Whether you're a local or tourist, we always feature our favorite spots along with all the new and exciting things our city has to offer.

World AIDS Day takes place on 1 December each year. It's an opportunity for people worldwide to unite in the fight against HIV, to show support for people living with HIV, and to commemorate those who have died from an AIDS-related illness. Founded in 1988, World AIDS Day was the first ever global health day.

The Center will be invites everyone to join in commemoration of Worlds AIDS Day on Thursday, December 1, 2022.

Enjoy speakers from leading healthcare partners on U=U messaging, breast/chest feeding, and its associated stigma. Also hear from local community members on their passion and purpose for HIV advocacy.

Russ White & Garrett Pattiani
Publishers, QVegas & QLife Media

Every week we spend a lot of time putting together the QVegas Guide to Las Vegas. It's a labor of love trying to find all the events, businesses and activities that we think the LGBTQ+ community would like.

We rely on advertisers to keep this a free resource. If you want to promote your event, business, or activity, contact us today!

U.S. Senate Passes Landmark Ruling on Same-Sex Marriage

I was proud to vote to pass the Respect For Marriage Act. I will always stand up for every American's right to be who they are and marry who they love.

Senator Catherine Cortez Masto
(D) Nevada

It's long past time that we protect marriage equality in federal law and ensure that all Americans enjoy the same rights to marry who they love.

Today, I'm proud to have voted to pass the bipartisan Respect for Marriage Act to do just that.

Senator Jacky Rosen
(D) Nevada

The Senate just passed the Respect For Marriage Act to provide protections for same-sex and interracial couples. I look forward to voting for this bill again in the House so we can send it to POTUS for his signature.

Congresswoman Dina Titus
(D) New York

Just as QVegas was heading to print, The U.S. Senate passed landmark legislation with 12 Republicans joining all 50 Democratic senators for bipartisan support for marriage,

André Wade, state director of Silver State Equality, issued the following statement immediately following the vote:

"The Respect for Marriage Act is an essential piece of legislation that affirms that every marriage and every family is valid and deserving of respect. Today's strong bipartisan vote of 61-36 is an incredible victory that cannot be taken lightly."

The bill moves to the House for approval of Senate amendments before sending it to President Joe Biden to be signed into law. The House is expected to pass the legislation with bipartisan support before the end of the year.

The legislation repeals the discriminatory Defense of Marriage Act, which protected marriage based on a couple's sex, race, ethnicity, or national origin.

The bill was amended in the Senate with religious freedom exceptions so that organizations "shall not be required to provide services" to a marriage it opposes. Stronger language was proposed by Senators Marco Rubio, (R) Florida, Mike

Lee, (R) Utah, and James Lankford, (R) Oklahoma, but failed to gain enough support.

"By passing this bill, the Senate is sending a message that every American needs to hear: no matter who you are or who you love, you too deserve dignity and equal treatment under the law," said Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer following the passage of the bill.

In 2015, the Supreme Court ruled in favor of same-sex marriage, but a more conservative court exists today, with Justice Clarence Thomas suggesting that marriage equality be the next target of the court after rescinding Row v. Wade earlier this year. Ironically, the bill protects the rights of interracial marriage.

This legislation does not prevent states from passing legislation that denies same-sex marriage in their state constitutions, however, this bill would require states to recognize same-sex marriages from other states.

In 2020, Nevada was the first state to codify same-sex marriage in the state's constitution.
