Whether you're a local or tourist, we always feature our favorite spots along with all the new and exciting things our city has to offer.

This week we feature Chadwick Johnson and his journey from singing in church and at rodeos to becoming a professional singer in Las Vegas. It is a tale of passion and perseverance. Embracing opportunities in Hollywood and Vegas, he's formed key relationships and evolved musically, becoming a versatile artist influenced by diverse musical inspirations and genres.

Check out our gallery of photos from Trans Pride weekend and Transgender Day of Remembrance.

We're also very excited to announce our new QVegas app for iOS. Access the PDF version of the QVegas guide as well as our listings of bars and LGBTQ+ resources, including an interactive map.

We also wanted to wish all of our readers, advertisers, friends, and family a Happy Thanksgiving.

QVegas Launches Innovative App Featuring Local Nightlife, Resources, and More...

As co-publishers of QVegas for over a decade, we have been enhancing the online presence of LGBTQ-owned and LGBTQ-allied businesses and nonprofit organizations. Behind the scenes, QVegas is more than a magazine.

Our work includes developing software and technology. In fact, it was that pursuit of software development that led Russ to purchase QVegas in 2012, having written the first app for the magazine just months before the acquisition.

We're proud to announce that QVegas, a long-standing voice for the LGBTQ+ community since 1978, has just launched its new app, QVegas 3.0, designed from the ground up to enhance the experience of our readers. This app offers crisp PDF renderings of QVegas Magazine, as well as a directory of bars, LGBTQ+ resources, HIV resources, and STI testing locations. It provides an interactive platform for readers to engage with current and past issues of the magazine.

The QVegas app showcases favorite local spots and new and exciting city offerings. It includes a variety of LGBTQ+ bars and nightclubs, including the latest Queen Las Vegas and Gipsy.

Additionally, the app highlights important LGBTQ+ resources like The Center, Community Counseling Center, and Lambda Business Association; and HIV resources, including the AFAN, Golden Rainbow, and the Sin City Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence.

This comprehensive approach of QVegas reflects our commitment to supporting and uplifting the LGBTQ+ community through technology and media. We believe in using technology to bring people together and provide them with valuable resources, and QVegas 3.0 is a testament to that belief.

Over the coming weeks, we will be adding additional categories and features to the app, as well as updating our website to reflect the same content in app and online.

The app is available today for iPhone® and iPad® users. To download the app, visit qvegas.com or search for "qvegas" in the App Store.

The Melodic Journey of Chadwick Johnson: From Rodeos to Vegas Stages

Chadwick Johnson's musical odyssey is a narrative of passion, perseverance, and the pursuit of a dream. His initial exposure to music came not from grand stages or studios but from the humble beginnings of singing in church with his grandmother. "I started out singing in church with my grandmother," Chadwick recalls, a place where his deep-rooted love for music was born.

This love for music found a unique expression as Chadwick ventured into singing the national anthem at rodeos during his high school years, where he also competed in team roping. "As I started to sing the national anthem, that's when I got bit with the bug that I wanted to do this professionally," he explains. It was more than just a performance; it was the moment Chadwick realized his calling.

The Hollywood Dream and the Grind of Early Career

After high school, Chadwick made a bold move, relocating to Hollywood with ambitions of becoming a rock star. His journey through the city's music scene was marked by the typical struggles of a young artist: performing at open mics, recording demos, and searching for his unique sound. "Just moving through doing all the open mics in LA and recording demos for people," Chadwick describes his early days in the industry, a time of both challenge and growth.

Las Vegas: A New Chapter

Chadwick's transition to Las Vegas came after several years in Los Angeles, driven by a desire for change and new opportunities. "I was living in LA for quite a few years and was just ready for a change," he says. The move to Vegas, initially seen as a back-and-forth arrangement, quickly evolved into a permanent relocation as Chadwick discovered the city's vibrant live music scene and supportive community. "It moved fast. There was so much live music which I really loved," he reflects on his initial impressions of Vegas.

Connection with Vera Goulet and Embracing the Local Scene

In Vegas, Chadwick formed a special bond with Vera Goulet, the widow of legendary Las Vegas performer Robert Goulet. "I love Vera. She's become like family," he shares, highlighting the importance of connections and mentorship in the entertainment industry. This relationship not only provided him with a link to the city's rich musical history but also offered a source of inspiration and guidance.

Navigating the Pandemic and Finding New Paths

Like many artists, Chadwick's career trajectory was impacted by the pandemic. However, he saw this as an opportunity to focus on creativity and songwriting. "It kind of gave me a chance to revamp and really focus on creativity," he notes, emphasizing the silver lining in challenging times. The pandemic period led to exploring new venues and projects, including a show at The Space and a return to songwriting.

Musical Inspirations and Genre Exploration

Throughout his career, Chadwick's musical inspirations have been diverse, ranging from the big voices of Celine Dion and Whitney Houston to the soulful songwriting of Wynonna Judd and Dolly Parton. He also expresses admiration for contemporary artists like Brandi Carlile and Ben Platt. "I love so many kinds of music," Chadwick says, reflecting on his eclectic taste that has influenced his own musical style.

Life in Las Vegas and the Balancing Act

Chadwick's life in Las Vegas is not just about music. He appreciates the city's unique blend of big-city amenities and small-town feel. An avid horse lover, he also enjoys reconnecting with his roots through horseback riding, an activity that offers him a sense of grounding and connection to simpler joys in life.

Advice for Aspiring Artists

To young musicians dreaming of a career in music, Chadwick offers heartfelt advice: "Find your unique voice, your unique sound, and most of all your message." He emphasizes the importance of authenticity and connection in music, advising others to stay true to their artistic vision and personal message.

Looking Forward: Upcoming Shows and Projects

As for his future plans, Chadwick remains enthusiastic about his upcoming performances and projects. He eagerly talks about his holiday/birthday celebration show at the Italian American Club, along with the release of his new single, a rendition of "Oh, Holy Night." Furthermore, he shares his excitement about a new dance remix collaboration, showcasing his willingness to experiment with different genres.

A Story of Musical Evolution

Chadwick Johnson's story is one of continuous evolution, marked by a deep love for music, resilience in the face of industry challenges, and a commitment to personal and artistic growth. From the rodeos of his youth to the bright lights of Vegas, his journey is a testament to the power of passion and the enduring allure of music as a unifying force.

Join Chadwick for his birthday celebration and the release of his new holiday single "O Holy Night" at the Italian American Club on December 6.
