alike, but lacking a best director nod hurts its chances. The Queen is universally admired by all but has won no Best Film citations, where as the slight fave, The Departed, has. This is a real tossup.

Should win: The Queen.

Will Win: I'm going out on a limb and saying Sunshine.

BEST OF THE REST ★ ★ ★

Adapted Screenplay and Editing: The Departed, Original Screenplay and Original Score: The Queen, Animated Film: Cars, Foreign Film, Cinematography and Make-up: Pan's Labyrinth, Sound, Sound Effects and Visual Effects: Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest, Documentary Feature and Song: An Inconvenient Truth ("I Need to Wake Up") and Costume Design: Dreamgirls.

There you have it. Check out the show on ABC Feb. 25 at 5 p.m. PST. Two last predictions: Ellen DeGeneres will make a delightful Oscar host, and the show should clock in around three hours and 38 minutes. ▼

horoscopes

By Rev. Bill Morin

Aquarius

(January 20-February 18)

Pre-eclipse energies energize you Feb. 15. The 23rd looks best to begin new work projects. Watch your spending on the 30th. March 4 is perfect for buying real estate. Don't let family members push your buttons on the 10th. Avoid games of chance on the 13th.

Pisces

(February 19-March 19)

Annual Aquarius new moon Feb. 17 energizes your career sector in a big way. Avoid being too bossy on the 25th. That special friendship deepens as of the 31st. Early March is a powerful time to gather allies. Major social gala on the 11th brings out the clown in you.

Virgo

(August 23-September 22)

A new moon Feb. 17 causes you to soul search. Much goodwill embraces you on the 22nd. Use the 24th to do some spring cleaning. A party invite on the 1st isn't worth your time. A full moon/lunar eclipse in your sign on the 3rd triggers a four-month financial ripple effect.

Aries

(March 20-April 19)

Lunar energies will have you revved up Feb. 19. The 24th looks good for new-car shopping. You'll be a perfect host March 3-4. You'll need that marvelous sense of humor on the 9th. Take the boss out to lunch on the 12th. Keep your wallet close at hand on the 14th.

Libra

(September 23-October 22)

That emotional rollercoaster grabs you Feb. 17-18. Financial conditions improve nicely as of the 26th. That hot fling really has nowhere to go, so just enjoy it. Watch that lower back while working out March 5. It's best to keep to yourself on the 11th.

Taurus

(April 20-May 20)

Knowing you won't make much headway until Feb. 21 makes it easier to bear. Contract/agreements successfully complete on the 28th. March begins with joyous family news. A weekend getaway March 3-4 will fly by. Don't argue with a roommate on the 11th.

Scorpio

(October 23-November 21)

A rather subdued period begins Feb. 19. The lack of drama shall be a welcome change. News from a distance provides relief on the 27th. An intriguing business proposal fires you up March 2. Don't let your ego rule the day on the 10th or it'll put people off.

Gemini

(May 21-June 21)

The planets smile on you all month long, Gemini. Only being overconfident can make you falter. Don't socialize after work Feb. 16. Financial backing comes as expected on the 27th. A love interest lands in your lap around March 3. Make peace with a difficult woman on the 13th.

Sagittarius

(November 22-December 21)

A nagging personal debt is paid off Feb. 20. You'll have a high old time at that Oscar party on the 25th. Creativity levels soar March 4. Minor home renovations on the 9th really please the eye. Let that new love interest know exactly how you feel about him or her.

Cancer

(June 22-July 21)

Your gift as a people person will be quite evident Feb. 18. Financial aspects solidify on the 23rd. Self-promotion is the key to success on the 28th. March looks relatively free of drama, so stay out of other people's chaos. The 10th is phenomenal for selling unusual ideas.

Capricorn

(December 22-January 19)

White sandy beaches beckon you Feb. 16. An ongoing legal matter ends up as a truce. Be extra charming and gracious toward a new client March 5. Take the 11th as a total play day, Capricorn. The 13th is best used for a vehicle.

Leo

(July 23-August 22)

Energy levels shall dip Feb. 17-18, so easy does it! You'll be dazzling and spiffed up on the 25th. Extra cash leads you on a spending spree March 1. A full moon on the 3rd causes you to be a bit subdued. Your skill as a mediator may save the day on the 12th and you'll be rewarded.

♥ Love is In the Air ♥

Superstar duo Jason & deMarco first rose to prominence in 2004 with their debut album, Spirit Pop. The duo was then featured on the July 2004 cover of The Advocate as poster boys for a larger story on the movement of LGBT Americans reclaiming their faith. Recently, their music video was voted #1 music video of the year on MTV LOGO's The Click List Top 10 Countdown program. It has held the #1 position for seven consecutive weeks, more than any other song in 2006. And now, Jason & deMarco's recently released their "This Is Love" CD/DVD single.

Because of overwhelming popularity of the song, RJN Music along with Centaur Entertainment released a double disc CD/DVD set that includes the music video, new remixes of the song and a behind-the-scenes look at the making of the music video with an exclusive Jason & deMarco interview. The CD/DVD single was released Tuesday, Feb. 6 to major retailers across the United States. Their music is also available in online stores, including Amazon.com and digitally on iTunes.

"No one could have predicted the response to 'This Is Love,'" said video director Ted Trent of Out of the Closet Television. "It's a powerful tune that taps into a hot-button issue of today. More and more Americans are asking what is gay love? The album offers a profound and inspiring answer to the question."

"'This Is Love' is about finding that special someone and the intense, explosive emotions that follow," explains Jason from the apartment he shares with deMarco in Los Angeles. The song, he says, translates the emotions of the moment he first set eyes on deMarco, his partner of five years. "No matter how the world may judge the love we share, what we have is love, and it can't be taken away."

"I first knew I was falling in love with Jason when it no longer mattered what my parents or friends thought about my life-style choices," deMarco says. "There was a beautiful safety I felt with Jason and ever since I've wanted him to be the first thing I see when I wake up in the morning as well as the last thing I see before going to bed."

Jason & deMarco believe that love between same-sex couples is different only because of the struggles faced by the LGBT community. "Many gays and lesbians fight hard for love and often must overcome hurdles and obstacles, even within themselves. Many of us have sacrificed relationships with our family, our faith, our jobs—simply by trying to find our way in a world that mostly looks at our love as dirty, immoral and unnatural," says the duo. "Through our music, and 'This Is Love' in particular, we strive to give hope that it is possible to be gay and spiritual and to have a loving partner with whom to share your life and dreams." ▼

Jason & deMarco's full-length album, Till The End Of Time, is also available in stores now.

Treasure Island Media is more a cult than a film studio.
-Mark Adams, Vidioview.com

Wow...ok, so I was at a friend's house over the weekend and we were watchin the Plantin Seed 2 video. I've never been so turned on before. I mean, the entire video is hot. Every scene literally had my [redacted] throbbing. The reason for this email though has to be that last scene between Jason Summers and Johnny Farrell. Johnny probably has the best ass I've ever seen in porn. It's like it was made for [redacted] I wanted to dive in the tv screen and [redacted] out myself. The whole scene is a challenge to slutty bottoms everywhere. He obviously enjoyed that Jason's [redacted] and he took that [redacted] like a champion (and what a [redacted] it was...damn) He made me want to [redacted] that ass, and for that I have to say great job to you. I mean, porn is porn, but for me to decide to send an email about a porn I saw 4 days ago that's still fresh in my memory means it was [redacted] hot. Thanks...and uh, when do I get to see more of Johnny's ass?

- Greg Sehns Jr., 22, Minneapolis, MN

Treasure Island Media is the best porn studio there should be a law against.
