ACCESS & HOSTING FOR BUSINESS & HOME

For those six readers who pay attention to the staff box on the opposite page, you might notice that I'm sporting the fancy new title of Editor this month. After several months as Art Director/Staff Writer (and exactly one year since my first "all-night production week," I've been officially saddled with the responsibility, and I hope to live up to the expectations. I'm honored by the promotion, and want to tell the community that I will do my best to continue OUT Las Vegas' fine traditions (many of which are thanks to former Editor, Alex Villasuso) of popular articles, diverse viewpoints, and interesting visual layouts.

What a great time of year for this surprise, too! Ever since I came out of the closet, Gay Pride has been my favorite holiday - surpassing even Christmas and Halloween. Sure, I don't get presents from my family ... and we won't discuss the particulars about tricks and treats ... but I truly enjoy the largest annual gathering of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and fair-minded straight people!

I know that many people from the Las Vegas Association of Pride, Inc. have been working their tails off to put together this year's "Rainbow in the Desert" Pride. As a former member of the Board of Directors of LVAPI, I can attest to the thousands of hours put into this two-day event! At times, you feel unappreciated - at other times, you wonder "is it all worth it" - but in the end, the Parade and Festival make everything worthwhile.

Las Vegas Gay Pride has gotten a bad rap in recent years. I've heard people call it "boring" or claimed to have issues with former and current Board members - what a lot of rubbish! Last year's Pride Parade proved that there is absolutely nothing boring about the Las Vegas LGBT community. This year's Pride Festival will feature such a diverse and talented group of entertainers that if you don't hear or see something you like - you just aren't trying. And every single unpaid volunteer for LVAPI (which includes the Board members) has dozens of thankless responsibilities, and we owe them a debt of gratitude for sacrificing so much of their time to let us have one enjoyable weekend.

But this year, I dare anyone out there to not have fun during the month of May. For the first time since I moved to Las Vegas, there are so many special events and parties happening around Pride weekend, that you'd have to stay home all month to avoid having a good time. Just check out our coverage of the Pride parties this month, and I'm sure you'll spot something that will catch your eye! All the local bars will be packed on Pride Weekend, and many of them have planned specials to mark the occasion, so ask your favorite bar what they have planned.

Late last month, OUT Las Vegas participated in the Pride Royalty Pageant by crowning a Mr., Ms., and Miss OUT Las Vegas to compete for the Gay Pride 2002 titles on May 2. Larry Foster, a recent arrival in Las Vegas, snagged the title of Mr. OUT Las Vegas from a pretty close contest. Larry is the stud on the front cover of this month's issue that encouraged you to pick the magazine up. Another relative newcomer to Vegas, Celena Quist, swept the Ms. OUT Las Vegas category, and some of you might remember her from the cover of our BigHorn Rodeo issue last March. She was wearing pink flannel and stilettos (which I have personally promised she will never have to wear again). As for our Miss OUT Las Vegas, if you haven't been amazed by the performances of diva Sasha Renee yet, you've been missing out on one of the up-and-coming stars of Southern Nevada.

I also want to thank all the businesses who have decided to participate in the Pride Royalty Pageant. Such an overwhelming collaborative effort is a rare thing here in Vegas and I think it's wonderful that so many people have put aside their differences for a common cause. And the Imperial Royal Sovereign Court of the Desert Empire, Inc. has been an amazing driving force behind the Pageant.

I could barely contain my excitement when long-time community activist Holly Carratelli called me earlier this month to talk about the big plans for PFLAG this summer. My grandfather joined PFLAG in Utah recently, and has found an amazing support network of parents and relatives who are as open-minded and accepting as him. Our local PFLAG chapter has been low on the collective radar for far too long! If your parents live in Vegas, or if you know of anyone who could benefit from PFLAG, please encourage them to attend the summer workshops and get involved.

Thanks, also, to all the people who joined "Walk with OUT," our team at the 12th Annual AIDS Walk. The showing of support was amazing and the support of our brothers and sisters coping with HIV/AIDS was outstanding!

Finally, I want to personally congratulate all the award recipients at The Center's annual Honorarium. Liz Moore (Woman of the Year) is the single most dedicated and self-sacrificing person I have the honor of calling a friend, and having worked with her for Equal Rights Nevada, I can attest to her dedication to LGBT rights. Jack Novick (Man of the Year) has proven his commitment to making all our lives better, and particularly reaching out to people with HIV/AIDS. Lee Plotkin (Lifetime Achievement) has been a hero of mine since I first became involved in the Las Vegas Gay community - I hope to equal his significant contribution someday. Jon Ralston (Friend of the Community) is a fantastic journalist and has reached thousands of people through his frank, honest and uncompromising coverage of LGBT issues, especially the right-wing attack on us called "Question #2," and the people who would take away our rights. Of course, our entire community owes a debt of gratitude to Wells Fargo (Corporate Equality) and every other business who has realized that LGBT employees and customers deserve equal treatment.

To all the honorees, thanks for all that you've done. The Honorarium is on May 4, 7 pm, at the Hard Rock Hotel, and tickets can be purchased by calling The Center at 702.733.9800. The money raised from ticket sales and the silent auction at the Honorarium benefits The Center and helps to fund the operating costs as well as programs like the youth group and HIV/AIDS outreach.

If you have an opinion or comment about OUT Las Vegas, or just want to tell me I'm fabulous, drop me a note at: OUT Las Vegas, Attn: Jere Keys, Editor, 610 E. Sahara, Ste. 13, Las Vegas, NV 89103 or editor@outlasvegas.com ▼

New Social Groups Forming

L.A.D.S.

There's a new group in town for the womyns' community. Lesbians of African-American Descent and their Significant Others (L.A.D.S.) is bringing together lesbian and bisexual women of color and their significant others (any race/color but definitely female) to socialize, educate and network...Thus the mission: "Womyn supporting Womyn"

L.A.D.S was formed in December, 2001 by a group of women from the East Coast, that recognized the need in the Las Vegas area of such a group for and about African American lesbian and bisexual women. Although the main focus of the group is to unite these women in an environment that is nurturing, supportive, affirming and educational, they do not exclude any lesbian or bisexual woman of any race who is dedicated to and supportive of the ideals and goals of L.A.D.S. They are unified in their purpose to socialize, educate and network through sponsorship and promotions of various functions and seminars (whether social or community based) that will promote all lesbian/bisexual and women at-large. While as a group they are exclusive to women, they will actively participate and work for the betterment of all lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgendered persons and causes as well.

L.A.D.S. meets monthly and all lesbian/bisexual women are encouraged to attend. For more info, please contact: LADSFAT@aol.com, President or LADSVIC@aol.com, Vice President.

Gaylaxians

For the Science Fiction and Fantasy Fans in the Lesbigan community, Gaylaxians is forming in Las Vegas. An offshoot of the national organization, this group will meet the 2nd Tuesday of each month at Hamburger Mary's at 7 pm.

Woody, one of the group's founders, discussed some of the possible topics for group discussion, "We can dish about the semi-homoerotic relationship between Dr. Bashir and the Cardassian "tailor" on Deep Space Nine (DS9) or the butch female Navy Commander in the Honor Harrington series of books by David Weber." However, the group will always be open to discussing the favorite books, movies and television shows of the members.

Woody also hopes that eventually, the group could host Las Vegas' own "Gaylaxicon" convention. The national network of LGBT Science Fiction and Fantasy fans has been in existence since 1986.

Woody asksk members to come check Gaylaxians out and help shape the direction of the group. He wants members to help make this a club they would like to be a part of. To learn more about Gaylaxians or to RSVP for their meetings, call Woody at 380.8605.

U-MEN

For the sophisticated, mature gay men of Southern Nevada come U-MEN. Meeting weekly at Denny's (3081 S. Maryland Pkwy, across from Sunrise Hospital) around 7 pm.

Some of the planned activities include Volleyball, attending shows, BBQs, dinners, movies, and travelling trips.

For more information of U-MEN, contact David at 380-8605

Backdoor Celebrates 25 Years

The Backdoor Lounge is very pleased to be celebrating its 25th anniversary on May 25. The neighborhood bar is the second oldest continuously running venue for gay crowds in Las Vegas. The bar is also known for being the most popular hangout for Latino crowds, but everyone is welcome.

To celebrate their 25th Anniversary, they have planned an entire month of exciting activities as a way of thanking the community for years of support. Their Magic Mountain Trip has already filled up, and will kick off on May 5th. Following Pride, they will have a "spring cleaning" yard sale and flea market in the parking lot on the 12th. May 16th will be a launch party to celebrate the release of Jennifer Lopez's newest film, "Enough."

The big anniversary party starts on May 24 with a pig roast and overnight campout (bring your own tent). Then, on the 25th, there will be drink specials, raffles prizes, and great shows. The 25th will also marks Oscar Rojas' 7th Anniversary with Latin Fiesta.

The Center's Honorarium

The Center has announced that the Annual community awards benefit will be held May 4, 2002, at 5 p.m. at the Hard Rock Hotel and Casino. Additionally, they have announced the major award recipients for outstanding community involvement.

Lee Plotkin, executive director of the Southern Nevada Chapter of the National Coalition for Community and Justice and a long time leader with Golden Rainbow, received the award for "Lifetime Achievement."

Liz Moore has been selected as "Woman of the Year." Liz is the cochair of Equal Rights Nevada and has become one of the premier political leaders on LGBT issues in Southern Nevada.

Jack Novick, "Man of the Year," is an owner of the Spotlight Lounge and has supported many organizations including: Golden Rainbow, Victory Fund, Equal Rights Nevada, The Center, and many more.

Jon Ralston, a columnist from the Las Vegas Sun and hosts "Face To Face" on the Las Vegas One cable channel is receiving the award for "Friend of the Community."

Finally, Wells Fargo has been chosen for the "Corporate Equality" award based on their gay-friendly employee policies and ongoing support of the LGBT community.

The Honorarium is an annual awards ceremony and fund-raiser held by the Gay and Lesbian Community Center. This year, the Honorarium will feature a cocktail party, silent auction, dinner reception, and entertainment. Individual tickets are on sale for $90 or a table can be purchased at $900. To buy you tickets or for additional information, contact The Center at 733-9800.

Pride Entertainers

Performing May 11 @ The "Rainbow in the Desert"

Clint Holmes

Named Las Vegas' Entertainer of the Year, the multi-talented, charismatic Clint Holmes always promises an unforgettable show! More than a singer, like a painter with a blank canvas, he makes every performance an original. Clint's magnetic stage presence embraces the upbeat side of life. When Clint is on stage, anything can happen.

Born in England, Clint is the son of an African-American jazz musician and a British opera singer. When he was eight, his musical indoctrination began with his mother teaching him classic vocal techniques at home, while his dad showed him how to scat-sing in the jazz clubs. Clint admits it was the best of two musical worlds. Today he says, "My mom taught me how to sing correctly and my dad taught me how to enjoy it."

With an extensive background in live entertainment and television, audiences continue to recognize Clint as 'The Entertainer' they come to see and hear. He is currently headlining at Harrah's Las Vegas Casino & Hotel.

Paige O'Hara Ultra Nate

As Disney's animated heroine, Belle, in the critically acclaimed, Oscar-winning, animated film Beauty and the Beast, Paige O'Hara added a Disney classic to a career that has spanned Broadway, opera and concert stages, as well as recordings. This was followed up in 1997 with the multi-million selling videos Beauty and the Beast: The Enchanted Christmas and Belle's Magical World. The unprecedented success of Beauty and the Beast, nominated for six Academy Awards including "Best Picture," has earned her a world-wide legion of fans both young and old. In addition to a Platinum Record for selling over 1,000,000 copies of the multi-Grammy nominated original motion picture soundtrack (it has since gone double platinum) Paige had the opportunity to sing before millions of viewers world-wide on the 64th Annual Academy Awards telecast.

But Paige's career goes far beyond the Disney cartoon! A veteran of the New York and international stage, Paige has appeared in Showboat, Les Miserables, The Mystery of Edwin Drood, Oklahoma!, and more!

And now you can find Ms. O'Hara living in Las Vegas. Belle gone bad? Not in the least. She and her husband moved to Las Vegas for Paige to special guest star in the Great Radio City Music Hall Spectacular with the Radio City Rockettes at the Flamingo Hilton. An avid runner and scuba diver, at home she relaxes with her second greatest passion - painting.

Christopher Peterson

Female impersonator Christopher Peterson has been wowing crowds for years. In his one man (many women) show, "Eyecons," Peterson created a semi-autobiographical show that includes his own comedy stylings, as well as live singing as a variety of stars. As Madonna, Marilyn Monroe, Judy Garland, Julie Andrews, Bette Davis, Liza Minelli, Tina Turner, Patsy Cline, Lucille Ball, or Carol Channing, Peterson leaves no great divas untouched.

His songs are often parodies, versatile, and hilarious. But the truly remarkable thing is his ability to instantly convey so many diverse women to an audience. And it's all live! No lip-syncing for this female impersonator. Peterson recently appeared in the film "Rat Race" as the Lucy impersonator. He has recently performed in Atlantic City, Delaware, and Long Island.

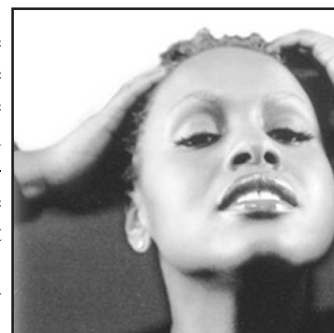

As a teenager Debelah and her family moved to Arizona. During high school she started a girls' church choir and performed with the school's jazz band, show choir and concert choir. Debelah majored in vocal performance. She took part in beauty competitions and at the age of 15 won the Miss Teen Black Arizona and Miss Black Teenage World contests. After moving to Los Angeles, she obtained a Silver medal in the NAACP international music competition.

So there she was, a 15 year old gospel choir teacher at the University of Arizona who could sing in six languages including Latin, French, Portuguese, Italian, German and Hindi. Over the past several year, Debelah has been actively making very diverse musics. Her singles include: "Take It Easy," "Yesterday," "Still in Love," and "Here Waiting" (which was featured on the soundtrack to "Fame: L.A.") Her most recent hit "Dance With Me" has topped the Pop charts and has recieved rave reviews from many in the music industry. You'll be hearing a lot of Debelah's music in the clubs and within the world of R&B/Pop through the upcoming years.

When Ultra Nate first appeared in 1989, with the international club anthem "It's Over Now," no one could have possibly predicted what would become of clubland's original diva of despair. As is often the case with the typical dance music artist, artistic longevity is not considered to part of the overall plan. Of course, no one had any idea that Ultra Nate wasn't the typical dance music artist. "I didn't end up in never, never land like many expected," say Nate, giggling.

In her 13-year journey as a singer/songwriter, Ultra Nate has - with much perseverance, hard work, and talent - completely shattered the image of the cookie-cutter dance princess. Along the way she confidently erased borders that divided pop, rhythm and blues, and dance. For proof, look no further than her late-90s hit, "Free" and the hugely popular #1 hits "Show Me" and "If I Could Read Your Mind" from the soundtrack to the movie "Studio 54."

Susan Anton

Susan Anton has been entertaining audiences through television, theatre, and film for over two decades. She performed on Broadway in Tommy Tune's award-winning musical The Will Rogers Follies, and appeared for three seasons on the popular TV series Baywatch as Jackie Quinn. Currently, she can be seen in the international series Sail Away With Susan Anton and on The Travel Channel's Las Vegas! Other TV credits include Civil War's, Night Court, Quantum Leap, and Murder, She Wrote.

In addition to her work on Broadway, television and film, Susan Anton is an international singing sensation. She hit the Top 10 on the country charts with her first-ever single "Killing Time." She has toured with Kenny Rogers and her album Foxy has enjoyed great success.

The Parties

And you thought it was just a weekend parade and festival! This year, there are more special events and parties happening around Pride Weekend than ever before, and here's a handy guide to some of the biggest of them. You can always count on us to let you know about parties! Read on to learn where they are, what they're all about, and what to do. But please remember, that while Pride is all about having fun and kicking off your shoes (or pants, or whatever...), always party smart and party safe!

The House of Blues Pride Party

Following the Pride Festival on May 11, the House of Blues will be presenting a party to celebrate Pride. Featuring Thuderpuss's DJ/Producer/Remixer Chris Cox and performer Kevin Aviance. The party will kick off after the Pride Festival and will likely go all night long.

The famed House of Blues is located inside the Madalay Bay Hotel/Casino and will have go-go boys and drink specials to mark the occasion. A portion of the proceeds from the event will benefit AFAN (Aid For AIDS of Nevada).

Chris Cox has routinely topped the dance charts with his popular remixes of many of the world's greatest stars. Recently, he held down the top two spots on Billboard's Hot Music/Dance Chart for Cher's "Song For The Loney" and Mary J Blige's "No More Drama/Thuderpuss Remixes." His work is constantly heard in gay nightclubs and party locations, and he has enjoyed immense popularity on the circuit.

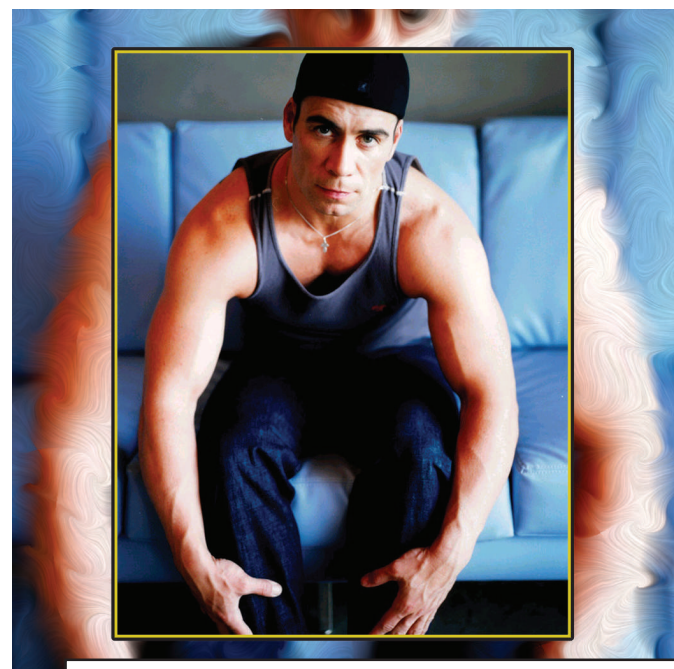

Kevin Aviance has been climbing the music charts with his single "Alive" and is one of the biggest up and coming stars of the Dance Music world. The Advocate wrote of Aviance, "He may be black, bald, and 6 foot 2 without heels, but underground drag star and dance music hit maker Kevin Aviance is not RuPaul. Think Grace Jones meets Boy George."

Backdoor 25th Anniversary

All month long, the Backdoor celebrates its 25th Anniversary in Las Vegas with special trips, amazing entertainment, a "Spring Cleaning" Flea Market, a Janet Jackson Launch party, a pig roast and an overnight campout.

Be sure to visit on the 25th, the date of their anniversary, for the biggest celebration at Las Vegas' most popular Latino bar!

The Foam Party

Adonis Events is presenting the first ever Foam Party in a Las Vegas gay venue following the Pride Parade on May 10, 2002. Bringing in internationally acclaimed DJ/Producer Manny Lehman, who has performed at most of the nation's top circuit parties, the party will also mark the grand opening of the much anticipated nightclub Wet.

For the uninitiated, a foam party is exactly what it sounds like. Imagine taking a bubble bath with 600 hot guys, except instead of a bathtub, you're on a dance floor, and instead of doing the things you're thinking about, you're grooving to the best music the circuit party scene has to offer!

DJ/Producer Manny Lehman recently mixed the album for Queer As Folk: Music from the Second Season, and the foam party will help to celebrate the launch of the record, which will be in stores May 7. There will be QAF CDs and giveaways all night long.

Event planners warn people to wear a swimsuit or something that can get wet because the suds will definitely be flying all night long!

The foam party will start following the Pride Parade (around 11 pm) and continue on until dawn. Tickets are $25 in advance or $35 at the door. Purchase your advance tickets at Get Booked (Paradise & Naples) or at the comedy Zone box office located inside the Lady Luck Casino. For more information, call Adonis Events at 702.765.5243

The XY/Kurfew Mega-Party

On May 11, 2002, XY Magazine, Kurfew, Cobalt and The Center are teaming up to sponsor an after-pride mega-party for the 18+ crowd. The party will be an indoor/outdoor event taking place at Cobalt and in the Commercial Center. The doors open at 6 pm.

Kurfew is an 18+ party promotions company based out of New York and they will be bringing with them their kurfew dancers, djs and divas, including Kurfew's resident DJ Joey Tempo. They have big plans for the entire night in two full entertainment areas at the party and will be bringing in an as-yet unnamed headline artist.

Additionally, Cobalt's resident DJ, Kya Rush, will be at the party - allowing two dance areas (House and Trance).

XY Magazine is sponsoring the party as part of their Summer Vacation contest. The first 50 people at the party will have the chance to be in their "big Silly Sumo" contest and the winner will receive an "amazing bundle of kewl stuff - shoes, clothes, CDs/DVDs, etc." Additionally, the winner will be entered in a drawing to win a trip for 4 to Hawaii. XY Models and staff will also be at the event.

Pre-sale tickets are $20 and details are available at www.kurfew.com. The party is open to anyone 18 and older, but you still have to be 21 to drink. Look for great food by the Cool Cat Café! A portion of the proceeds will go to benefit the Gay and Lesbian Community Center of Southern Nevada.

Pride Royalty 2002

In a first-time collaborative effort, the Las Vegas Association of Pride, Inc. has teamed up with the Imperial Royal Sovereign Court of the Desert Empire, Inc. to produce the first Pride Royalty Pageant in several years.

On May 2, at 7 pm, the Pride Pageant will crown a Mr., Ms., and Miss, Mr. Teen, Ms. Teen, and Miss Teen Gay Pride 2002. The Pageant will have contestants sent by a number of local bars and businesses, and they will compete in the final show in the areas of funwear, question, formalwear, and talent.

The Royal Court is requesting a $5 donation at the door, plus a donations of sundries and toiletries that will be used by Street Teens to help homeless youth. For more information about the Royalty Pageant, please call Kelly at 702.650.0636.

The Center's Honorarium

If loud music and wild party boys aren't your speed, but community involvement and fancy dinners are, you won't want to miss The Center's Honorarium. The annual awards dinner recognizes community volunteers and leaders who have made a difference for the lives of LGBT people in Southern Nevada.

This year, the honorarium is being held at the Hard Rock Hotel on May 4. The event kicks off with a cocktail reception and silent auction at 5 pm. The dinner and award presentations begin at 7 pm. The 2002 honorees are: Liz Moore, Woman of the Year; Jack Novickk Man of the Year; Wells Fargo, Corporate Equality; Lee Plotkin, Lifetime Achievement; and Jon Ralston, Friend of the Community.

Cocktail attire is suggested, and tickets are on sale now by calling The Center at 702.733.9800. All proceeds from the event are used to help fund The Center's operating expenses and programs.

Shann Carr Comedy Show

"She's Witty, she's wonderful, she the gay man's Wesbian!" raved Elmer Fudd. At the end of Pride Weekend, FreeZone is presenting Gay Comic Shann Carr on Sunday, May 12, at 8 pm.

18 years of stand up experience creates a style that makes you feel like you're sitting in your living room with an eccentric friend who has your whole dinner party in stitches. She travels from Palm Springs, California, where she resides with her wife and 2.5 pets. She is now producing a docu-mentary series called "Out For Laughs" that follows gay entertainers working on the gay cruise ship and resort circuit.

Carr is a hysterical, modern day storyteller. Her grand finale will blow your nipples off when she impersonates the couple that's been together too long, a granola puff and a drag queen on the dance floor!

Tickets for the one-night-only Las Vegas engagement are $10 and can be purchased at the door of FreeZone the night of the event.

Reno's Black & White Masquerade Ball

For those looking to get away after the big Las Vegas Pride weekend, or for those who just don't want the parties to stop, head to our sister city up north! Reno is presenting 2002 Black & White Masquerade Ball on the River. The event takes place on May 18 at 1st Street and N. Virginia (downtown Reno, NV) with special performances by Martha Wash and The Silver Lining with DJ Gerard G.

Money raised from the event will benefit a number of charities, but that's not really the reason to go! You'll want to be there for the great performances, the outrageous costumes, and a chance at the $1000 cash prize for the best costume. The Club Cal-Neva has wonderful hotel packages available for the weekend, so be sure to book your rooms!

Tickets are available at a variety of locations in Reno and Sacramento, or you can visit www.reno2002ball.com. Club Cal-Neva Event Package is $220.00 Per Couple or $180.00 per person. Event Package includes 2-Night Hotel Accommodations, Continental Breakfast, Tickets to the Black & White Ball and Event T-Shirts. For the Cal-Neva package Reservations Call 775.323.1046 or Toll Free 887.777.7303

Flex will be hosting After Parties for the Parade and the Festival. Look for Drink Specials, go-go boys and entertainment all night long!

VWOL

Selects Ms. Nevada Leather & Ms. Nevada bootblack

Vegas Women of Leather (VWOL) held its annual contest for the Ms. Nevada Leather 2002 and the Ms. Nevada Bootblack titles last month April 5-7. Many women attended the event, and enjoyed the competition.

The contest featured vendors, special appearances by the "pony people" and a variety of opportunities for people to learn more about VWOL and the women's leather community. VWOL was formed in April of 2000, and is excited by the growth of their group over the last 2 years.

Anyone who wants to learn more about VWOL can visit their website at www.vwol.org or join them for their monthly meeting the third Saturday of each month at the Iowa Cafe(300 E. Charleston) at 6 pm. ▼

BigHorn Rodeo VI

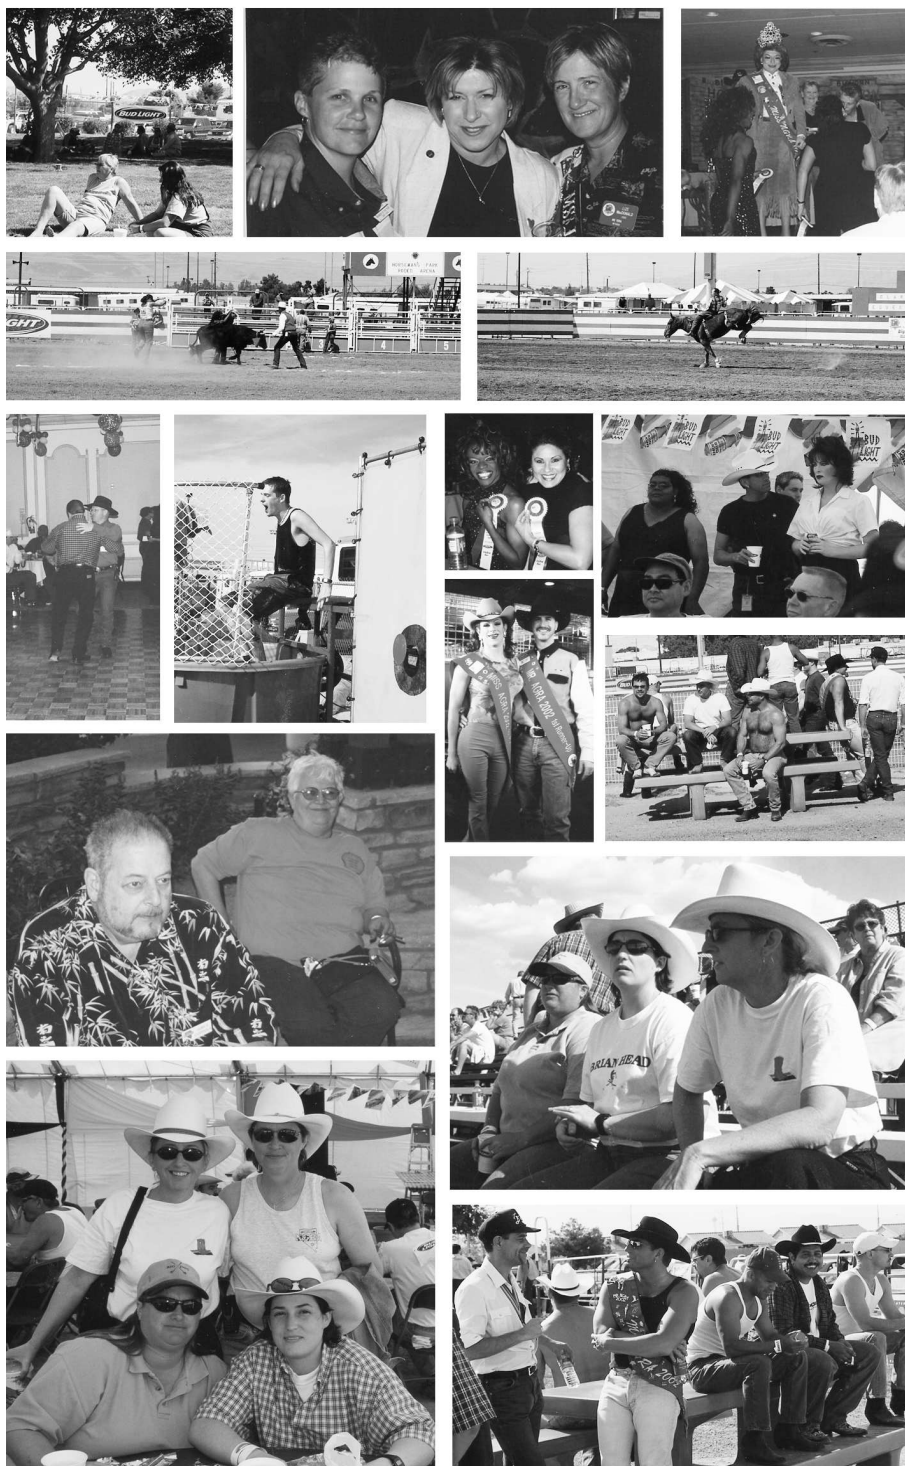

After months of anticipation and a lot of hard work, the Nevada Gay Rodeo Association brought the BigHorn Rodeo back to Nevada April 5-7. The sixth BigHorn Rodeo is being called a success by all who participated and helped to coordinate the event, and attendees had a great time as well.

The BigHorn Rodeo IV attracted over one thousand spectators and contestants to the competition, the parties, and the array of vendors and organizations. Contestants and royalty representatives came from all over the country to compete at the BigHorn Rodeo. The Rodeo truly had something for everyone: a dunk tank, dancing, hilarious camp events and hard-core traditional rodeo events, and a never-ending line-up of varied and diverse performances from talented entertainers of every variety.

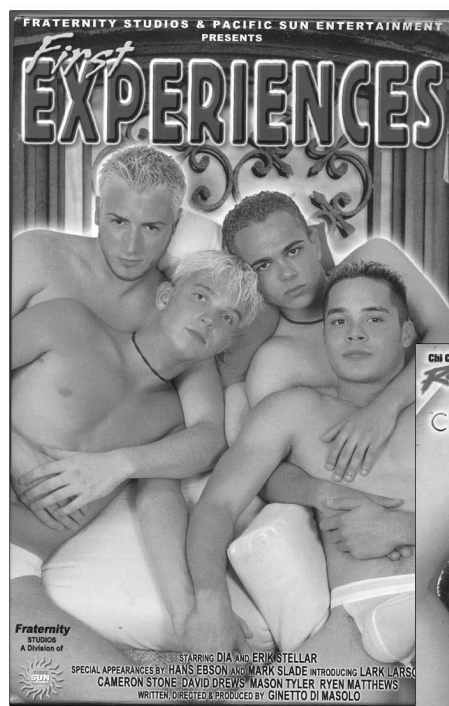

The weekend also marked Vegas' first weekend of "summer weather" as temperatures climbed into the 90s. After the disastrous weather of the previous BigHorn Rodeo (in 2000), event planners were happier than a dog in sausage factory!

Some of the weekend highlights included the 5th place performance by the rookie, only all-NGRA team in the Wild Drag Race, with Sasha Renee, Mike Smith & Dani-Kay Armstrong. Another memorable moment was the "Dragarama" show organized by Sasha Scarlett, in which female impersonators drew a song from a hat and were surprised with a kamikaze performance rated by the audience.

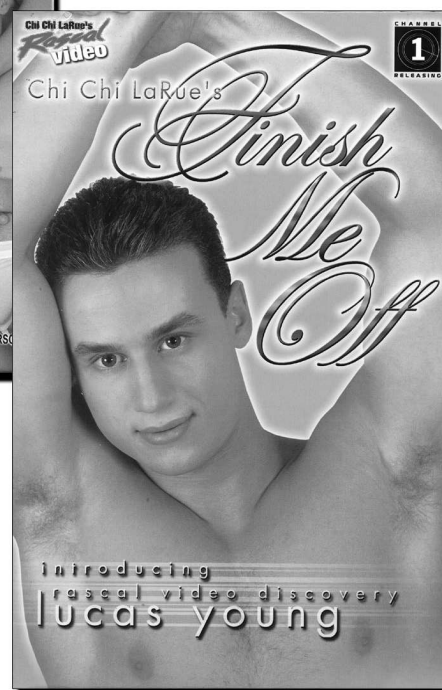

The NGRA took a short break in April, to recuperate from the Rodeo, but will be back in action again this month, participating in Pride and beginning their summer fundraising series of shows and events. And yes, they've already begun planning the BigHorn Rodeo VII.

Just a Pinch of Ginger

by Ginger Grant

Last weekend I was in the "Motherland" of San Francisco for a weekend of Conferences. I found it incredible! The bars and clubs, colors and textures of hair and clothing, the men, boys, and queens with their total immersion in various specific pop-iconic cultures. Absolutely everyone that I saw in the Castro or Downtown was "about" something. If they were Punk, they wore a 5 foot mohawk, red or black, wind resistant and ready for battle. If they were professional, they wore the perfect Brooks Brothers' suit and Chanel tie, with a coordinating 5-button vest and matching shoes and belt. The hippies all wore cotton, flannel, and denim, dirty hair and sandals, very indicative of the sugar-bear bong that they carry in their green canvas messenger bags. Even the homeless people that were scattered absolutely everywhere in that city seemed to have their own system.

So I had a wonderful time. I explored the city with some friends, enjoyed an array of ethnic foods, and watched people, gawking, with my mouth wide open. It wasn't until the evening of the first day of seminars that I realized why I was so taken by these people. It didn't have much to do with their clothes or hair or willingness to ask me for money in any circumstance. It was the fact that no one seemed to care what the others were doing. They all went about their business together. The businessman stepped over the paraplegic homeless guy that was yelling at the hippy, who was talking to the Gap Queen. The event that really threw me off, happened in a bar called "Daddy's". It had to be completely obvious that I wasn't in my element when someone presented me with a list of bars that I might enjoy better, complete with a little map and points of interest. "You can stay here but you might like these places even more!" Then the world's homeliest drag queen, wearing a six-shooter in a holster and boots, staggered across my path. I was, indeed, in Hell! So I followed his advice and headed west to another place that I found to be delicious and festive, laid back, and just my crowd.

I admired the attitude that they have in SF toward each other and was wondering how we could get that same feeling here in the Entertainment Capitol of the World! Quite frequently I am frustrated with the feeling that not being hissed at in Las Vegas is some form of acceptance or respect! I actually saw people smile in passing there. The question: What are they doing there that we are not doing here?

I have lived in Las Vegas for the bulk of my life. I love this city with all my heart and soul. We are all familiar with Vegas "newby's" complaining about the lack of this or that in our community. I am always the one that sets them straight on exactly what is "right" in Las Vegas. All disclaimers applied, I have got to say that Las Vegas is missing something. That something is called "Community Investment". Do you ever feel like many people around you are out for themselves and that they really do not have much capacity for developing true friendships? In a transient city, that may be par for the course but I am not content with that. Why is it that there can be 20 people in a bar and no one is engaging others with simple hellos? There has got to be more to this Gay Community than sex! Why is it that I have many wonderful friends and am not having sex? We will tackle that one another time.

My point to all of this rambling is as follows... GET OUT AND DO SOMETHING! There is more to Las Vegas than Pride and the Black and White Party, Cobalt, Gipsy, and the Eagle! Volunteer at the Center! Join a club or an organization! Las Vegas has all the same kinds of people that every other flourishing city has, and every bit of culture and community. You just need to invest the time to find which group best fits you, then commit the energy and patience to follow it through! If they don't have anything that you want to learn, teach them something! Start your own group!

Community comes only through individuals' taking a chance on something new, trial and error, and commitment! When one person is willing to invest in friendships and love, that investment can only grow! As we all know, all things began in love, flourish in love. ▼

Ginger Grant has traveled the globe to perform for many notable people such as President Clinton, Margaret Thatcher, and Congressman Barney Frank. Raising money and awareness for our community is one of her passions. The other is simply entertaining people. Currently, you can see her at Sasha's on Saturday evenings.

Financial Planning

Strategies for a Wealthier Future

by David Hays

Dear David,

My boyfriend and I are buying a house together this summer. We're both so excited, and we've almost settled on the one that we want. Unfortunately, my portion of the down payment will have to come from my IRA. It's my first home, so the way I understand it there won't be any penalties to get at the money. I've got a little in my savings account at the bank, but I know I'll need that money for miscellaneous things that will come up.

I haven't told my boyfriend the source of my down payment. He has the cash on hand, but I have to go to my IRA. I'm afraid to tell him I haven't been as good at saving money as he has. I want us to move into our house starting our new lives together with an honest clean slate. But I'm afraid that if I tell him I haven't been as good at saving as he has, he might interpret that I'm not as financially responsible as he is. How can I tell him the truth?

Lousy Saver

Dear Lousy Saver,

First of all, you're not a lousy saver. You successfully accumulated something in your IRA, which shows you do have some discipline at saving money. The way I see it, you have two issues going on here. One is financial, and the other is emotional.

Financially speaking, when you take money out of your IRA to purchase your first home, you avoid the 10% early withdrawal penalty only if your withdrawal is less than $10,000. You do not avoid income taxes being due on the amount you cash out regardless of how much it is. Depending on your income tax bracket, this amount could be substantially more than 10%. However, if you need to purchase this home, and your IRA is the only source of funds you have, you may have no other alternative. Although, the government does waive the 10% penalty for first time homebuyers, I rarely recommend retirement accounts as a source of funding a home. However, there are circumstances where it could be beneficial. My advice is to seek a financial advisor who can help you determine what your best course of action is at this point.

Your boyfriend is another story. I know how you feel. It's almost like your past sex life. No one wants to admit to their past financial mistakes anymore than they want to admit to how many one-nighters they've had. However, in your case, you two are going to be living together. You'll be sharing one another's lives, homes, dreams, and money. And I certainly hope you've developed a substantial level of intimacy by this time.

It's a big step you're taking, and I think it's great that you're doing it. But it's just as important to be honest with one another about money as it is to be honest about your lives and feelings. Don't be surprised if he's feeling similar things about sharing his financial details with you. But my advice is to have this cleared up before you sign the papers to buy that house. Otherwise, the issue will move into the new home with you.

Best Wishes,
David

By Dr. Michael Karagiozis

Wish not so much to live long as to live well.

Ben Franklin (1706-1790)

One of the most read publications of American medicine is a publication by the Centers for Disease Control, Morbidity and Mortality Weekly [www.cdc.gov/mmwr]. Mortality is fairly universally understood: what are the odds of dying from this condition? Less well understood by the lay public is the more important concept of morbidity.

Morbidity, simply put, is the likelihood that a given condition will have some lasting after effect on the patient. A particular stomach flu can result in a rare type of paralysis which may never resolve completely. Few people die [mortality] from this particular stomach flu, but the after effects [morbidity] can be devastating.

Good old Ben Franklin understood this important distinction over two hundred years ago, and his words are as relevant today as ever. Who wants to live to 100 if from the age of 80 you're confined to a wheelchair in a nursing home and never get to walk on a beach or have dinner out with friends?

I often quote my grandfather in situations like this. He was born in Greece, in a year of unbelievable poverty and recession for Greece. The country was so poor that year (1888) that the government couldn't even afford to mint coins; try looking for a drachma from 1888, there aren't any! Obviously, he had no formal education, but from his sheep herding roots he brought significant wisdom. When I was accepted to medical school, he said: You know a lot of things, but the most important thing you need to know is this: know how to live. I suppose he lived this rule to the end: after working until he was 94, he had a fall, and within a month of being admitted to a nursing home he died. He knew how to live.

I write this article today because a couple of encounters in the past week or so have reminded me of the importance of thinking about your personal wellness.

Case #1: A good friend of mine in Florida called me in distress. Apparently, he visited The Club Fort Lauderdale and allowed a particularly stunning and chiseled physique to bareback him. I am told the encounter was fantastic. Unfortunately, two weeks later his family doctor in Pompano informed him he had massive rectal herpes.

Case #2: An acquaintance of mine from San Diego was visiting Vegas. He asked me over drinks if I would look at his throat, because it was hurting to swallow. I looked, and he had raging thrush. I told him he absolutely had to have an HIV test. "I'm not ready for that information." He said. "I've already promised myself I'll get a test after New Years [2003]."

Case #3: A family member of mine called and asked if a blood sugar of 200 and a cholesterol of 270 were anything to worry about. I choked on the phone. Only if you care about dying! I thought. She told me that her doctor had advised more tests, but she was going to wait a while and see if everything "settled down."

I won't even go into the fact that my own mother and lover continue to smoke.

All of these people want to live long. All of them are missing the boat on living well. There is a proverb I've heard tossed about by patients from time to time: what doesn't kill me makes me stronger. It's a very clever proverb, but it is completely false. Having a foot amputated does not make somebody stronger. Having a heart attack does not make somebody stronger. Pneumonia does not make somebody stronger. Blindness does not make somebody stronger. Impotence does not make somebody stronger.

Living well is a selfish dedication to maintaining your own health. It is the basic belief that without your own good health, you cannot provide the universe with the maximum benefit of your presence. And, believe it or not, your presence does make a difference; if it didn't, you wouldn't be here [Wisdom 11:13].

So, this installment is a petition for you to create the best presence you can for the universe. Try living well by following these seven steps:

One: Avoid excessive amounts of psychoactive substances. Caffeine, ephedrine, crystal, coke, alcohol... Moderation, moderation, moderation.

Two: Eat sensibly. The more research that is done on diet, the more important that we learn diet is. Eat low sugar, low fat diets that are as free as possible from additives and colorants.

Three: Drink water. Lots of water. If you're thirsty, first try water before drinking soda, juice, sports drinks or beer.

Four: Exercise. Every couple of months I'm saying this, but it remains true: everybody needs to exercise, and most of us need to exercise more than we do. Exercise burns fat, lowers blood pressure, increases lung capacity, improves sleep and (hello!) enhances sexual performance.

Five: Practice responsible sex. I am tired of the expression safe sex because it's so overused nobody listens to it, and there's not even perfect agreement on what it is. Responsible sex is an attitude towards sexuality: treat others sexually as you would want to be treated. A sexual exchange should be honest, mutually protective and mutually fulfilling. If it's not, move on. Good, responsible sex is easy to find, so don't take personal risks with anything less.

Six: Give up habits that you know are bad. If you know something is bad for you (smoking, XTC, alcohol, purging, the Home Shopping Network...) then get it out of your life. In the long run, you'll live better and longer.

Seven: Pray. Sounds silly and old fashioned, but prayer and meditation have been shown to be beneficial for everything from blood pressure to anxiety attacks, recovery from surgery to recovery from addiction. Oh, and avoid that sort of prayer which assumes God is your personal Genie (He's not). Pray/meditate rather to be perfected as a person. That prayer always works.

My prescription for this installment is this: Live Well. You're presence in the universe is important, and you are the best advocate for yourself.

SexFest 50!

I do not know how many of you, read magazines such as Blender, Stuff or FHM, but I am an avid reader. Well. Honestly, reading is the last thing on my agenda when I open the magazine. I am a fan of FHM Magazine, and what compels me to spend my 5.29 every issue is not the articles, (although interesting and entertaining), it's the women! They intrigue and entice me to severe levels of arousal. FHM conducts a survey of the 100 sexiest women in entertainment. The picks are always interesting and diverse. Some of the selections baffle me, and others I totally agree with. For example, some might consider Pamela Anderson, Carmen Electra or Britney Spears prime specimens of beauty and sexuality, whereas, Charlize Theron, Sanaa Lathan, Ashley Judd, Britney Murphy and Pink, hold the top five positions in my "Sexy 100." Understanding that sex appeal, beauty, and pure carnal desire is in the eye of the beholder, I would like to get the opinion of lesbians to find out who ranks in your "Sexy 100."

I would love to hear from you, whether you are the softest femme or the toughest butch, I wanna know what you think. Please email me with 3-5 of your picks, and when I have reached 50, I will tally up the results, and submit them for reading. We will call our poll... SexFest 50." Email me: Dunaysa@gay.com or Danaecas@aol.com. Looking forward to it!!!

Original adage of the month

"All relationships end badly, or else they would not end."

Gay Pride

Well ladies, it is almost time for "the festival." Pride weekend seems to be the only time we can come out and play. With any luck, the festivities will be full of sexy femmes, and masculine studs. New to Vegas, I only hope that the Pride celebration is not a disappointment, and that luck will be a lady that weekend. There has been a shortage of lesbian activities here in the city, and I am certain that other lesbians are looking forward to meeting other women "in the life." Don't forget to come out!

At Rancho And Alta

As if there was not already enough fun and excitement to keep Sydney amused and inebriated, the 2002 Gay Games, are to be hosted here 25th of October - 9th November! I know I was thinking... Gay people and sport... what an odd combination. Thinking I sort of knew what gay people are all about, the prospect of our very own Olympics seems just plain silly. How would they ever find enough poofers that would want to participate in organized sport? This was almost the truth, just a few months back there were reports that the games would not even make it out of the starting blocks, due to poor registration numbers. However, as this article is being written, there are already 13,000 people registered, and with still three months to go, their initial target of 14,500 people seems almost like they set the bar too low.

When one delves into the physiological issues that give gay people an almost born aversion to sport, it becomes apparent that a Gay Games is a bloody good idea. I mean really, why don't I like sport? It couldn't have been the drunken, fumbling sex with the captain of my high school football team I had on schoolies week, so it must have been school sports carnivals, and loud mouth drunk, homophobic straight men. So look at what is left, gorgeous tanned bodies, in peak condition, running around a big grass paddock wearing short shorts, diving to tackle each other to the ground and chasing a ball. Sure it's not Lukas's Story III but I'm not complaining. Not that everything has to relate back to sex, there is the comradeship, the friendships, the mateship and the excitement of participating in a positive international event that furthers the queer cause.

The sports on offer range from rugby (Australia Football), to my personal favorite, physique. No matter your sport or your ability there is something for everyone at this, the VI Gay Games. Badminton, basketball, bowling, sailing, soccer and squash. The Games is not a competitive event, the principles are - Participation, Inclusion and Personal Best. Sure someone will always come first, and someone will always come last, but unlike other sporting events, our Games make the emphasis on doing your best, and just being involved. There are different ability categories in each sport, ranging from world record standards down to trying you hardest, giving everyone the opportunity to join in.

Now, we are gay, and it wouldn't be right without music and theatre, so there is a whole two week cultural festival to support the sporting events. There's 'Lindy' the opera! Remember Lindy Chamberlain, the woman who's baby was eaten by a dingo??? Well maybe not... "Sing out to the world," is a huge celebration of diversity with 20 choirs from all around the world, even the USA! There is the Boomalli Aboriginal art display and the Grand Ball, held in the magnificent Sydney Town hall.

It wouldn't be an Olympics without an opening and closing ceremony! You might want to get the Out Las Vegas legal department to indemnify this one, alleged, in no way substantiated people rumored to be performing are Kylie Minogue and Elton John, and you will be guaranteed to see a lot more Drag Queens than you did in the Sydney 2000 Olympics

Saving the best for last has always been a specialty of Gloria Estefan, but I thought I might try it too... PARTIES!!!! Sydney 2002 Gay Games will also feature five amazing dance parties - a Welcome party, Men's Only and Women's Only (My sister Courtney is going to try and break into that one, so if there is no column in next months mag it means I was bludgeoned to death by a mad lesbian with a turkey baster), a sunset party by the shores of Sydney's sensational harbour and a post-closing Ceremony celebration from 30,000. In a city renowned for its celebrations you can play hard then party harder.

*Until next month, Chookas
Shane, from Sydney, Australia*

Fan mail and indescant proposals can be sent to Shane at campshane@hotmail.com

Glossary

Schoolies Week - the week after your final year at school, drunken and debaucheries

Lukas's Story III - A very good Porno... so I am told

Rugby - Australian Football where the men wear little shorts

Kylie Minogue - The Princess of Pop. Her most recent claim to fame is 'Can't get you out of my Head' from her album 'Fever'

Frankly SPEAKING

...Advice Should Be This Fabulous

By Frank Marino

Dear Readers,

I've been swamped with letters from people in terrible relationships. Since I cannot answer each and every one of these individual situations, let me start off by saying that if you're in an unhealthy relationship (i.e. abusive, untrusting, manipulative, etc.) you need to let go and move on! Here are some samples of the letters I've recieved.

Dear Frank,

My new boyfriend and I have been together for about four months. He moved in with me after only one month. I really love him, but the longer we live together, the more I start to question if this is a good thing. He wasn't exactly faithful to his last boyfriend, and his eye tends to wander toward the twinkly, "barely legal" type of boy (which doesn't describe me). He doesn't pull his weight financially (he's had 4 jobs in as many months), but he says he's trying. Meanwhile, he spends most of his own money (and some of mine) at the bars, renting movies, and on clothing or CDs.

What do you think? I love him more than I've ever felt before, and the sex is fantastic, but I'm not sure if he's just using me.

Signed, Robby the Sugar-Daddy?

Dear Robby,

Dump him! It sounds like you've got a bonafide manipulator in your bed. As someone who has been chased after by dozens (if not hundreds) of adorable guys, I can tell you that if he's dazzled by my glamour, celebrity and the contents of my jewel-encrusted handbag, he's not going to be able to give me what I need (aside from sex) from a partner. It's never easy to let someone go who you have feelings for - but realize that the feelings only go one way in this twosome. Have some self respect and before you invite the next future ex-husband into your home, ask yourself if Mr. Right is going to be your equal and offer you the things you need from a relationship.

Love, Frank

Dear Frank,

I've been seeing this guy off and on for over two years. We've never lived together or anything, but we fool around a lot in between our relationships (and sometimes during them). Only now, he seems to be settling in with a new guy. Despite all of our fooling around, he's still one of my best friends, and I'm not sure where I stand now. I call him almost daily, and he doesn't return my calls often, and he's been avoiding me. Only now, I realize that I have deeper feelings for him than I thought, and I don't want to lose him. What should I do?

Signed, Odd Man Out.

Dear OMO,

So that the readers know, I've shortened OMO's letter to remove a lot of specific details about frightening stalker-like behavior on OMO's part. Honey, the only thing you are going to get out of this relationship is a restraining order. Your friend only seems like Prince Charming to you now because he's unavailable. Take my advice, forget about him. If and when a time comes that you're both single again, and you still feel this way, tell him that you love him. But for now, don't screw up his chance at a happy relationship by harrasing his new husband and making things awkward for them. You said that you don't want to lose his friendship, but you're doing everything you can to insure that - if you want to keep him in your life, accept that the rules are different now and you'll lose him if you can't prove that he can still trust you to want his happiness.

Love, Frank.

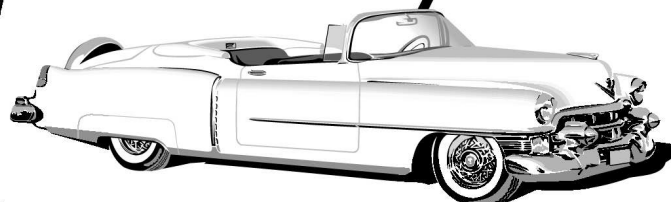

Frank Marino is Las Vegas's most famous (and fabulous) female impersonator. As Joan Rivers, Frank hosts "La Cage" at the Riviera Hotel & Casino. In his free time, Frank will be answering your letters for advice on love, relationships, and celebrity fashion. Questions for "Frankly Speaking" can be sent to: Outlasvegas@aol.com or mail to OUT Las Vegas, Attention: Frank Marino, 610 East Sahara Avenue, Suite 13, Las Vegas, Nevada 89104 ▼

TEEN SUMMER

PFLAG offers summer programs to help build stronger families

The local chapter of PFLAG (Parents, Friends & Family of Lesbians and Gays) is offering an exciting summer program designed to help the parents of teen age LGBT children. The program, titled "Teen Summer," is the first major program being produced by PFLAG of Southern Nevada in many years.

Volunteer event organizer Holly Caratelli commented, "I feel that we're at a point where we can't make our community healthier, unless we help the parents get healthier." With that in mind, she hopes Teen Summer will give a jump start to PFLAG and encourage more parents of LGBT individuals to network and join the support and advocacy group.

Teen Summer is a series of interactive discussions on the particularly difficult issues faced by teenagers in the LGBT community.

Sat., May 18th - Counselors & Therapists Speak Out - 2 p.m.

Local high school guidance counselors and therapists will speak out about the many issues that are facing GLBT and questioning teens today.

Sat., June 15th - Teens Speak Out - 2 p.m.

GLBT teens will talk about the anti-gay verbal, sexual and physical harassment they have personally experienced at school or among their neighborhood friends. What kind of support do these teens really want and need from their parents, peers and educators?

Sat., July 20th - Gay Teens at risk of becoming Homeless - 2 p.m.

We'll hear from the founder of the Nevada Partnership for Homeless Youth and the founder of Street Teens about the work they do to empower homeless teens in Las Vegas to move from a high risk "street life" to one of stable self-sufficiency. Why do so many GLBT teens become homeless in Nevada?

Sat., August 10th - Parents Speak Out - 2 p.m.

Come hear parents speak out about what it's like to be a positive, affirming and accepting parent of a GLBT teenager. How have other parents learned to dialogue with their teens about sexual orientation and gender identity issues?

Sat., September 14th - Equal Rights are for teens too! - 2 p.m.

Representatives from Equal Rights Nevada and GLSEN will talk about the forming of Gay-Straight Alliances in our own local high schools and which basic civil rights of the teens and educators are regularly violated by the school district, teachers and administrators.

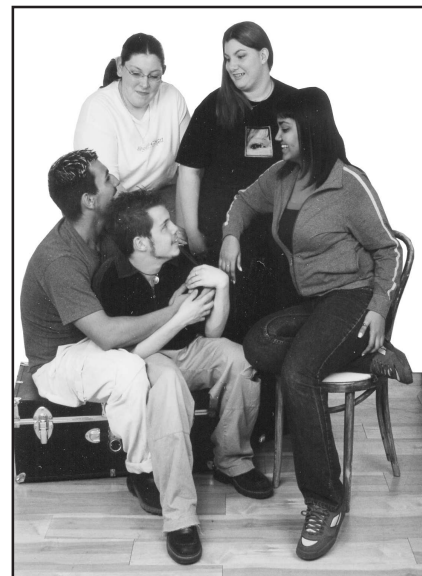

The workshops listed above will all be held at the Metropolitan Community Church, 1140 Almond Tree Lane, (near Maryland Parkway and Sahara). All the workshops will be open and interactive, and will have various resources available for both parents and teens. Although the workshops are focus on parents of teenagers, they are certainly open to any parent with a GLBT or questioning child of any age.

Everyone is welcome to attend. If you know a parent or you are a parent of a teenager who is questioning their sexual orientation or if you are looking to get connected with other loving parents of young gay, lesbian, bi-sexual or transgendered teenagers; please join PFLAG in Las Vegas for Teen Summer.

PFLAG is a national support organization for Parents, Families and Friends of Lesbians and Gays. The mission of PFLAG is to promote the health and well-being of gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgendered persons, their families and friends through support, education and advocacy. For more information about PFLAG, visit www.pflag.org.

PFLAG meets in Las Vegas on the 3rd Thursday of each month at 7 p.m., at the Community Counseling Center (1120 Almond Tree Lane) to provide support and education for parents and friends of GLBT people. PFLAG's hotline in Las Vegas is 438-7838.

Teen Summer is being presented with the assistance of the Gay, Lesbian Straight Educators Network (GLSEN - www.glsen.org), the Metropolitan Community Church (www.mccclv.com), and We Are Family (www.WeAreFamilyLV.org). ▼

OUT Las Vegas

With

Bringing Gossip Back to The People!

Spring fever has definately hit Las Vegas, because the last few weeks have been absolutely packed with dozens of backroom affairs, hundred (if not thousands) of illicit romances and (of course) the associated dramatic breakups! But enough about me, let's talk about you...

April kicked off with such a bang, I just didn't know what to do with myself. Of course, the BigHorn Rodeo presented by the NGRA was amazing. The OUT Las Vegas Wild Drag Race team took 5th place on the second day of competition - congrats Mike, Sasha and Dani-Kay! Mike managed to avoid getting injured, but that didn't stop Laura Scott from pursuing Kelly as I predicted last month. Of course, the whole thing was great, and it was such a warm weekend, that I certainly got an eyeful of bare-chested cowboys. For a while, I thought I had died from lust exhaustion and gone right to country heaven!

Somehow, I managed to ditch my daisy dukes, cowboy boots, and fur lined cowboy hat and switch into a leather corset and patent-leather thigh-high for the Vegas Women of Leather competition the same weekend. Leslie Bunch, the Mistress of Ceremony at the event, had some astounding cleavage in her outfit, and both Debbie Fox (Ms. Nevada Leather 2002) and amy (Ms. Nevada Bootblack 2002) were amazing! But the real show stealer for me were the "pony people." I'm a girl who has been around, but that's one fetish I've never seen before! Intriguing... Mr. Nevada Leather Ken Christmas seemed to agree.

The following weekend, I slipped off to Phonix to visit my new friends from the Arizona Gay Rodeo Association. The weather was even hotter (and so were the guys). Sassy made sure I knew which of the tanned and toned studs were available, and which I had to settle for being "the other woman." Thanks, Sassy!

Of course, the absolute highlight of my entire month was the OUT Las Vegas Royalty Pageant at FreeZone last month! All the contestants were fantastic and I'm glad I didn't have to choose the winners on my own. The three winners will go on to compete for the titles of Mr., Miss, and Ms. Gay Pride 2002, where competition will be even stiffer (and so will the boys).

Mr. OUT Las Vegas 2002 is Larry Foster. When I first met Larry at the beginning of April, he was just visiting from West Virginia. But fate was kind to me, because while he was in Vegas, he was cast in Bally's Jubilee and moved here just days before our Royalty Pageant. I don't know what they feed the boys in West Virginia, but if there are any more like Larry, keep sending them this way!

Miss OUT Las Vegas 2002 also came from "The Mountain State," although Sasha Renee moved here over a year and a half ago. Sasha has been performing all over town for the last couple of months, and she puts on spectacular shows. Sasha Renee has also been a supporter of many organizations, and I'm sure big things are in store for her. Sasha Renee's biggest flaw, though, is that she claims to be more tapped into the community gossip than me! You'll never replace me as the gossip queen, bitch, because I kiss and tell!

Ms. OUT Las Vegas 2002, Celena Quist, also moved here not long ago. We first discovered her when she was waitressing at Luna Las Vegas - and we put her on the cover of our March NGRA issue. Celena forgave us for forcing her to wear that pink plaid and stiletto shoes and ran for the title on the condition that we let her choose her fashions from now on. Fair enough, this chick is so hot that she looks good in anything.

Jere Keys (who was just named Editor of OUT Las Vegas this month) was so impressed by how... photogenic... our Royalty team is that he keeps hinting that he wants to do his own secret photo shoot with Larry, Celena and Sasha. Right, like any of us are buying that line!

Of course, there are several other local businesses who have gotten caught up in this whole pageant madness. Not all the contestants have been announced yet, but I do know that former OUT Las Vegas cover model Sebastian Cole was named Mr. Cobalt 2002, and Michelle Holiday walked away with the Miss Cobalt 2002 crown. Gipsy, FLEX, Las Vegas Eagle, Hamburger Marys, Sasha's, FreeZone, and Wet are also sending representatives to the Pride Royalty Pageant on May 2, at 7 pm at the MCC. The Royal Court has been incredible at organizing the Final Pageant, and I think it will be a great success. Especially because of the support of businesses like Get Booked, the Fig Leaf, Hidden Woman, the Palm Springs Citadel, The Gay Hotel in West Hollywood, the San Vicente West Hollywood Resort, and individuals like John Arnos with raffle prizes and other donations of support.

I think Rafael over at Badlands is making a big mistake by not participating in the pageant. He would be an absolute shoe-in for Miss Gay Pride 2002 if he would run.

For those of you who missed out on all the fun of the pageants, FLEX will be the location of our May OUT Las Vegas Model Search. Shelley has been anxiously awaiting her turn to host the competition again, because she's bound and determined to find her sugar daddy this time. So, if you're single, gorgeous, and filthy stinking rich, make sure you're at FLEX on May 18 at Midnight. Don't do it for the money, or the fame, or the fabulous prizes... do it for Shelley.

Underwear Night at the Eagle is still as much fun as it always is. Every Wednesday and Friday night, I go home dreaming and fantasizing of the things that could have happened... almost happened... and did happen during the most famous weekly nights of debauchery and flesh in Las Vegas.

Speaking of fantasies come true, I'm looking forward to the Foam Party at Wet after the Gay Pride Parade. Dov, when I catch up with you at the Foam Party, I'm going to lather you up with bubbles and scrub you down to the best of my abilities. Since the Foam Party is also Wet's Grand Opening, I'm sure you'll need the break. Dov, whether you're asking me to look deeply into your eyes or stumbling into me blindly, I'll never complain.

I understand that Hamburger Mary's has some fantastic events coming up very soon. Andy and Warren extended me an invitation to be a judge for their upcoming Cabana Boy/Circuit Party Wednesday nights. Finally, someone else realizes that I have the best taste in Las Vegas! I'll have to check my social calendar, boys, and get back to you. Of course, it would be a perfect match, because I have great taste and Hamburger Mary's has some of the tastiest food in Vegas. While I simply don't have the space to rave about their food the way I'd like to, I do want to say that it's the service that keeps bringing me back. If you get served on by Todd during the graveyard, early dawn, shift, ask him about his sheep jokes! (Caution: not for the faint of heart).

The Center and Cobalt are also gearing up for a fantastic party over Pride Weekend. They've teamed up with XY Magazine and Kurfew to plan a spectacular event. As long as Ben (the Sunday Night bartender at Cobalt - who somehow manages to distract my attention away from Queer as Folk) is there, I'll be happy!

Finally, a heartfelt congratulations to Terry, Oscar, and the whole gang at Backdoor! They celebrate their 25th anniversary all month long. Las felicitaciones en su aniversario. ¿Puede usted introducirme a los muchachos lindos, solos? Okay, I really have no idea what I just said, but four years of High School Spanish ought to count for something!

That's all for this month boys and girls. Have a happy Gay Pride and look for me in the Parade and at the Festival. I'll be the one behind the bushes with some hot, young stud! Play hard, and always remember to play safe! ▼

BOTOX: How & Why

Welcome to the first of what we hope will be a series of helpful articles about you and your skin. Here, we deal in facts, not hype. We'll tell you what kinds of products to use, and which to avoid. Talk about what procedures work, and which may not. Look at trends, without becoming victim to them. In short, we're gonna help you look and feel better than you ever did before, glamour guy or gal. In our own opinionated way. We want your comments and questions. We'll do our best to make the answers short, sweet, and to the point. But, as the saying goes, never in a manner unbecoming to a Diva. Ready? Here goes.

This month, we're talking about Botox. What it is, and why you need it. Where to get it. How much to pay. And what to watch out for. Next stop, utter, utter fabulousness! And, as usual, we remind you that the opinions expressed herein are those of the author, and recommend that you consult with your very own certified, licensed, bonded, or registered professional for specific assistance and advice.

Botox is a highly purified agent created by the germ that's responsible for Botulism (i.e. Clostridium Botulinum). Really smart people (not me) found out that this germ gave off a chemical that causes muscles to stop responding to nerve signals. This little trick is responsible for the effect of Botox. It causes muscles to stop responding to nerve impulses so your brow stops furrowing, your nose stops crinkling, and your crow's feet stop walking (more or less).

Until recently, Botox was used to correct facial spasms, weak eye muscles (i.e. Lazy Eye), and other muscular problems. These days, it's used as a temporary treatment for frown lines, crow's feet and brow furrows, and sometimes even the deep lines around your nose and mouth. Some dermatologists and other physicians use it as a "first step" before surgery.

The effect lasts about 3-4 months, but it depends on your health, lifestyle, and a million other factors. The low end is from 1-2 months, but, for some people, depending on the area, their general skin tone, and the amount used, it could be up to six months. Don't count on this. Three months is good. Four is even better. More than four, you got a bonus, don't push it.

So, you call your doc. Get on in there. S/he asks you a million questions, makes sure you're in good health, and prepares the toxin. Tiny amounts of the toxin are injected directly into the muscles affected.

Usually, the physician will want to do a smaller area your first time, but a physician with a lot of experience, or who knows you really well, may do a number of areas, depending on your needs. You may be asked to "grimace" or use the muscle during the procedure so the physician can be sure where to inject, but s/he may not ask you to do this, and it doesn't mean they're doing it wrong if they don't ask. It isn't all that painful; it's a small needle, and only tiny amounts are used. Some physicians will numb the area first, especially if you ask, but, for me, the "numbing" shot hurts just as much as the actual injection, maybe even more.

It takes between 15 minutes to an hour or more, depending on whether it's your first time, or a tune-up. Some people believe that the effect lasts longer with each injection, but there's no evidence to support this claim. Usually the doctor will tell you to stay upright for a few hours (4-6, generally) so the toxin "stays put." Also, don't get a facial massage, do your entire beauty regime, or fiddle around with your face for a day or so.

You won't see anything immediately. It can take a few days for the full effect to develop, and sometimes, especially if you get an injection in the forehead area (between the eyes, where that line is developing), your eyelids can droop a little, but the effect is usually temporary, and clears up within a few weeks. Don't worry too much about this, it's rare.

Be advised also that, in a very small percentage of people, there will be no NO-TICEABLE effect, and, in others, there will be no effect at all, but again, this is very rare. Be prepared for bruising and a little tenderness for a few days (i.e. Don't get your Botox treatment the day before a really great party; you'll look like a boxer who lost his/her match).

You should tell the doctor EVERYTHING you're taking, whether you're pregnant (especially if you're male; this is news). Even if you're on aspirin therapy, s/he needs to know. Tell about your Over-The-Counter drugs, and even if you do recreational drugs, because any or all of them could affect the potency, effect, or duration of the Botox.

The primary benefit of Botox injections is a "relaxation" of the lines and furrows in the face. It won't make your skin smoother, and it won't eliminate wrinkles. But it can COSMETICALLY (that is to say, visually) soften the look of lines in the areas discussed above.

Costs vary widely. Contrary to popular opinion, the actual toxin is VERY expensive for a physician to buy. It has to be used within four hours of being prepared, and it can't be stored. If your doctor is doing things by the book, the vial can only make one cc of solution. If you need more, they have to crack open and mix up a whole 'nother vial.

Having said that, costs can run from a few hundred to upwards of five-hundred dollars, or maybe a little more. It'll depend on whether the physician can use one vial for more than one person, how much toxin is used, and, as usual, a lot of other factors. Sometimes, you'll see it available for as little as $99.00, but, again, that's frequently a "test dose", and doesn't involve more than one area. And, between us, I don't do bargain-basement when it comes to my face. So shop around.

My opinion? I like Botox. There are some risks, but they're rare. It's a little expensive, but not horrible. The odds are good that a physician offering it has the requisite skill and training. And it works well for most people. But be advised, the effect CAN vary with each injection. Also, in a small number of people, your body may develop a certain "resistance" to the toxin. Discuss this with your doctor.

If this helps you feel better, a February 25, 2002 news release from Surgery.org claims that more than 1.6 million procedures were performed in 2001, so you're in good company. Also, Botox seems to be the most popular cosmetic procedure performed by Plastic Surgeons and Dermatologists.

My advice: Talk to your own personally selected physician. I tend to recommend Board Certified Plastic Surgeons or Dermatologists, but there are many physicians who have skill and experience with this procedure. Talk to your doctor. Ask Questions. Get a feel for how comfortable you are with the physician when you discuss the procedure with him or her. And don't expect miracles. It's better to be a little conservative out of the gate, so, seriously, consider the first visit a "trial" visit.

Happily, every face is different, but that means that there's no exact set of conditions that fit everyone, and thank Heaven for that.

Well, there you have it. Your own little consumer's bible on Botox. Botox is a very safe procedure with few risks, when administered properly. It can help minimize the look of SOME of the creases and crags on your stylish face. It can smooth that furrowed brow, soften those harsh lines, sometimes even give you a more "youthful" appearance. But you have to talk to your provider. Tell him or her anything and everything they need to know. Ask questions, and be informed; we're smart shoppers here. There are tons of different facial procedures, all kinds of treatments, and literally THOUSANDS of products. We're gonna talk about them, what's good and what's not. What's new, and what's tried and true. We hope this little piece has helped you know a little more about Botox. If you have any other questions, just ask us. We'll tell you all you need to know. ▼

Astrologically Speaking OUT

By Rev. Bill Morin

Aries (March 20-April 19): Almost everything should go as planned right up until the 15th. After that, you'll enter a 22 day chaotic cycle which will prove to be quite a challenging time frame. A great deal of career momentum will be experienced as the month comes to a close & you'll come out smelling like a rose. Congratulations!

Taurus (April 20-May 20): A recent relocation took quite a leap of faith on your part, but it's actually beginning to pay off. A new circle of friends brightens your life as the month begins. Those in authority won't necessarily be cooperative, so you'll need to be especially diplomatic at times. Social bash on the 26th proves to be a highlight.

Gemini (May 21-June 21): Your love life looks dead as a doornail until the New Moon kicks in on the 12th. That should perk things up quite a bit. Avoid long distance driving on the 15th. Finances improve once the Sun transits to your sign late on the 20th. Watch that tendency to run on empty, Gemmy. It's liable to take its toll.

Cancer (June 22-July 22): This isn't the time to be shy about asking for that overdue promotion. Sometimes noise needs to be made in order to obtain results. Nothing goes right on the 3rd. The 12th brings about a fabulous and much needed romantic encounter. We suggest that you pass on that "can't miss" investment scheme.

Leo (July 23-August 22): Despite prior accomplishments and some nifty "trap-pings", you might be feeling like a failure. Snap out of it, Leo! You're just in a holding pattern, waiting to fuel up for that next big adventure. Lord, but you're so impatient. Try letting things happen for a while instead of taking the initiative. Just enjoy the ride

Virgo (August 23-September 22): Career aspects look strong, health seems to be okay and finances are stable as the month opens. Too bad your love life isn't as up to par. Of course, staying "holed up" all the time does limit your chances of meeting somebody. Get out of the house & become a social butterfly (ask Gemmy for help).

Libra (September 23-October 22): Remember the 70's song "Torn Bwtween Two Lovers"? It's a questionable position to be in. Getting all that attention is grand, but sooner or later you'll have to choose one beau over the other. That eclipse on the 26th should help you to decide. Try saving a bit more money each week, okay?

Scorpio (October 23-November 21): Your inner strength, survival instincts and sens of humor will help you through the 1st half of this month. It'll seem like one long continuous storm raining down on you. Once the skies clear, a bright new career prospect will present itself. It's something you've been yearning for practically forever.

Sagittarius (November 22-December 21): The month begins with an incredible though short lived romantic fling. It's almost time to begin writing that book, Sag. You've got quite a story to tell. Lunar eclipse in your sign on the 26th triggers a 3 month highly creative cycle. Finances receive a major & much needed boost around the 21st.

Capricorn (December 22-January 19): Thankfully, communications have smoothed out with your mate. Try for a mini getaway on the 18th-19th if possible. Watch that lower back on the 25th. Stay out of a family squabble or prepare to face the consequences. Wait until the Fall to expand your current business enterprise.

Aquarius (January 19-February 18): It's another month that runs very hot and cold. It'll either be rainbows or lightning bolts, with very little in between (at least until the 25th). You do tend to thrive on this energy pattern, so it might not shake you up too much. Wait until June to take that special vacation, or it'll be filled with hassles.

Pisces (February 19-March 20): Being in a comfortable position financially is all well and good. Just don't let it lull you into a false sense of security. You need a major jump start, Pisces. Without passion or cherished goals, life can be a drawn out bore. Start looking for new ways to spice things up, beginning with your love life.

A dynamic, high-contrast photograph of a Miller Lite beer bottle being tossed into a pool of water. The bottle is dark brown and covered in condensation droplets. It is surrounded by several clear ice cubes and a vigorous splash of blue water. The Miller Lite label is prominent, showing the brand name in red script and 'Lite' in large blue letters. The background is a deep, vibrant blue.

IT'S MILLER TIME.
