Celebrating for a Cause

Joel Scott's Birthday Bash Benefits The Shade Tree

Las Vegas community stalwart, Joel Scott, is about to turn a year older, and he's using the occasion not just for a celebration but for a cause close to his heart. Instead of a conventional birthday party, Joel is hosting a grand fundraiser for The Shade Tree, a non-profit organization dedicated to supporting abused and homeless women and children in crisis. It's an unconventional birthday party with a deeply resonant purpose, but Joel is not one for the conventional.

Joel has lived in Las Vegas for 17 years, becoming deeply entrenched in the community. His passion for communal service became evident in his recent tenure as a board member for the International Cultural Movement for Equality (ICME), where he played a crucial role in organizing the inaugural Henderson Pride Festival Event in 2021. This, coupled with his ongoing advisory role for the UNLV Continuing Education Program, underscores his commitment to fostering equality and education.

So, why a fundraiser for his birthday? The answer is personal and poignant. Joel is a survivor of domestic violence, making

The Shade Tree's mission - to provide safe shelter and life-changing services promoting stability, dignity, and self-reliance for women and children in crisis - intimately close to his heart. This event not only gives back to the community but also serves as a milestone in Joel's personal healing process.

The event, slated for August 4th at Distill on Rainbow, is poised to be a significant gathering of community leaders and influencers, united in the fight against domestic violence and homelessness. The lineup is already impressive, with partnerships from Leadership Las Vegas, the Youth Ambassadors of Las Vegas, and the Trade & Fashion Academy. Also, supporting the event are the Las Vegas Metro Police Department and Highway Patrol, whose Public Information Officers will speak about domestic violence awareness and the fight against sex trafficking.

The media partnership with FOX5 News Anchor, Jason Feinberg, lends an even greater visibility to the event.

Local businesses are not just welcomed, but encouraged to contribute. Any business donating $2,000.00 or more will have their logo added to the red carpet banner and inside the glossy print magazine distributed at the event, ensuring they receive recognition for their valuable contributions.

Miss Teen Nevada Earth, Miss Nevada Earth, and Mrs. Nevada Earth will be participating, selling raffle tickets and showcasing the prizes, adding a touch of glamour to the meaningful event.

And adding to the festive atmosphere, Showboy Bakeshop, famed for its appearance on Food Network's "Cupcake Wars," will provide cupcakes for the event. Owners Jared Sullivan & Stephen Lowry generously offering a fantastic deal for the cause.

At its heart, this fundraiser encapsulates Joel's passion for community involvement and highlights his resilience as a domestic violence survivor. His birthday bash will echo the mission of The Shade Tree, emphasizing that homelessness and abuse are community issues that everyone can be part of the solution to. It is more than a celebration of Joel's life - it's a testament to the power of community, resilience, and the spirit of giving.

For Joel, the highlight of the evening will not be blowing out the candles or cutting the cake. Rather, it's the knowledge that every dollar raised will go directly to The Shade Tree, providing shelter, services, and hope for abused and homeless women and children in Las Vegas. As attendees enjoy their evening, they will be contributing to a future where every woman and child can rise to self-reliance, a vision that resonates strongly with Joel's journey.

In the end, it is not just a birthday party, nor just a fundraiser. It is a community coming together to celebrate life, resilience, and the shared commitment to giving every woman and child the dignity, respect, and opportunity they deserve. And that's something worth celebrating.

At QVegas, we appreciate the individuals who make Las Vegas an inclusive, vibrant community. This week, we're spotlighting Joel Scott, a local hero known for his extraordinary dedication to our community. A board member for the International Cultural Movement for Equality (ICME) and an advisor for the UNLV Continuing Education Program, Joel stands out as a change-maker. This year, instead of a conventional birthday bash, Joel is hosting a grand fundraiser for The Shade Tree, a non-profit that provides shelter and vital services to women and children in crisis. This choice reflects his resilience as a domestic violence survivor and his profound commitment to helping those in need.

From all of us at QVegas, a heartfelt thank you to Joel Scott. Your unwavering dedication to making Las Vegas a better, safer, and more inclusive place is truly commendable. Your birthday fundraiser is more than a party; it is a declaration of your commitment to change and a call to action for us all. Here's to more of your inspiring work in our community, Joel!

Kevin Smith: A Guiding Force in the Fashion Industry at MAGIC Las Vegas

From humble beginnings in the mental health field to becoming a celebrated fashion educator and advocate, Kevin Smith has always been drawn to roles that impact lives and communities. Now, as the Founder and Lead Educator of Trade & Fashion Academy Las Vegas (TFA LV), Smith is taking his passion for fashion, education, and community involvement to the global stage at MAGIC Las Vegas.

MAGIC Las Vegas is more than a trade show. It is a high-energy fashion event and a deeply rooted community, a meeting point for retail buyers, influencers, media, and industry thought leaders from all corners of the globe. But most importantly, it's a platform for individuals like Kevin Smith to inspire and shape the future of fashion.

Smith's journey in fashion began after graduating from The International Academy of Design & Technology. Having studied in London and Wuxi, China, he brought his global perspective on fashion design back to Las Vegas. His passion for education and commitment to his community led to the birth of TFA LV, a school renowned for its diverse student body, inclusive ethos, and ability to connect people from all walks of life through fashion.

This summer, Smith and TFA LV will bring this ethos to MAGIC Las Vegas in a historic moment for the fashion trade show. For the first time ever, the show will offer hands-on sewing and pattern-making classes led by TFA LV. This addition to the trade show's offering marks a significant evolution for MAGIC, as tactile skills have not previously been part of its program.

Kevin's involvement with MAGIC Las Vegas will extend beyond education. He has been selected as an industry expert panelist, a testament to his profound knowledge and unique insights. Smith is poised to lead discussions on diversity, equity, and inclusion in the fashion industry, a topic close to his heart as an active LGBTQIA community member and advocate.

Moreover, he will shed light on the pressing issues of slave labor and pollution that plague the fashion industry. His dedication to making the fashion industry more sustainable and ethical aligns with his belief in "chasing purpose over profits"—a philosophy that has driven TFA LV's growth and success.

Kevin Smith's upcoming involvement with MAGIC Las Vegas underscores his unyielding commitment to fashion education and his community. Through his educational contributions and thought leadership, Smith is set to bring a transformative, purpose-driven perspective to MAGIC Las Vegas, demonstrating once again that when passion and purpose come together, the result is indeed magical.

Trade & Fashion Academy Las Vegas is located in the University District of Fabulous Las Vegas, NV. We offer fashion, sewing, business and a variety of creative classes, that range from basic introduction through advanced curriculum training. We even offer certification programs for those looking to take advantage of our affordable trade school approach to technical training for the fashion design and apparel manufacturing industries. Our classes are thoughtfully kept small so that the technical lessons can be best explained and learned.
