COVER STORY

MARGARET CHO

SHINING

For the first time ever, music legends and today's hottest artists take the stage for a historical musical event.

Cyndi Lauper, Erasure, Debbie Harry, The Dresden Dolls, The Gossip and The Misshapes—along with host Margaret Cho—join in celebration of the inaugural True Colors concert tour in support of the Human Rights Campaign. This 15-city nationwide tour, presented by Logo, kicks off LGBT Pride Month Saturday, June 8 at Las Vegas' MGM Grand Garden Arena. The concerts will feature five hours of non-stop music with other special guests appearing on select dates throughout the tour, including Rufus Wainwright, Rosie O'Donnell, Indigo Girls, The Cliks, Jeffrey Star and more.

The True Colors tour was conceived by Cyndi Lauper stemming from her desire to give back to the community for the love and support they have given her throughout her career. Through a joint program with HRC—the nation's largest organization working for LGBT equality—as well as Parents and Friends of Lesbians And Gays and The Matthew Shepard Foundation, the True Colors tour will bring together Americans across the country to voice their solidarity against discrimination and for equality and raise public awareness about the issues facing the LGBT community. One dollar of every ticket sold will benefit the work of HRC.

True Colors is a celebration of the basic values and freedoms that should be shared by all Americans. Fans will experience these values through the music of both legendary icons and the newest and coolest acts this generation has to offer. "As an American I was raised to believe that all people have the right to live with the same dignity, opportunity and safety. This should include everyone no matter what gender or sexual orientation," Lauper said. "This tour was created to celebrate our differences by raising awareness for liberty, fairness and dignity for everyone—not just some of us. Our fans can come out to celebrate a great cause while also hearing some great music."

"I am thrilled to be a part of this tour because I am about as colorful and as queer as it gets," Cho added. "Who else is going to keep all those queens in line?"

With close to 600,000 members nationwide, HRC is thankful for allies like Lauper. "Without fear, Cyndi Lauper has been a champion for equality for not only gay and lesbian Americans but for all people," said HRC President Joe Solmonese. "Cyndi has always stood with us and selflessly used her talents to promote fairness for everyone. We are honored to be a part of the True Colors tour, which will empower both gay and straight Americans to show solidarity against discrimination."

Likewise, PFLAG and the Matthew Shepard Foundation commend the True Colors tour for its work to educate others and to end LGBT discrimination. "The tour is a wonderful opportunity for us to reach cities across the country with the message of the PFLAG Stay Close Campaign: 'Stay close because relationships are too precious to lost,'" said Suzanne Ramos, PFLAG mother and co-founder of the campaign. Judy Shephard, executive director of the Matthew Shepard Foundation, added, "Music is such a powerful tool to help erase hate and educate people about the values of diversity, respect and equality."

In addition to the partnership with HRC, the tour will also give Americans an opportunity to learn more about and become involved with the Matthew Shepard Foundation and PFLAG. Information on these organizations will be available onsite at each of the tour locations and online at www.truecolortour.com. General tour and ticket information can also be found on the official Web site as well as www.myspace.com/officialtruecolortour. ▼

And the Winners are... By Jon Afalla

This year's fifth annual Gay Prom Prince and Princess was Mike Appleby and Ashley H., respectively. Prom King was Chris Barnson and Prom Queen was Timmy Scott.

The winners had mixed reactions to their coronation. "With my boyfriend Andy by my side, I didn't think that I would get such an honor—it being my last year to run. So with deepest gratitude, I am grateful for all those who voted, and I am honored to be the king of queens," Barnson said. Appleby added, "I wasn't intending on winning it, but straight boys do kick ass."

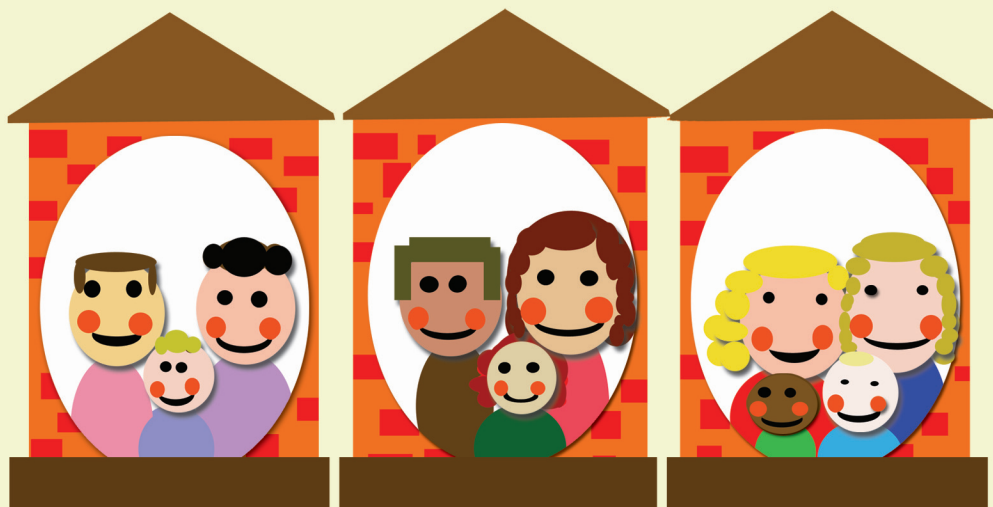

The Gay Prom took place at the Christ Episcopal Church (2100 S. Maryland Parkway) Saturday, April 28. The event was from 7-11 p.m.

There were approximately 147 youth and young adult attendees. ▼

Ribbon of Life Returns for 21st Amazing Fund-raising Show

Truth be told, fund-raisers are usually a drag.

Boring food drives, bake sales, car washes. All the usual uninspiring ways people raise money for a cause. In Las Vegas, an entertainment Mecca, fund-raisers are more of a grand scale production. And Golden Rainbow's Annual Ribbon of Life show, the non-profit organization's largest fund-raising event of the year, is no exception.

Each year, hundreds of entertainers from various shows around town donate their time and talent to create a one-of-a-kind production. Last year, the Ribbon of Life production showcased scenes from Wicked, Dragapella, Simply Plaid and more. The show also throws in original numbers. And every show ends with a bang, highlighting each performer and show incorporated into the production, which has been hailed in the past as one of the best shows in Las Vegas.

This year's 21st Annual Ribbon of Life show celebrates the glamour of Hollywood with an original all-singing, all-dancing star-studded spectacular. Shows being represented include Follies Bergere, Sirens of TI, American Superstars, World's Greatest Magic, Fantasy, Pussy Cat Dolls Lounge, Chippendales, Tangerine, The Rio Bevertainers, A New Day, Crazy Horse, Toni Braxton and more.

The money raised from ticket sales goes directly to fund Golden Rainbow, which provides direct financial assistance and housing to the men, women and children directly affected by HIV/AIDS in southern Nevada.

Tickets are $50, $75, $100, $200 and $250.

For tickets or more information, contact the Golden Rainbow office at (702) 384-2899 or visit www.goldenrainbow.org. ▼

Undone Divas To Premiere At Winchester Cultural Center

Internationally acclaimed operatic star Madelene Capelle brings her uproarious one-woman show Undone Divas to the Winchester Cultural Center June 1 at 7 p.m.

Being hailed by critics as "Dame Edna meets Bette Midler," Undone Divas takes the audience on a madcap adventure with the unhinged divas that live in a fictitious sanatorium for aging opera stars. Capelle plays each of these divas, and through their slightly twisted perceptions and spectacular costume changes, grand opera will never be quite the same.

Like Mae West, Capelle is a master of the double-entendre. Like Lucille Ball, she is no stranger to slapstick comedy. But like Maria Callas, her glorious voice can turn an audience's laughter into tearful awe in seconds.

Following the Las Vegas performance, Undone Divas will be on tour. In the fall, the show will open off-Broadway in New York.

Undone Divas is written and directed by New York playwright and screen actor Brent Buell (Grand Opening, Al Qareem, The Gem Exchange, Rapturous).

MARRS ATTACKS

by Homer Marrs

When I eat, I feel guilty for not eating better. When I exercise, I feel guilty because I'm not reading. When I read, I feel guilty because I should be writing. When I write, I feel guilty for not writing more. When I love, I feel guilty for not loving the men who came before my lover.

The list continues. I am Catholic. Try as I might, this is one stereotype I can't avoid fitting: I am Catholic, and I like to feel guilty. I even feel guilty for enjoying to feel guilty because I know it's bad for me! The circle has no end.

My Catholic high school sent me an update recently saying the Carmelite priests who've been the backbone of the school since its founding in 1980 are suddenly pulling out. Their numbers are running so low that their home office in New York decided to nix my alma mater as a school they can afford to staff. So the school, which will remain Catholic and is in no danger of closing, has to come up with a Plan B.

This has little to do with money. This has to do with a lack of men who want to be priests. The one relief I felt when reading this was in not having to feel guilty for not sending a check. Instead I felt guilty for never wanting to be a priest. Anyway ...

This newsletter got me thinking about how I should honor my high school memories, and if I should support the school today. I really had a great time there. I did theater and student council; I made wonderful friends; I was even elected prom king. (I'm still waiting for the bucket of pigs' blood to fall, but after 11 years my suspicion has cooled a little.) My teachers were truly awesome, and I wouldn't mind striking up an Internet friendship with some of them today. Getting the intermittent alumni newsletter is always a joy for me, and it lets me feel guilty for having grown apart from most of my old classmates. Hence I love it.

The struggle I have is whether I should support the school now that I'm an out and proud, card-carrying homosexual. It's a great place that does a million things I agree with, and in a way I think it's petty to hold just one issue against them. I'm sure, if I knew them today, I would find many staff and faculty members who support homosexual relationships and do not condemn others for engaging in them. Still, it's kind of an enormous issue, one we can't overlook so easily. Living a gay life is not the same caliber sin as trying to cheat at Sunday Bingo. Kids will not be told at my high school that it's okay for them to grow up and have a same-sex partner, or at least they won't be told that on the record.

Catholics are taught to love, and that God loves everyone, and—best challenge of all—that we should love our enemies, but the Church still says I cannot be with my boyfriend. It still doesn't want me to pursue the same life with him any of my male classmates would be celebrated for pursuing with a girl. That gets me.

I'm not in a position to give much money to any organization right now anyway, so for me this dilemma is largely hypothetical. They may be losing $50 a year because I'm "too theologically confused to donate," but I doubt they're missing it much. So what if they go with a secondhand prom crown. Still, other people in my spot have fatter wallets. My wallet itself will be fatter one day. Maybe not fat enough to pay for all my sins, but maybe enough to get the one I can't cover comp'd.

And by that I mean the sin of pursuing a gay relationship, and of continuing to do so no matter what I'm told or whom it flies with. The Church still says that's a sin. I can ignore it and smile and think of all the many unrelated things I love about my high school instead, but it doesn't change the doctrine. It only adds to the guilt list.

I need to go eat something. ▼

PEEPING WITH TOM

by Tom Moilanen

A couple of years ago I asked a rhetorical question that implied a once-great production company had gone down the tubes. Today that has turned into a statement that goes something like this: Studio 2000 just plain sucks.

And not in a good way.

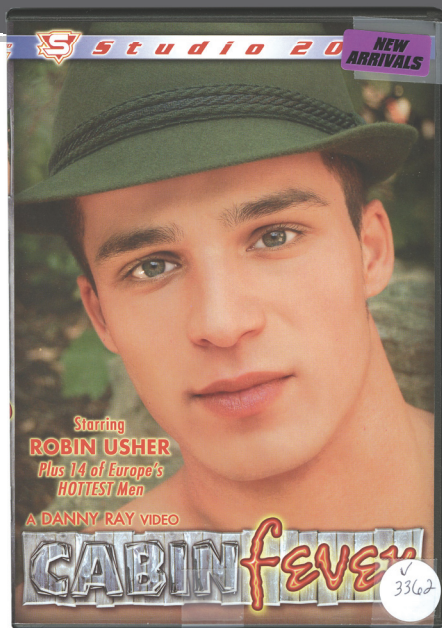

Their latest production is a flick called Cabin Fever, a title that has been used approximately 1,036 times in this business. While that in itself is no great travesty, the remaining two and a half hours of cinematic gibberish certainly is. Where to begin is rather difficult, given the oodles of bad things I could say about this pornographic misadventure. Let's give the ol' bullet list a shot, as it were:

- It's European.
- The guys all wear these Indiana Jones-type hats and dark suits, like the Amish. Drives me buggy.
- There are three sentences of dialogue. Of course they're subtitled.
- The models are no-names. And they're not cute. Or cut.
- The scenes occur in no context whatsoever.
- It's shot in Letterbox. Wide screen. Like some sort of Oscar-seeking art film.
- The grunts and groans sound like a monastic Gregorian chant.
- Did I mention it's European?

So much stuff is coming out of Eastern Europe these days; much of it—like this—an attempt to mimic Bel Ami. Sorry, folks, but that's like Alec Baldwin trying to impersonate a human being or Madonna pretending to be a musician. The only production company that had a chance was Cobra Video, and they went under (six feet, to be exact) when owner Bryan Phillips died.

This thing is directed by some clown named Danny Ray, which must make former Studio 2000 bosses John Travis and John Rutherford crap their respective drawers, if not in their respective johns. All five scenes are threesomes, which I find queerly odd, if not oddly queer. And most of the cumshots are hands-free, sort of like an animated turkey baster, if not a jerky taster. (That, admittedly, did not work. But I needed one more "if not" to complete the troika.)

One fascinating side bar, honestly, is the automatic weenie phenomenon. We repeatedly see these foreskin-clad penises twitching and throbbing in their little flesh-colored turtlenecks, firing off random rounds of semen like an oil derrick in the throes of an epileptic seizure. No stroking, no rubbing, no nothing; just incessant pumping. Of course, there is sexual stimulation prior, but why the anti-climactic climax? I wanna see some serious jacking, dammit!

Another irritant are the hats. The models remove their Mennonite clergy costumes but keep the floppy-brimmed headgear. I don't know about you, but the last time I tried getting frisky with a hat on the mule just about turned me into a soprano. Incidentally, isn't that how Ted Kennedy refers to an erection? A hat-on?

The soundtrack is also annoying in that it consists of these zany, sci-fi, synthesized twangy noises that sound like a juice harp on crack cocaine. How is this erotic? What's the purpose, other than to exasperate beyond all exasperation? Let's hear some naughty, sexy talk or even a few squishes and smacks and leave the grating tonality to Fran Drescher. I don't know how they generated this junk, but let's just say that if a Slinky could talk, this is how it would sound.

Studio 2000 used to be top dog in the often-unsanitary kennel of gay porn, but Cabin Fever is just another indication they've been neutered beyond any hope of reproduction, ideally that of the master tapes. Just because you have a pedigree doesn't mean you aren't dangerous, which is a nice way of saying, "This bites."

It's time to take the old hound to the shelter for a big, black night-night pill, putting him out of both his—and our—misery. ▼

SPA & HEALTH CLUB
FOR DISCERNING MEN

HOROSCOPES

by Rev. Bill Morin

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A new moon in your sign May 16 brings a sweet romantic delight. The 20th finds you at a career crossroads. Don't let that ambitious side roar too loudly on the 29th. Planetary aspects June 2 favor real-estate deals. There'll be much to celebrate on the 7th. Most everyone shall side with you on the 12th, but you must milk it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) May 16-19 is strongest for tying up loose ends. A major contractual obligation will be fulfilled on the 27th. Avoid the party scene June 1. You'll get to help out a grieving friend June 5. Close personal relationships could intensify on the 11th. A new moon in your sign on the 14th leads to a major financial victory.

CANCER (June 22-July 21) Avoid ego clashing with the higher ups May 17. A calm after the storm engulfs the home front on the 23rd. You'll get to party hearty on the 27th and love it. June begins with a short-lived financial dilemma. Flattery will get you almost anywhere on the 10th. Don't let family members push your buttons on the 13th (they will try).

LEO (July 23-August 22) You're a pro at juggling, Leo! But that talent will shine more than ever May 19. The boss will greatly depend on you come the 26th. Avoid giving constructive criticism on the 30th. A blue moon June 1 makes you even more irresistible. The 5th is ideal to cheat on that diet. Put that bonus check right in the bank on the 12th.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Don't try so hard to impress co-workers May 18. A pleasure getaway from the 19-22 proves quite magical. Take the high road regarding that cute but tacky ex on the 28th. A pushy high-roller type may work your nerves June 3. Energy levels on the 9th could prevent you from enjoying the party atmosphere.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Unlike Leo, you can't juggle for long periods of time. Don't lend money to a friend in need May 21. Think twice before burning a career bridge on the 27th. Count to 20 before answering back June 4. A clash of egos on the 11th might be hard to avoid. Lunar aspects on the 14th make it perfect to throw an open house.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) It's the usual spend vs. save conflict, Scorpio. Better avoid impulse buying until May 19. Dating two love interests can't last much longer; a choice must be made. State your case without getting loud May 31. A friendship rekindled June 4 is better than before. It's imperative that you think before speaking out on the 10th.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) What a month, Sagittarius! It peaks June 1 with a full blue moon (it only happens once every two years). The world is yours for the taking. Remember to say please and thanks May 20. A barbeque on the 28th provides immense fun. A love interest crosses your path June 3. This one is definitely a sweet keeper.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) The month moves at lightning pace, especially from May 19-23. Career power base expands at month's end. June begins on a somewhat restless note, but a deep tissue massage on the 4th will work wonders. The good of others should come before pride or ego on the 11th. Be sure to smile no matter what, OK?

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Much of this time looks steady and solid. New furniture really transforms your home May 17. That super love connection will get even stronger after the 29th. Avoid long-distance driving June 1. Good financial news on the 4th has you smiling. You'll be a bit accident prone from May 8-13, so be careful.

PISCES (February 19-March 19) Stronger financial aspects brighten your mood May 16. Choose what's right over what's easy on the 22nd. A Memorial-Day getaway turns out to be a total delight. A blue moon on the 1st is liable to stir up your emotions. Don't push away love on the 7th. Spend the 13th at your absolutely favorite place in or even out of town.

ARIES (March 20-April 19) The creator/decorator within you shines like a supernova May 18. Your powers of persuasion shall be magical on the 26th. Don't let a major financial expense ruin the day on the 31st. A future business partnership has its seeds planted June 6. Take time to acknowledge the accomplishment of a friendly rival on the 14th.
