Whether you're a local or tourist, we always feature our favorite spots along with all the new and exciting things our city has to offer.

As Black History Month comes to a close, we wanted to take this opportunity to feature Latoya Holman. To say Latoya is an ally to the Las Vegas LGBTQ+ community understates the depth and breadth of her fight for equality, equity, and inclusion.

Many of our readers will know of Latoya's involvement with HRC Las Vegas and that she serves on the HRC National Board of Directors. Few know how broad her wings span.

Now, Latoya tells her inspirational story about the four reasons that compel her to do what she does to support the arts, civil rights, diversity, empowerment, and opportunity.

Russ White & Garrett Pattiani
Publishers, QVegas & QLife Media

Every week we spend a lot of time putting together the QVegas Guide to Las Vegas. It's a labor of love trying to find all the events, businesses and activities that we think the LGBTQ+ community would like.

We rely on advertisers to keep this a free resource. If you want to promote your event, business, or activity, contact us today!

FOUR REASONS WHY

by Latoya Holman

10 years before I was born, in 1963, Addie May Collins, Carol Denise McNair, Cynthia Wesley, and Carole Rosamond Robertson were taken from us as victims of the 16th Street Baptist Church bombing in Birmingham Alabama. 4 Little Girls—lost. This moment in history has always haunted me. But the lesson that I learned from their short lives lingers. I BELIEVE that I carry the legacy of Addie, Carol, Cynthia, Carole, and so many others.

When it was not popular, my parents Ruby and Troy Holman stood for EQUALITY whenever they had the opportunity. I grew up with a fierce belief in the concept. So when the opportunity to help build something special in Las Vegas with the Human Rights Campaign was presented to me, I jumped at it. My best friends needed me. I showed up however I could. I marching in parades, planning galas, yelling at protestors, and crying with people who made brave decisions on National Coming Out Day to speak their truth.

My focused work with HRC sharpened after a dinner with friends. There, I met a kind and very shy woman who was clearly respected by everyone in the home. I heard some whispers, "Is she okay? Does she need anything? Are there too many people here?" — all questions asked out of love and respect for this woman's wellness and privacy. She shyly sat next to me at the dinner table and asked me if she could tell me about her son Matthew. As many of you know, I am the least bit shy, so I engaged quickly in conversation with Judy Shepard.

After Judy shared the story of what happened to Matthew Shepard; how he was tortured, murdered, and left for dead on a rural fence in Laramie, Wyoming simply because he was gay, she asked me if I would speak up for him and fight with her and others to save young people from suffering the same fate. I promised Judy 15 years ago that I would speak for Matthew, and I continue to advocate for LGBTQ safety today.

The Human Rights Campaign is the largest LGBTQ civil rights organization in the country. I am now serving proudly as a member of the HRC National Board of Directors... alongside my FRIEND, Judy Shepard. I recently told this story while delivering a speech to 200+ people in Washington DC, not knowing that Judy was in the room. I looked up at the end of the speech and she had left her table and come to the front of the room to greet me as I left the podium. That hug! The embrace from an emotional mother, still grieving her child over 20 years later will remain one of the best hugs that I have ever received.

I believe that EDUCATION is the great equalizer. One of my greatest passions is eliminating barriers for children to receive an education. Working as the Chief Development Officer of the Public Education Foundation has provided a platform to identify barriers for our youth in school and align with the community and others in power to eliminate them.

When I learned that 61% of our students in Clark County show up for school without the supplies that they need to learn, something inside me broke. I was heartbroken because I knew that the majority of those students with barriers look much like me. I work every day to connect people to our Teacher Superstore, Teacher Pathway Program, Scholarship Plus, and the Artists with Kids program. Don't be surprised if I reach out to ask you to review scholarship applications! We have reached our most successful year by receiving over 21,000 scholarship applications. We are set to distribute $5.5 million in scholarships this year.

I know in my heart that Black women are MAGICAL! This year, PEF will host the first Black Girl Magic Luncheon for Education. This will be a celebration of Black women who have had a significant impact in education and remain anchored in the community. This celebration of diverse individual contributions to education will also provide a joyful space to celebrate the national JUNETEENTH holiday. My service in Las Vegas continues with a focus on THE ARTS as a board member for the Nevada School of the Arts, CIVIL RIGHTS through the NAACP Las Vegas, DIVERSITY IN COMMUNITY POLICING with my service as a Women of Metro Community Advisory Council member, female EMPOWERMENT as a member of the Board of Directors for the Girls Scouts of Southern NV, and OPPORTUNITY to experience education through play as the Vice Chair of the Discovery Children's Museum DEI Advisory Council.

In HONOR of the 4 little girls who were taken from us in Birmingham, I became a mentor to 4 little girls a few years ago. They call themselves the Brilliant Brown Beauties! I'm honored to share an image of them and ask that you support their journey if you encounter them. They are just getting started in life and my hope for them is that our community will embrace them just as it has embraced me.

Latoya Holman, an HBCU graduate from Clark Atlanta University, has been selected as 1 of 15 women across the United States to join The Highland Project. This coalition of leaders builds on the very real and lived experiences and dreams of Black women in America, building their legacies for our health, our planet, and our voice. As part of this project, Holman received a grant for $100,000 to invest in building her legacy.
