SNAPI TAKES LAS VEGAS PRIDE WEEK TO THE NEXT LEVEL

By Cody J. Phillips

You better look out because Gay Pride is coming.

And Pride is coming with a bit more fervor than previous years.

With the help of sponsors that are new to the Southern Nevada Association of Pride, Inc. (SNAPI), there are a few changes from previous Pride celebrations.

This year marks the first time SNAPI has received sponsorship from a national magazine: Instinct.

With the help of Instinct, as well as QVegas, Out Las Vegas, Envy Man and The Bottom Line magazines, SNAPI is promoting across the country to raise awareness of Las Vegas Gay Pride, and it seems to be working.

"We had to create a higher level of sponsorship this year," said Keith Grotoluschen, secretary of SNAPI, citing that some sponsorship values were above $20,000 this year. "The sponsorship was really well this year, so we ended up creating a level of platinum sponsors."

Grotoluschen said 2006 is the first year for some sponsors, including the Liberace Museum and Washington Mutual, and some past sponsors upped their donation amounts, including Wells Fargo, which was raised to a Bronze level of sponsorship this year.

The long list of sponsors also includes Krave, Bud Light, Findlay Volkswagen, Gipsy, Piranha and 8½ Ultra Lounge, Bacardi, Blue Moon Resort, Smirnoff, Sirius Radio, MGM/Mirage, ID Lube, the Gay and Lesbian Community Center of Southern Nevada, CAPI (Consolidated Association of Pride, Inc.), Medic West Ambulance, Street Teens, Interpride, Las Vegas Gay Square Dancing and Las Vegas Gay Yellow Pages, among others.

The increase in sponsorship helped up the copies of the pride guide from 15,000 to 38,000 this year.

"We're really pushing for the out-of-towners this year," Grotoluschen said. "And the official after-party is going to be bigger than ever."

One of the events SNAPI is hoping will be a big draw is the official Pride after-party at the Empire Ballroom Saturday, May 12. Widely known by many gays, diva Deborah Cox will be performing at the Empire Ballroom for the after-party. Tickets are $60 for general admission, $160 for VIP and $310 for all-access.

Terry Hernandez, moderator of Sin City Q Socials (which is sponsoring and helping with Pride events), said the all-access pass is a good deal. Hernandez said the Empire Ballroom has several lounges, and the all-access pass allows you

THE CENTER'S ART SHOW

Celebrate Diversity

By Jon Afalla

The Gay and Lesbian Community Center of Southern Nevada's Fourth Annual Art Show kicks off Gay Pride Week Saturday, March 5. The event will take place from 6-9 p.m. at The Center (953 E. Sahara Ave. Ste. B31).

Each year The Center's Art Show grows, attracting up-and-coming and established artists within the community.

This year's theme, "Celebrate Diversity," will explore the diverse representations of life. Artists will get an opportunity to share with the community their perceptions of what diversity in their community means to them and to explore diversity within themselves.

Tickets are a suggested donation of $10.

The Center is a community-based organization, which supports and promotes activities directed at furthering the well-being, positive image and human rights of the LGBT community and its allies in southern Nevada.

For more information, contact Candice Nichols at (702) 733-9800 or e-mail artshow@thecenter-lasvegas.com. ▼

Learning to Let Go

By Jon Afalla

It's easy to see why listeners tune in weekly to the Just Let It Go show.

The three remarkable co-hosts not only have incredible on-air chemistry, but they each bring something different (and essential) to the show. L.A. Walker—commanding, intelligent and sophisticated—easily steers each segment in the right direction and helps the trio maintain a positive, flowing vibe. Terry Horton—lovely, down-to-earth and sweet-natured—provides the show with thoughtful musings as well as humorous interjections. And Nikki Logan—spirited, funny and charismatic—brings to the show a youthful perspective and unleashes the sassy diva in us all.

What is the Just Let It Go show all about? "We are overwhelmed with a lot of trash during the week—with the war, global warming, intimate lives, if we have children, all the political things around you in the community. You have to learn to let that stuff go," Walker explains. "How do we do that? We do it with music, we do it with laughter, we do it by embracing the subject—whatever that is."

Listening to one of their shows is like listening to a group of friends having an engaging conversation that flows perfectly. It's funny, entertaining and, most importantly, real. The three women bring life to AM radio. "We dance, we holler, we do all kinds of stuff," Walker says. "I dance the entire show," Logan adds. "Thoughts leave us," Horton jokes.

Just Let It Go emerged one night after Walker started to complain about everything that was bothering her while sitting in the car with Horton. Finally, Horton said to her, "You gotta let that stuff go." After thinking about what her partner of 15 years had said, she embraced her words of wisdom. "I stopped fighting her and starting fighting the situation," Walker says. "So once she sparked that 'just let it go' [saying] and I realized there were so many other people like me that just wanted to do something but were too frustrated and didn't know how to let stuff go, I thought maybe this would help. So it was just that easy."

From there, the two enlisted their longtime friend Logan, an entertainer they met at a restaurant one evening. "I was subbing on a gig at a restaurant singing, and I did my one night there, and they were in the audience," Logan recalls. "They were supporters of the band in the restaurant. And someone in the band introduced us, and we got to talking. And we were just best friends ever since. Just a yummy situation [laughs]."

Walker and Horton's background in radio helped the three prepare for their new show. The pair had a gospel radio program in Chicago as well as a talk show. Walker was also a broadcast journalist in the army and news director for a Baltimore radio station. With experience under their belt and a newly enlisted co-host, the three formed Just Let It Go last September. And the show, while nerve-racking initially, was a rousing success ever since.

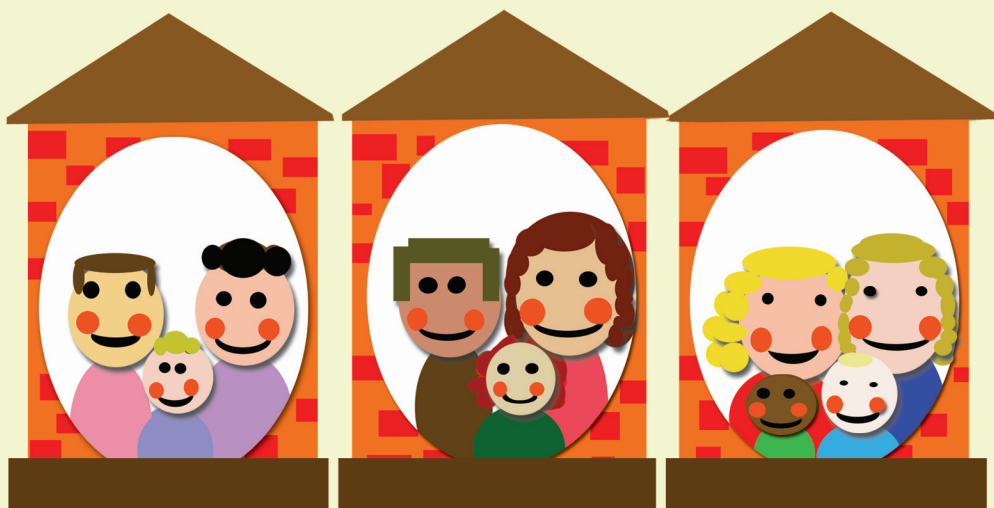

The first show was done by the seam of their pants. "We didn't know what we were going to talk about, we didn't know what everybody was going to say," Logan recalls. "We try to come up with a topic every week, and we talk about it as long as we can."

From there, the show took on a magazine format, allowing the three co-hosts freedom to jump from topic to topic at the drop of a dime. They have brushed upon every topic from Anna Nicole to the presidential election. "We never got together and sat down and planned it out," Horton says. "We pick Nikki up on the way to the radio station, we'll tell her what we're going to talk about, and we may talk about it. We may not. We just go with the flow. And we work well together." ▼

DIVAS LAS VEGAS FEATURES STAR- STUDDED LINEUP OF ENTER- TRAINMENT

Divas Las Vegas, an all out concert/celebrity dance party hitting Las Vegas Friday, April 20, will feature live performances from some of the most renowned divas in musical history. The show will take place at the Mandalay Bay Resort and Casino, with doors opening at 9:30 p.m.

Divas Las Vegas guests will enjoy a live performance from soulful Deborah Cox, who has established a strong following with her pop, R&B and dance music hits. With such albums as One Wish and The Morning After, Cox has amassed three Canadian Juno awards, was nominated for Best New Artist at the American Music Awards in 1997 and was the recipient of a Soul Train Music Award, a Lady of Soul Award and an Essence Award nomination. This diva and her popular tracks, such as "Nobody's Supposed to Be Here," "Up and Down" and "Like I Did," will definitely have guests grooving on the dance floor.

Martha Wash, who was the powerhouse vocalist behind C+C Music Factory's classic "Gonna Make You Sweat (Everybody Dance Now)," is another star who will be a tough act to follow at the Equestrian Aid Foundation concert and celebrity dance party. Wash was a member of the band Two Tons in the 80s and proudly became part of the band the Weather Girls, scoring a Grammy nomination for a song that was destined to become a renowned classic: "It's Raining Men." In the 90s, Wash helped the group Black Box with her vocal performances in "Everybody, Everybody," "Strike It Up" and "I Don't Know Anybody Else," and in 1993, she produced three No. one dance singles that included "Carry On," "Give It To You" and "Runaround."

What would a diva party be without Dreamgirl Jennifer Holliday? With one of the biggest and most powerful soul voices of the last quarter century, Holliday reached stardom with her performance of "And I'm Telling You I'm Not Going" when she had a role in the musical Dreamgirls. With such albums as Feel My Soul, Feel My Love, Say You Love Me, Get Close To My Love and the club hit "No Frills Love," Holliday continues to treat audiences with her powerful voice and inspiring stage presence.

In addition to these leading ladies, cover songs will be performed by a special surprise diva.

The night will also feature the band Clockwork, a house band at the world-famous Bellagio Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas in the Fontana Bar. The Southern California group is known for its dynamic chemistry, approachable ease and superb musicianship. Clockwork plays just about every genre of music, but classic rock is their specialty.

For all the divas out there, don't miss the opportunity to hear "It's Raining Men" live while being surrounded by some of Hollywood's most eclectic celebrities.

What Gay Prom Means To Me

By Jon Afalla

Gay Prom represents a chance for LGBT youth and young adults and their straight allies to congregate for a night, dance, have fun and, above all else, be who they are without any criticism or backlash. Hear what some of the Gay Prom court nominees had to say about this special yearly event.

Timmy Scott, 17

Running for Prom Queen

"Gay Prom gives you a chance to be yourself and not have to worry about what other people think. It's a safe environment."

Ashley Holmes, 16

Running for Prom Queen

"Gay Prom doesn't discriminate against anyone. You can be who you are and be who want to be with. And it's free."

Stephanie Holmes, 16

Running for Prom Queen

"Gay Prom is a place where we can all go without worrying about certain standards. We can just go and have fun."

Alex Weitzel, 17

Running for Prom King

"I'm really looking forward to Gay Prom because I'm running for king and people at my school wouldn't vote for me."

Alex Jarvis, 17

Running for Prom Queen

"It's cool that we have our own prom. It's cool that you can go with the person you want to go with."

Gabriel Santana, 18

Running for Prom King

"Gay Prom makes you feel equal. You can go with someone you care about and not be looked down upon."

Chase Best, 17

Running for Prom King

"Gay Prom is a comfortable environment. You can be yourself and have the prom we all dreamed about."

Sketch Comedy With a Twist

By Jon Afalla

What do sketch comedy shows like Saturday Night Live, MADtv and The Kids in the Hall all have in common? They've all parodied a gay character. Several, in fact. The Big Gay Sketch Show not only sports one or more gay characters; it's entirely gay.

Produced by Rosie O'Donnell, directed by Amanda Bearse (Married With Children) and headed by a cast of eight fresh up-and-coming comedic actors, the six-part series features a combination of traditional and music-based sketches, pop-culture parodies and recurring characters, all from a unique LGBT perspective.

The show spoofs everything from knowing the first time someone was gay to Joe and Blair's questionable relationship on The Facts of Life. The show also throws in a few humorous Logo Life Tips from campy characters Michael Chad and Chad Michael.

What makes the show smart and edgy, however, is its off-the-wall characters. Memorable characters include Svetlana (Steven Guarino), an ex-KGB dancer who wipes out the competition, Condoleezza Rice (Erica Ash) in Political Project Runway and a 'bear' on the loose in the neighborhood (Michael Serrato). An effeminate Prince William also sheds light on what he really wants for Christmas.

The show also takes popular gay stereotypes and tempers them with riotous humor. The Pocket Gay Friend and the Pocket Lesbian Friend teaches kids to be fashionable and better athletes and a Lesbian Speed Dating sketch pokes fun at the popular notion of gay women moving too fast in relationships.

The Big Gay Sketch Show premieres on Logo Tuesday, April 24 at 10 p.m. (ET/PT). Check local cable company for listings (DirecTV channel 263).

Logo is the nation's leading source of entertainment and 24/7 television and broadband channel for the LGBT audience. Logo is ad-supported and owned by MTV Networks, a division of Viacom. Celebrating two years on-air in June, Logo now reaches over 26 million cable and satellite homes across the country. LOGOonline.com is also home to the largest collection of LGBT video and entertainment anywhere online. ▼

Camelot Retold

A review of new musical sensation at the Wynn, Monty Python's Spamalot

By Jon Afalla

Everyone knows the story. Arthur takes the legendary sword, Excalibur, from the Lady in the Lake. He becomes king and rules over his regal kingdom, Camelot. And he builds his own personal army, the Knights of the Roundtable, to bring peace to the land. In the award-winning musical Monty Python's Spamalot (playing at Wynn Resort and Casino), the magical tale is retold (with several over-the-top, humorous modifications).

King Arthur, played by the rousing and commanding John O'Hurley (Seinfeld), opens the musical with a quest to gather his band of knights and obtain the Holy Grail. O'Hurley radiates with subtle humor, not unlike any of the characters one would expect to see in a typical Monty Python production. From his blank stares expressing confusion or dawning comprehension to his subtle, yet effective one-liners, O'Hurley steals the show with his minimalist humor.

Sir Lancelot, known for his tryst with Lady Guinevere in the original tale, turns out to be a repressed homosexual in Spamalot. In one of the most colorful and hilarious scenes of the show, he and a chorus line of red-and-yellow-garbed show-boys sing about Lancelot's sexuality. The number ends with the knight dressed in risqué armor and Lancelot coming to the realization that he is, indeed, gay. J. Anthony Crane, both handsome and charming on stage, proves he is a talented actor destined to do great things.

In the revised Arthurian comedy, the Lady in the Lake was a veritable diva—complete with sass and goosebump-inspiring vocals—rather than a passive, secondary character. Played by the seductive Reva Rice, the Lady captivated the audience with one of the most ethereal and soulful voices ever to grace Las Vegas.

The famed city, Camelot, was also transformed in Spamalot to resemble a Disneyland-like haven with a touch of Vegas. The set was designed to give off a theme park feel, with neon lights adorning the walls. Other sets and props—various castles, clouds soaring above the set, etc.—were gorgeous and remarkably detailed without being over-the-top.

Other memorable scenes included "The French Castle," in which Arthur and his band of knights attempt to reason with a band of rude French soldiers and "You Won't Succeed on Broadway," a number emphasizing the importance of having Jews in musical productions. "The Diva's Lament" also inspired a train of laughter when the Lady in the Lake sung about her sparse appearance throughout the musical (Never keep a diva waiting!).

And what better way to end a Vegas production than with a wedding? The Lady in the Lake and King Arthur tie the knot, as well as Sir Lancelot and his newfound love, Herbert. "To think in 1,000 years this will still be considered controversial," Lancelot jokes of his gay union. Lines like this and more make Monty Python's Spamalot arguably one of the best musicals of all time. Don't miss out on a chance to see this funny, cultural masterpiece! ▼

Good news! Your favorite gay magazine has an exclusive interview this month with one of the hottest female pop stars around. She's here to tell you what makes her so fabulous, what gives her that who-cares attitude, and why her gay fans mean oh so much to her. Is it Gwen? Is it Kylie? Is it Beyoncé?

Are you still reading?

Guess what: straight female pop stars are not what the gay community needs endorsing it. Yes, it is nice. Yes, they are kind to boost the profiles of lesser-known periodicals by granting interview time. Yes, gay people like their music, too. But no, no, no. They are not unique to our cause or breaking any ground.

Unique recording-artist support of gay rights would have to come from the likes of Ice Cube, Toby Keith or Mötley Crüe. Those are interviews I would read, because they have more at risk. Those are people we haven't seen grace the cover of every other gay rag. Those are artists whose fans aren't quickly thought to be gay, and whom some would think have no gay fans at all.

Maybe those interviews have already been done and I just slept through that month. I haven't seen it all, and perhaps more genres of music and types of musicians are being profiled by these magazines than I'm aware. It just seems to me that every time I'm told by cover photos and splashy layouts to be excited by so-and-so's exclusive dish session, it's a Top-40 heterosexual female with little to lose when she declares, proudly, "My gay fans have always meant a lot to me. They're my people."

Boring!

Not all gay men like dance music. We don't all worship Madonna, and some of us wouldn't be caught dead at a nightclub. Yet one would think, from glancing at the covers and leafing through the pages of our own digests, that we wait with baited breath for the next instruction to be ourselves and love who we are from someone who has danced on our floors but not walked in our shoes.

What does a straight girl have to risk here, anyway? Nothing, near as I can figure. To a straight female artist, gay men are more or less free money; they'd be stupid not to target us. Rarely will other straight women come down on a diva for giving a shout out to her gay fans. Either women are more polite when it comes to things like that, or they're less territorial about whom their favorite artists represent. Most girls just don't care to spread the hate. Rock fans, on the other hand, might actually go breaking CDs and boycotting concerts if Iron Maiden (hey—they still have a career in Europe) were to perform at Gay Pride. Not that any of us actually wants to see Eddie in drag, but you catch my drift. (OK, I should have gone with Metallica for my example. Still...)

I want to read about someone whose ego is on the line. I want people outside of our comfortable circle to step inside the ring and support us. Love feels good no matter where it comes from, and I don't suggest we stop the flow of that. I just think we should make a big deal out of things that are different, not things that are easy. Straight girls are too easy. ▼

DOUBLE YOUR PLEASURE

I don't drink much these days, but I just beheld what might be the single most frightening spectacle since Hillary Clinton announced her candidacy. I've slugged down every remaining drop of alcohol in the house and I'm about to distill my socks in a last-ditch attempt to wipe these images from my already curdled brain, but somehow I have a sneaking suspicion they're permanently etched.

What, you ask, could possibly be more terrifying than a disgruntled, closeted, socialist lesbian in the Oval Office?

A flick called Diesel's Double Vision, that's what.

Check out the graphics. See those black dots? You might think they're blotting out weenies, but guess again. Those guys have coochies. Pussies. Vaginal canals complete with corresponding clitori. They also have boobs, which may or may not be covered up, depending on my editor's censorious mood swings.

These guys aren't trannies in the traditional sense of the word, as they're real men; in fact, they're bears. We're talking masculine, furry, bearded, chunky, growling, fresh-out-of-the-Buffalo-type bears. They look mean, intimidating and, quite frankly, ugly as sin, which is only magnified exponentially when the pants come down and we see what looks like an authentic twatski.

I should note that Diesel and Reno Griffith are the dudes in question (or should I say, the questionable dudes). The other three fellows are endowed with peni, however if you put each end-to-end they might work out to the equivalent of a tube of Chapstick. Even the strap-on provided by the apparently minimalist prop department is considerably larger, which leads me to ask: Why put a condom over a piece of plastic? This isn't the first flick in which a dildo has been "protected." Geezus. You think we're just a tad overly cautious these days?

Incidentally, if you haven't wretched over the pre-tension proffered by the superfluous pluralization of the words "penis" and "clitoris" you might want to bone up, as it were, on your linguistic dexterity. Or grab a paper hat and gangway to the deep fryer.

The flick is directed by some character called Justin Credible, but I think he needs to march down to city hall and change his last name to Comprehensible, because this movie is beyond any semblance of sanity. Why would anyone rent it, except for perhaps the novelty factor? I pray, in the name of all things holy, that people aren't sporting wood over this. It's a good thing to have an open mind, but you don't want your common sense splattered all over the pavement.

Produced by Scandalistic Pictures and distributed by US Male, this freaky side show does more than just disgust and nauseate; it also serves as a reminder that there is good porn out there, whether measured against a set of objective criteria or compared subjectively to its peers. In other words, it's ARIES (March 20–April 19) A new moon in your sign April 17 triggers a two-week period of career activity. You'll be in the driver's seat, but make sure to obey all traffic rules. The urge to get away may be hard to resist on the 28th. Lunar aspects May 2 will make it easy to fall in love. The 9th looks best for real-estate deals and the 13th is fine for vegging out.

TAURUS (April 20–May 20) Stand back and all hail King/Queen Taurus. A month of sweet opportunities along with the support of colleagues makes for a "4 Aces" combo. Sun's shift to your sign April 20 solidifies all financial areas. An out-of-town trip on the 28th bears sweet fruit. Avoid highway driving May 4. Tensions with a sibling ease up on the 11th.

GEMINI (May 21–June 21) Unlike Taurus, you're in for a month of extremes, Gemini. Relationship aspects look shaky, especially April 19 and April 23. Finances look good, but you must curtail the urge to spend. May 5 provides a festive party atmosphere for you. Don't offer any opinions on the 9th and avoid a moody supervisor on the 14th.

CANCER (June 22–July 21) A rather uneventful time awaits you, but that beats chaos and stress right? April 19 is best to apply for loans. The 25th looks fantastic for magnetizing new clientele. May begins with a dip in your physical energies, but all is well by the 4th. The 11th is strongest for breaking bad habits such as smoking. Let someone else lead on the 13th.

LEO (July 23–August 22) Except for April 15–19, this month looks to be a total class act. The 26th is best for car shopping. Sensual encounter on the 29th leaves you starry eyed. Your powers of persuasion prove hard to resist May 3. Try not to be too bossy with friends on the 8th. You'll be the center of attention at a grand function on the 12th.

VIRGO (August 23–September 22) April 20 finds you doing important work behind the scenes. Seek out expert financial advice on the 27th. The month ends in a frenzy of job-related activities. A vacation getaway from May 4–7 makes you feel like a child again. Keep that ego under wraps on the 10th. Your intuition is incredibly strong on the 11th and 12th.

LIBRA (September 23–October 22) That workout routine is working so well, and you look fabulous. But, don't overdo it April 15 and 16. A newfound friend proves to be inspirational. Major documents are best signed before the 26th. Cinco de Mayo proves a quite festive day for you. You'll unexpectedly get to be the shining white knight May 14.

SCORPIO (October 23–November 21) The usual strong-armed tactics won't work April 18. It's best to blend in with the woodwork on the 24th. A new financial planner works wonders as of the 29th. Emotions shall run high May 2, so watch what you say. You'll move at the speed of light on the 9th. Tend to a sibling's needs on the 13th.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22–December 21) Your creativity/sensitivity levels soar April 17. Don't take the easy way out of a jam on the 25th. Incoming cash flow increases dramatically after the 27th. A romantic fling in early May is just that, so expect nothing more. Don't tune out the advice of others on the 6th. You'll get to paint the town red on the 11th.

CAPRICORN (December 22–January 19) Lunar aspects on the 18th provide a much-wanted financial pick me up. Digestive problems should ease up after the 23rd. Finalize plans for that ultimate beach getaway by the 29th. As May begins you'll be in a clear and bright frame of mind. Using good old-fashioned charm will work wonders on the 10th. It'll help seal the deal!

AQUARIUS (January 20–February 18) Terrific energy levels will carry you through most of the month. A minor wish gets granted April 22. Don't party too hearty on the 27th. A real-estate transaction is favorably highlighted May 7. Being a good host on the 12th turns out to be a surprise blessing. Prepare for a sweet/steamy liaison on the 14th.

PISCES (February 19–March 19) Like Virgo, you're most comfortable working out of the spotlight. You'll need to be standing center stage April 21 and on. That potential new love interest really is worth pursuing. May 3 looks strongest for playing games of chance. Don't spread yourself too thin on the 9th. Seek out that Leo buddy for fashion advice.

"It's kind of an upgrade," Hernandez said. "We noticed in clubs you can't afford VIP that comes with bottle service, but here you can have it."

Pride also includes a few events during the first few days for the under-21 crowd, according to Grotoluschen and the Pride Web site, www.lasvegaspide.org. The youth pageant May 4 serves as the Pride kickoff, followed by an art show May 5 and the Las Vegas Pride Idol May 6. Along with the parade (with Mayor Oscar Goodman serving as grand marshal at 8 p.m. Friday, May 11) and the general festival, Grotoluschen said the skate night, taking place Monday, May 7 at Boulder Crystal Palace Skating Center (4680 Boulder Highway) from 8-10 p.m., will be the big event for the under-21 crowd. He added that the Pride Guide includes coupons for free entry to the skate night. A copy of the Pride Guide can be picked up at various distribution points around town, including most LGBT-friendly businesses, as well as throughout five states—Arizona, Utah, California, New York and Nevada.

Tickets and Pride merchandise will be available for sale online in April. ▼

poorly made, what with one set, no context and absurd dialogue: for example, Diesel moans, "suck that dick" while Reno chews on his labia.

Huh?

If there is a redeeming factor, it's the mystery of how these guys got this way. Not to be cliché, but some of my best friends are transsexuals, and their equipment isn't nearly as legit, not that I've borne witness. Like I said, Diesel and Reno aren't really transies, nor are they hermaphrodites or cross-dressers. They're real males with real breasts, real quims, and obviously no qualms. Scary. They ought to be laden with more issues than the archives at Time-Warner.

The only double involved with Diesel's Double Vision is the whiskey you're going to knock back upon its viewing. As a public service, might I suggest you crack the jug a couple hours before you hit play? With any luck your libido will be long gone prior to the opening credits. If not I can guarantee it'll be permanently damaged should you indeed make it through these 90 minutes of depraved visual torture.

Sort of like a date with me. ▼

THERE'S POWER IN OUR PRIDE.

Participate in the largest LGBT Community Survey in history, and help demonstrate the growing Power in Our Pride.

Everyone who completes the survey by May 15, 2007 will be entered into a drawing to win one of FOUR free airline tickets from/to any of the participating airline's destinations in the 48 continental U.S. States, plus Canada, Mexico and the Caribbean. Restrictions apply.

Please take the survey today, and tell your friends!

www.GaySurvey.com
www.LesbianSurvey.com

Tremendous strides toward full equality have been achieved by our communities over the past decade. There's Power in Our Pride. Power to make a difference:

- Gay and lesbian survey studies have opened doors (and minds) in leading corporations and organizations which in turn have recognized the value of their LGBT employees through the establishment of equal hiring policies and domestic partner benefits. This has been a catalyst, leading to sweeping changes in political and social inclusivity.
- Demographic reports also influence marketing investment. Virtually absent until recently, we now see a growing variety of products and services represented in gay media celebrating our diversity. Ads keep LGBT publications and websites in business, serving their communities with independent news and information.
- Beyond simply advertising, though, these companies support us in many ways, including sponsoring community events and funding community-based charities in order to earn our loyalty.
- Taking an annual pulse on market trends through surveys helps demonstrate the LGBT community's growing power and influences positive change.

We respect your privacy. All personal survey data is held confidentially by Community Marketing, Inc., an independent market research and communications firm based in San Francisco (founded 1992, and proudly 100% gay-owned and -operated) and will not be sold to third parties or used for marketing purposes. Thank you!
