Frank Marino Co-Stars With Sandra Bullock

If you thought Frank Marino was just a local headliner, you're wrong. The star and host of Rivera's An Evening At La Cage makes his major motion picture debut in this month's Miss Congeniality 2: Armed and Fabulous.

"I've had a few small parts in the past, however, this is the first time I get to play myself," said Marino.

Marino, who is no stranger to show business, plays the host of a Las Vegas drag show, where Sandra Bullock's character disguises herself as a female impersonator (sort of a Victor/Victoria twist) to find a kidnapper.

Miss Congeniality 2 will hit theaters March 24 to an undoubtedly pleased audience. Marino will also have a part in next month's Modify: The Movie, and he is also reading for two other films.

"This film is a lot of fun, and I truly think that everyone is going to enjoy it," Marino said. "And personally, I thought I was so fabulous that they best be considering me for an Academy Award." ▼

Krave Rolls Out Red Carpet For Oscar Party

QVegas magazine held its first annual Oscar party in celebration of the Academy Awards on February 27 at Krave nightclub. The casual, "red-carpet" event produced a turnout of over 100 local members of the gay community, and for good reason.

"It was a great night," said Earl Shelton, Director of Community Relations for QVegas. "We had a ballot raffle where contestants guessed the outcome of the awards ceremony that night. There were two people who guessed all answers to the questions accurately."

However, Bonnie Rivera of Las Vegas was the one to take home the grand prize: a lush gift basket worth over $3000 filled with local show tickets, dinners, music, movies and spa packages.

The raffle was not the only thing on the agenda that night. Not only did guests enjoy complimentary cocktails during red carpet hour, they also chilled in style with a dance-floor turned posh VIP living room, complete with three big screens, leather couches and red velvet. All proceeds from the $5 cover benefited the QVegas Foundation, and all in all, the event raised a grand total of $793. ▼

QVegas Nominated For MAGGIE Award

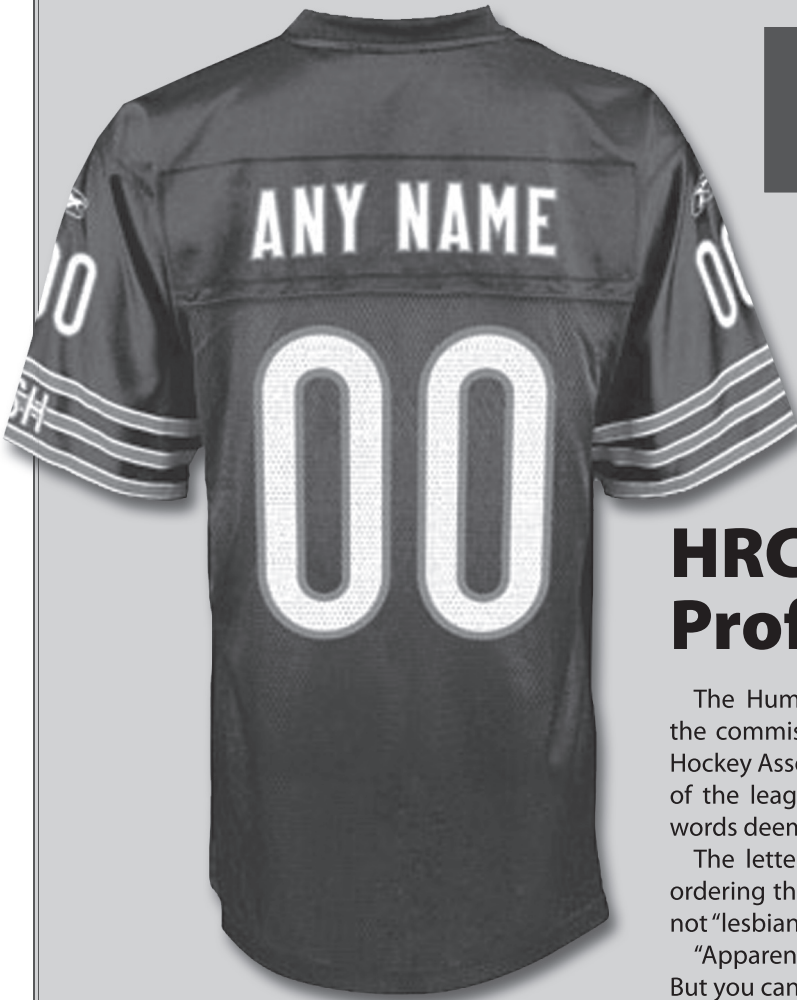

The Western Publications Association (WPA) has nominated QVegas magazine as "Best Alternative Lifestyle Publication" along with instinct, OUT, and The Advocate.

"We are extremely honored and pleased to be included with these other national LGBT publications," commented Kelly McFarlane Smith, Publisher of QVegas and OUT Las Vegas magazines. "This honor comes exactly one year after our redesign of The Las Vegas Bugle into QVegas, and is indication that we are headed in the right direction for our readers and the national LGBT community."

The WPA's annual MAGGIE Awards will be held in Los Angeles on April 22. ▼

HRC Gives Notice To Professional Sports

The Human Rights Campaign (HRC) recently sent a letter to the commissioners of the National Football League, the National Hockey Assoc. and Major League Baseball regarding the online sale of the leagues' personalized jerseys and the rejection of certain words deemed "inappropriate, derogatory, or profane."

The letter was prompted by the online sales system used for ordering the jerseys, which will allow the word "heterosexual," but not "lesbian" to be printed on the jerseys.

"Apparently, you can be a 'heterosexual' in the MLB, NFL and NHL. But you can't be a 'lesbian,'" said HRC's Winnie Stachelberg. ▼

Gay Students Get School Of Their Own

Beginning next year, Milwaukee students who have been bullied and harassed in public school will have their own school. The charter school will be publicly funded but will enjoy greater autonomy than most public schools.

The school will initially serve about 100 students, not all of who are gay. The school will be open to all students who are victims of discrimination and harassment.

The Milwaukee school will join the ranks of other charter schools, such as the Harvey Milk High School in New York City, the nation's first LGBT High School. ▼

Boston College Students Vote To End Gay Discrimination

The predominately Catholic student body of Boston College approved a petition urging the administration not to discriminate based on sexual orientation.

More than 80% of the 4,000 undergraduate student body, along with 200 faculty members voted on the nonbinding referendum calling for inclusion of sexual orientation in the college's nondiscrimination clause. ▼

DINING FOR DOLLARS

Drag Queens Dish It Up for Charity

If you're looking to spice up your meal for the day, or perhaps get a side of sass with that milkshake, look no further. On March 26, Hamburger Marys is the location for the second annual "Dining for Dollars," a local charity event benefiting the Saint Therese Center. The event, hosted by Vegas' very own Miss Frankie (Miss NGRA 2004), includes the comical and impervious Kitty Litter and Ida Slapther (Empress V) as the servers for the day. Kiss my grits Flo, there's a new crew in town.

"Dining for Dollars was the brainchild of my very good friends Peter Todora and Michael Pantanges (Emperor V)," Kitty said. "Months before Peter passed away in 2003, he asked me to continue his hard work in getting the people of Las Vegas to eat out one day of the year and the restaurant to donate a percentage of the daily sales to charity."

Last year's "Dining for Dollars" produced over $5000 in sales. "A certain percentage of those sales, and all our tips went to charity," Ida said. "This year we want to double that. The more we make, the more we give."

Making people laugh has never been a problem for this dynamic drag duo, and 2005's installment of "Dining for Dollars" will serve up even more pranks, insults, and all around laughs than last year. Hamburger Marys' new look and delicious new menu items are already bringing in new customers, and undoubtedly more business for this special event.

"We're really excited this year because a bunch of our friends are going to be coming in," Kitty said. "I'm just a little nervous that when the customers see us, they'll either sit down or leave. Whatever happens, we want everyone who walks in that door to have a good time."

However, being a waitress isn't all it's cracked up to be. There's the new menu to learn, and with more buzz generated about the event this year, a much busier work environment is expected. These girls have their work cut out for them. "We're wearing flats this year honey, no heels," Kitty said laughing. "We're taking over the place for the day, and we want to make people laugh. It's our goal to give the customer a memorable experience and above all, service with an attitude."

Saint Therese Center (STC), a Catholic ministry that serves people of all faiths, reaches out to those touched by HIV/AIDS to provide spiritual, physical and emotional support. Father Joseph O'Brien who heads up the STC, helps in nearly a third of the Valley's HIV/AIDS cases.

"Peter was a great man," Kitty said. "This was his dream, his goal, and carrying on his dream was my promise to him, and I won't break a promise. I want to see his hard work live on in the years to come."

Kitty Litter and Ida Slapther are active members in the Las Vegas community. Both are affiliated with the Nevada Gay Rodeo Association (NGRA), and while Kitty keeps herself busy with Southern Nevada Association of Pride, Inc. (SNAPI), Ida reigns as president of the Royal Court.

"Dining for Dollars" will take place on Saturday, March 26 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. at Hamburger Marys. For additional information, please contact Ms. Litter at kittylitter22@hotmail.com. ▼

TONGUE IN CHEEK BY KEVIN ISOM

GAY ESCORT INFILTRATES WHITE HOUSE

Yes, We Have No Bananas (Part 2)

The last time I titled a column "Yes, We Have No Bananas", I was writing about a nutcase by the name of Andrew Cunanan, the "gay spree killer" who infamously murdered Gianni Versace.

Now I'm doing it again, and — is it coincidence? — the name of the nutcase in question almost rhymes. The latest embarrassment to all of gay-dom is one Jeff Gannon, whom, if you've read the newspapers beyond the front page, or have listened to Air America Radio, you've heard about it by now.

You see, Gannon represented a conservative "news bureau" (Talon News, a web site operated by a wealthy Texas Republican) at the White House press corps and lobbed softball questions at President Bush and his press secretary — while lobbying anti-gay articles at the rest of us.

The trick was — and I use that term intentionally — he is or was also allegedly a gay male prostitute with semi nude and nude photos on the internet and either is or was the owner of or contributor to (depending on which story you believe) websites like hotmilitarystud.com, militaryescortsM4M.com, workingboys.net, and militaryescorts.com.

And Gannon's not even his real name. It's

James Guckert. We think.

For two years, "Jeff Gannon" was a member of the White House press corps, and during that time he mocked John Kerry's "pro-homosexual platform" with the headline "Kerry Could Become First Gay President." Apparently, unlike other members of the media that the Bush administration paid outright for consulting services, Gannon was willing to give away for free what he (allegedly) charged for on the internet (at rates of up to $1200 a weekend, according to some reports).

In fact, at a news conference in January, Gannon asked President Bush how he could work with Democrats "who seem to have divorced themselves from reality." (A bend-over question if ever there was one.) It made me wonder just how strong a grip on reality Gannon himself might have. After all, this administration swept into office, in part, by working up anti-gay sentiment from the so-called "moral values" crowd. If Gannon is gay, one would think that might be a little bit of a conflict.

The weird thing is that I've actually looked at some of the photos alleged to be Gannon on the web (and yes, the face looks like the person in the press conference videos and there are no tell-tale signs of alteration).

And he's actually pretty sexy. When that thought occurred to me, I wanted to slap myself. How could I actually think titillating thoughts about a guy who's apparently been buttering his bread on both sides? On the one hand, he's (allegedly) making money for gay sex stud services, while on the other he's earning a living from pandering to homophobes. Could I not at least have found him unattractive?

But that's the thing with the Gannons and the Cunanans (see, it almost rhymes) of the world. If they were weird or unattractive, they wouldn't be able to get to places where they could do the damage they do.

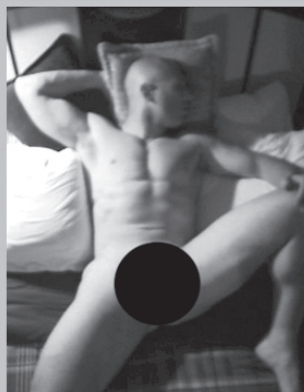

It's been almost sad to listen to liberal talk radio trip all over themselves noting that "It's not about the fact that he's gay" and instead that it's about credibility, security (was there no background check?), and blatant propaganda. No, it IS partly about the fact that he's (allegedly) gay. As a gay person, Gannon's work (not the alleged escort work—from a libertarian perspective, I think prostitution should be safe, legal, and regulated) was actually anti-gay. It's no different than a Jew writing Nazi propaganda, or a black person writing KKK manifestos. It's incomprehensible, and it's just plain wrong.

And he brings up all those old clichéd anti-gay notions of "He could have been blackmailed if someone knew about his double life, so he was a security risk!" — notions that the liberals find themselves in the awkward position of repeating (which I wish they'd stop). As an added bonus, Gannon becomes a case in point to the religious right of what bad things homosexuals do.

But on some level, as with Cunanan, the Gannon case shows just how much like the straight world we are: we got bananas, too. ▼

DESERT DIVA BY MONTI ROCK III

Krave Those Men...

Your Desert Diva has been out and about, enjoying the fruits of his labor. From openings to special events, to what is in and what is staying.

The Wynn Resort is set to bring Broadway's smash hit, Avenue Q to Sin City later this year. The musical features rough-talking and worldly puppets. Wynn Las Vegas is the brainchild of Steve Wynn, the visionary who brought us the Golden Nugget, Bellagio and the Mirage. With shops, restaurants, luxury suites and more, Wynn Las Vegas promises to be the greatest opening in Las Vegas history. Stay tuned.

Barry Manilow's opening of Music and Passion at the Las Vegas Hilton was the best opening I have seen in years. The stars were out in force for Barry's opening night, including Sir Elton John, Steve and Elaine Wynn, Robert and Vera Goulet and one of my great divas, Mimi Highnes. Mimi Highnes was the star that replaced Barbara Streisand in Funny Girl years ago. She and her husband at the time, Phil Ford has one of the best Cabaret acts I have ever seen. The Hilton out did themselves at the opening night party for Music and Passion, from the salmon to fillet minion, along with superb deserts and coffees from all over the world.

The world famous Krave nightclub recently premiered their new show, Krave Men of Las Vegas. Krave also has shown class in hiring Larry Edwards as their V.I.P. host on weekends. Larry starred for eighteen years as "Tina Turner" in the Riviera's legendary show, An Evening At La Cage. Krave is still going strong—slowly capturing the majority of the gay community. Rumor has it that Kenny Kerr will be appearing at Krave in her one-woman (man) show soon.

Over at the Rio Erocktica has opened. Greg Thompson has produced this sexy and tantalizing musical. Greg Thompson who produces Skin Tight at Harrahs is one of those producers who keep pushing the envelope.

One of my best friends, Frankie Valley is starring at the Flamingo. Every time Gladys Knight goes on vacation, Frankie fills that slot. Hopefully when Gladys finishes her contract, Frankie will be the major star at the Flamingo.

Celine Dion is now in her third year of tremendous performances for Caesars Palace. When Celine's on vacation, Sir Elton John fills in. So now we have Barry Manilow at the Hilton, Celine and Elton at Caesars Palace, and Frankie and Gladys at the Flamingo. I wonder who Steve Wynn will get to settle in at his new resort?

The Las Vegas Weekly recently held their annual awards show. I was voted the one most likely to have his own TV show, and deservedly so. Two major networks are bidding for me to do a national show from Las Vegas. It is not easy being the Desert Diva, believe me, but someone has to do it. ▼

PEEPING WITH TOM BY TOM MOILANEN

A Day With Ashton Ryan — Part Two

The following is a continuation of last month's column, which picks up with Ashton discussing his relationship with co-star Christian Taylor during the making of The American Way.

He (Christian) was never supposed to be in the movie. What happened was, Chuck Murphy — who was the original boy in the scene that ended up being a three-way where Christian comes in from the backyard — couldn't perform. We ended up not being his type. We didn't rough him up enough.

OUT: What did he want?

A: To be tied up, beaten and gang-fucked. I'm not even kidding — hot wax — all the kinky things. So we couldn't do that so his little thing couldn't...we had to write him out real quick.

So it turned into a love story?

Christian was already in the back room crying having sex with Chuck, so that was a mess in itself. So Kevin was all like, "Shut the fuck up, just get in the scene. We need you anyway." But me and Christian had had sex like five times the night before and he was kind of useless. I never came then. He did. I didn't.

You're both in The Heartland. That was the follow-up, right?

That was actually pure drama. We had a huge fight after American Way, basically because he started seeing one of the models from that movie. The dark-haired kid. After American Way he went nuts.

How many movies have you done?

Only four, actually. In six years, four movies. American Way 1 and 2, Heartland, and Young Man's World are the only movies I've been in sex scenes. In American Way 3 I have a montage solo, and B-Boys... I just announce the damn thing.

How old are you?

25. I hope I don't go stale.

Do you know Court Logan?

Yes.

I love how he changes his look. He's a totally different person from one movie to the next.

He was in American Way 2. He was up against a tree getting a blowjob. Every time you see him it's like, "Court?" I haven't seen him in years. I think about him. I think about everyone from the movies. I worry about them.

Now that you've left the big studios, do you have less contact with these guys?

Oh gosh no. I made sure when I was doing the videos to build the best relationship possible with these companies.

Tell me about your company.

It's AR Productions. Ashton Ryan Productions. What we do — we have a contract with our models. The first part of the contract is a video and a photo shoot. Everything else is $350 a day, which isn't bad. The more you do, the more we take care of you. And the longer you stay with us and the more loyal you are, the more you get.

You don't get in porn for the money. You get in porn for the attention. The money comes later. The movies are where it's at. The website does okay. The website's a great supplemental income. If you have a normal job and you do webs on the side, for eight hours a week it's good money. I have a bank job. I work 8:30 to 5:30 Monday through Friday. To start making money on movies, you need at least five decent movies to continually be turning a profit.

What's the hardest part of shooting a scene?

The cumshot. Getting the models to cum. When you're not in the room the models are themselves. They're not trying to be porn stars. They're trying to just play with each other and be natural and romantic. Sometimes you gotta clear the room. It's not hard for me. I love it. We shot in Palm Springs at the resort in a hot tub with at least 50 people watching. We're having sex in the hot tub and they're jerking off 50 feet away.

So you're doing Internet stuff now?

Yeah, for BeachBoi.

But this will be your first movie available from retailers in...?

Four years.

And it's called?

Ashton's Eleven. Which, of course, is a small spin-off of Ocean's Eleven. At the party last night someone was like, "Ashton's eleven?" I never thought it was that big."

When is this going to be completed?

We still gotta find an editor and a distributor. That's the easy part. You get a good product and everyone wants it. We're gonna try to go through Paladin. I've met Stan (Loeb) like a thousand times. He owes me a favor.

Anything else on tap?

We've got two in the works already. The Passion of the Crotch and Ashton Powers: International Man of Sexual Mystery. (laughter).

Don't miss next month's column, which will detail a day on the set with the cast and crew. ▼

HOROSCOPES

BY REV. BILL MORIN

Pisces

(February 19-March 19)

Small measures of success should be treasured. March 20 is strong for real estate deals. Avoid annoying family members on the 27th. April offers much variety & a new career opportunity. You'll shine brightest after the 8th. The urge to "mate" proves powerful on the 13th.

Aries

(March 20-April 19)

It's wise to be humble in victory as you were in defeat. A major misunderstanding clears up on March 22. Though silence can be golden, you must speak out on the 29th. The first week in April increases your workload tremendously. Just tackle it and avoid complaining to superiors.

Taurus

(April 20-May 20)

Scattershot planetary vibes make this a hit and miss month. March 23-25 provides challenges on the homefront. Joyous celebration is offered up on the 30th. Long distance drives are best begun after April 6. Start looking for a newer vehicle around the 13th. Your old one has had it.

Gemini

(May 21-June 21)

Financial matters must take top priority at this time. You need to scrimp, save, and avoid all impulse buying. You'll reconnect with an old friend on March 19. Lower expectations for career advancement on the 28th. You'll get to socialize more after April 5, but don't overdo it.

Cancer

(June 22-July 22)

Your artistic/creative levels absolutely soar, Cancer. It'll feel like you've been reborn. Plan that summer getaway by March 24. A new roommate makes life sweeter as April begins. You've shed so much baggage (and a few pesky pounds), that you'll be absolutely glowing.

Leo

(July 23-August 22)

Don't refrain from sharing the wealth. There'll still be plenty left over. March 23-29 finds you in career overdrive. Don't burn yourself out. April proves much more pleasurable on the social scene. Now, if you'd just lower those romantic standards, a new love will manifest.

Virgo

(August 23-September 22)

Like Leo, you'll get to be a power player, but in a much more subtle way. Don't be shy about asking for help on March 25. People support you more than you realize. Documents signed on April 4 should be triple checked. Romantic getaway from the 8th-10th is lovely.

Libra

(September 23-October 22)

The ride looks pretty smooth and you'll be on a roll for the first 3 weeks of this month. A kindness shared on March 26 comes back 10 times over. The 30th looks ripe for a romantic encounter. Don't volunteer to do any extra work or favors after April 7. Simply lie low.

Scorpio

(October 23-November 21)

That hard work and brutally intense schedule continues to pay off. Don't neglect your social life, especially on March 20. An old beau could stir things up on the 31st. April 3 brings salutations from a high level source. A gala on the 9th finds you looking polished.

Sagittarius

(November 22-December 21)

Unlike Scorpio, you're quite adept at balancing the personal and professional sides of your life. A gig on March 17 brings you a powerful benefactor type. The month ends at a hectic pace, but April starts out quite smoothly. Health matters improve considerably after the 5th.

Capricorn

(December 22-January 19)

Capricorns were born to be in charge. The empire you continue to create is in fine shape. Your networking spreads out quite a bit as March ends. Two new business opportunities in early April excite you tremendously. But, you'll only be able to tackle one at a time!

Aquarius

(January 20-February 18)

Your reputation and credibility continue to grow. People look to you for guidance, so don't disappoint. March 21 offers a surprise creative outlet. Don't go along with the "flock" on the 30th. Annoying and on-going legal hassle finally clears up for good by April 12.
